HOUSE APPROVES BUST OF KITCHIN

Likeness Of Former House Leader To Be Placed In Rotunda Of Capitol.

Washington.—The house voted unanimously to place a bust of the late Claude Kitchin in the rotunda of the capitol as a permanent memorial to the former member from the second North Carolina district. The bust will be placed opposite that of the late James H. Mann, of Illinois, who was Republican minority leader at the same time the distinguished Tar Heel Democrat was majority leader in the house.

Representative Lindsay Warren, a minority member of the house committee on accounts, was given the privilege of reporting the bill authorizing expenditure of $2,500 to the house. Both he and Representative Kerr, who succeeded Kitchin in the house, paid tributes to his memory. Both Speaker Longworth and Majority Leader Tilson showed great interest in the passage of the resolution.

Representative Warren told the house he could pay no higher tribute to Kitchin than one paid him by Speaker Longworth at the time of his death.

At The Theatres

The renowned Mr. Rod LaRocque in a romantic production "The Rogue" is the feature at the Princess today and tomorrow. A big cast of screen and stage stars assist LaRocque in putting the piece over. It is a romance of the tropics—different from the average run of pictures. The Princess is offering none other than the ace of western actors—Tom Mix, as the holiday bill Wednesday—Christmas Day. The star appears in "King Cowboy," a story of action in the great open spaces—a good enlivening holiday piece that all will enjoy.

Cotton Market

Cotton was quoted at noon on New York exchange today: Jan. 16.92. Yesterday's close: Jan. 17.01.

Worth street active Saturday, sales print cloths for week sold to be over 40,000,000 yards, prices firmer. Comment was that cotton textile industry in probably close to a period of unusual activity. Memphis special to Herald Tribune says, Low ginning figures is causing reduction in crop estimation. Manchester cable rather pessimistic. Strength Saturday due to sympathy with advance in wheat due to farm board bids through co-operative association and idea that the same action might occur in cotton. Better textiles sales also a factor. Market looks a purchase on reactions.
