Rosenwald School Day Friday March 7

Observed By Negroes Who Have Been Greatly Helped in Health and Home.

Raleigh, Mar. 4.—Friday of this week, March 7, has been set aside for the observance of "Rosenwald School day" in the negro public schools of the state. It was announced today at the office of the State Department of Public Instruction. The day is the second annual negro school improvement day, the first being observed on March 22nd of last year.

As an aid in the preparation of programs, the division of negro education of the state department has prepared a supplementary bulletin which it has sent out to the schools to be used in connection with the 1929 bulletin. This supplement gives facts pertaining to negro education in North Carolina, which have been compiled since the 1929 bulletin was prepared. Some of this information is as follows:

"To date there have been constructed 750 Rosenwald buildings in North Carolina costing $4,587,813. Of this amount the Rosenwald fund has given $646,726, and the negroes themselves have raised $466,816 by private subscription.

"The Rosenwald fund appropriated this year $2,000 aid as one-third the cost of 50 libraries for schools, at $120 each. In 1928-29 twenty-five libraries were purchased and in 1929-30 already 40 libraries have been purchased to date. In 1928-29 the fund extended aid for the first time on extension of school terms, and 27 schools accepted this aid under the terms offered.

"This year for the first time the fund is aiding in the purchase and operation of busses for the transportation of negro school children. As a result of this aid there are now 44 busses transporting 1,649 negro children in North Carolina traveling 1,146 miles daily. The Rosenwald fund has contributed this year $17,372.50 for this purpose.

"The Rosenwald fund has contributed to date for negro health and education in North Carolina the total sum of $980,987.77."

Doctor Says Control Of Cancer in Sight

Jacksonville, Fla. — Prediction that control of cancer may be in sight was made here today by Dr. Joseph Colt Bloodgood, of Johns Hopkins University, speaking before the Forum of Jacksonville.

"I am impressed from developments of the past year," he said, "that one is justified in making the statement that control of cancer may be in sight. We can summarize nine different reasons." These nine developments he enumerated as: Re-organization of the American Society for the Control of Cancer, evolution in the attitude of the daily press "to an appreciation of their responsibilities and opportunities"; co-ordination of department of health and the medical and dental professions, special instruction in primary schools, prospective passage of three bills before Congress, prospects for co-operative cancer research, public enlightenment about preventive medicine, entry of preventive medicine into the curricula of medical schools and plans for enlarged medical journals to spread details of technique among physicians.

Mrs. Brady Gains 16 Pounds On Sargon

"An actual gain of sixteen pounds and the best health I've had in years, is what Sargon treatment did for me. Nothing ever surprised me more in my life than my quick and remarkable improvement.

"Sargon Pills ended my constipation, and my skin has cleared. I am certainly thankful for this wonderful treatment."—Mrs. Lena Brady 487 Edgewood Ave., Macon, Ga. Times without number men and women have rejoiced in new-found health through Sargon at a time when they thought nothing would help them. Sargon may be obtained in Shelby from the Cleveland Drug company.

"The great daily newspapers," he said, "and many of the best periodicals, and a number of the press syndicates, especially the Associated Press realize that the facts in regard to cancer which offer at this time not only the best, but the only protection against cancer, must be published more or less continuously in the most striking way possible in daily, weekly and monthly publications.

"There is a plan on foot which will soon be realized to furnish the press with statements authorized by 30 members of the board of trustees of the Society for the Control of Cancer, by the American Medical association and the American College of Physicians and surgeons. Individuals may write these articles, but larger groups of colleagues of equal standing as students will pass upon them before they are given to the press.

"In every state, county and city there will ultimately be formed an organization of some kind in which the medical and dental professions and the boards of health will join together in educating the people."

Jackie Coogan Now A Rich Youngster

Jackie Coogan, the ragged, forlorn little fellow of the movies, has started up the road toward fabulous wealth with $1,500,000 worth of Southern California real estate as his vehicle.

James J. Donahue, his broker, revealed that the 13-year-old screen star's realty holdings did not represent the full measure of his wealth, and that Jackie had plenty more and was looking for other realty investments.

At the normal rate of increase in value of his real estate Donahue estimated Jackie will be a multi-millionaire before he is 21 years of age.

His holdings include one Los Angeles business block valued at $300,-

000; a group of store buildings; a residence; a public garage; numerous improved and unimproved business lots, and two ranches, one of which consists of 1,000 acres.

George Schwartz appeared in court to ask for aid for his four children whom he claimed to be unable to support. "I'm sick, judge, I think I'm going to die," said he, whereupon he collapsed and died.
