At The Romina

The Romina theatre, at Forest City, is advertising a midnight show tomorrow—Tuesday night—when the patrons may bid forever adieu to good old "Is Everybody Happy?" is the title of the piece to be shown, starring Ted Lewis. It's a lively show, and the Romina is a first class, modern playhouse. The affair should be a huge success.

Leaves Jail To See Sweetie, Comes Back

Anderson, S. C.—Henry Freeman strolled nonchalantly into Anderson county jail, sent a cigaret butt spinning into the fireplace, and with a smile, said "Hello folks, I'm back again. He had escaped from jail two days before.

"Oh, I had a date," he replied when asked why he had left the jail. "It was with a girl and I couldn't break it. We won't discuss that now. Lock me up."

Freeman said he and Leroy Center, awaiting trial on a charge of grand larceny, hid in a run-around bath-room until the jailer locked the other prisoners in the inner cage for the night. Then, with all quiet below, they walked out the unlocked run-around door and tripped down the stairs to freedom.

Center gave himself up to Lavonia county, Georgia, officers and was brought back by an Anderson county deputy.

Gold Children Home For Christmas Event

(Special to The Star.) Mrs. F. P. Gold's children were all dinner guests at her home Christmas day, except Dr. and Mrs. A. B. Wood, of Maxton. Those present were: Mrs. Bessie Grigg of Cliffside, Mr. and Mrs. Broacus Gold of Cliffside, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Gold of Chesnee, S. C., Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Champion of Gaffney, S. C., and Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Martin who live on the home place with Mrs. Gold.

The grandchildren present were: Wendell, Hazel and Lalage Grigg; Aileen and Lucille Gold; Frances Champion, Randolph, Margaret, George and Carl Martin, and Miss Ellen Quinn of Limestone college, who is a very close friend of the family.

The children brought well filled baskets and dinner was served in the dining room in picnic style with hot coffee.

Early in the afternoon the family gathered in an adjoining room and exchanged gifts from a beautiful Christmas tree. The house was decorated throughout with Christmas decorations. After an enjoyable day all went away hoping to enjoy many more days at home.

Miss Adams, famed astrologer, featured in Collier's Hour, over the radio Sunday night, said: "1930 will be a hectic year for the U. S. A., but it need not be so for YOU. Through wise co-operation with the governing forces, you yourself may become an exception to the general trend of events."

In wishing you a happy and prosperous 1930 we will say to you that we hope you—all of you—may be the exception to this rule of pessimism. In fact, let us resolve that optimism, and thorough going faith in progress, shall be the rule for the New Year.
