Man-Hunting Women A Menace To Actors

"Ruthless, Fearless and Will Stop At Nothing to Get Their Prey."

The most dangerous animals in the world are the man-hunting woman who flock to Hollywood, according to Gladys Hall writing in "Motion Picture Classic."

They are she says, ruthless, fearless and will stop at nothing to get their prey—a movie actor. Day in and day out, John Boles, Nils Asher, Ivan Lebedeff, Ramon Navarro, Warner Baxter, Tony Moreno, Buddy Rogers, and others are the recipients of burning letters from these relentless females. Letters making every kind of proposition, proposal, suggestion and offer. Amorous letters. Abandoned letters. Tragic letters. Bitter, pleading letters. Day in and day out these same men are attacked by the man-eating women, on the very streets, at their own front doors, in the studios, in their hotel suites.

There was the young and only fairly comely lass who sought maid service in the establishment of the Wallace Beerys, relates the "Motion Picture Classic" writer. Wally hired her, totally unsuspecting that here was a bad case of fan-fever. After a few weeks he was mildly surprised to observe her genial manners with his guests. The little maid servant was making herself one of the family. Wally fired her and she made the retort courteous by informing the world that Wally was the father of her unborn child. Seventeen months after she had left the Beery menage and had seen the last of Wally she did, indeed, produce an offspring. And none the less and notwithstanding she still maintained that the child was of Beery blood.

Bill Haines drew a wanted-to-be man-hunter. During the past summer Bill lived at the beach. One morning during a plunge in the sea he heard cries for help, uttered in a feminine voice. He saw a girl struggling in the surf. He plunged to her rescue and hauled her on to the beach. The next morning, at the same time, the same thing happened. No matter at what hour Bill took his plunge this girl elected to drown. She ruined Bill's ocean for Bill. He didn't take a bath again all summer.

There has been, according to this writer, only one case on record where a fan has actually met and married her phantom lover. And that is the case of Reginald Denny and his Bubbles. For Bubbles was a little fan who had adored Reginald in pictures and who finally got into the studio, played some extra parts and breathed the same air with her god. And who is now, by one of the exceptional twirls of the wheel of Fate, that proves nothing, married to her idol.

MAURICE R. WEATHERS FOR COUNTY RECORDER

Maurice R. Weathers, candidate for Recorder, is thirty-two years of age, was born and reared in Cleveland county, and is a son of Zeb B. Weathers. He was educated in the public schools of this county and at Wake Forest College. In 1928 he received his license to practice law and since that time has been located in Shelby.

Mr. Weathers is a veteran of the World War. In May 1918 he voluntarily enlisted in the service at the age of twenty years, and served the duration of the war with a Motor Truck Company.

In 1923 Mr. Weathers married Annie Wilson, daughter of J. A. Wilson of Shelby, and to this union they have had four children born, all living.

In 1929 shortly after opening his law office here, Mr. Weathers was appointed Assistant Recorder for the county, being nominated by the Cleveland County Bar and appointed by the County Commissioners, which position he now holds.

Mr. Weathers is eminently qualified for office of Recorder by training, experience, character and ability. He is a devout christian, a member of the church, and does not use intoxicating liquors in any form. If elected he would enforce the prohibition laws, as well as all other laws, and would maintain the high character and dignity the Recorder's Office of this county has enjoyed in the past.

We take pleasure in recommending Mr. Weathers to the voters of the county as a worthy, capable young man, who in just beginning the practice of his profession really needs the office.
