Official Vote Shows Little Change In County Race

Falls Will Not Request Second Race For Judge

Shelby Man Gives Way To Warlick

Feels That Second Race Would Not Help Party. Expresses Thanks To Friends.

Judge B. T. Falls, veteran attorney and party leader, will not ask for a run-off race with Attorney Wilson Warlick, of Newton, for the Democratic nomination for superior court judge in this district. Judge Falls made this definite in a statement given to The Star today.

It was the privilege of the Shelby man to ask for a second race in that Warlick did not have a majority. Warlick's lead over Falls, his closest competitor, was near 1,900 votes, with A. L. Quicke, of Lincoln, third, and M. H. Yount, of Hickory fourth. However, the Shelby man felt that a second race might not help the Democratic party, and he prefers to let the high man win as he would have expected a similar move had he been in the lead, he says. In his statement he expresses his appreciation of his support and the work of his friends. The statement follows:

"To the Democratic Voters of Cleveland County: I am profoundly grateful for the splendid support which you gave my candidacy for Democratic nomination for Superior court in the recent primary. While the final result was not what I hoped for, my vote was indeed a very flattering one. The result shows that I stood second high out of four candidates. This is all the more complimentary considering the fact that the other three candidates are able lawyers and excellent gentlemen, who stand high in the legal profession. There were overwhelming odds against me in the district due to the fact that Cleveland county has furnished and is now furnishing men in public office, all of which would naturally militate against my candidacy. Nevertheless, my candidacy was well received in

Cops, Firemen Wear White Caps Here

If Shelby citizens should see a white-capped, blue-coated officer strolling about the streets today, or a white-capped man riding the fire truck, don't mistake him for a visiting naval officer. It will be a Shelby policeman or fireman.

This week the police force and the city firemen were dolled-up in new white, summer-weight caps by the city government so that they might be more comfortable during the hot summer weather. The old blue caps, the officers say, were almost as heavy as a policeman's feet are supposed to be.

Bulwinkle-Jones Race Becomes A Puzzle—Ten Precincts Out

Voters Want To Know If There Will Be Second Race. Nothing Said.

Will there be a run-off race between Major A. L. Bulwinkle and Attorney Hamilton C. Jones for the Democratic congressional nomination in this district? Why all the silence about the race, where are the missing precincts, the vote of which could show the final standing in the first primary, and where—if anywhere—do we go from here?

Those are the questions being asked on every hand by local voters who seem puzzled because nothing definite can be learned about the congressional race. The latest district tabulation gave Bulwinkle a lead of between eight and nine hundred votes over Jones

County G. O. P. Not Interested In Senate Race

Cleveland county democrats got pretty well stirred up over their senatorial race, but judging by the official vote the Republicans of Cleveland county cared very little who their party nominated as a rival for Mr. Bailey. While county Democrats were throwing 5,831 votes in the ballot boxes for Bailey, Simmons and Estep, the Republicans were casting only 176 votes for Pritchard, Butler, Tucker and Dorsett. Pritchard got 95, Butler 64, Tucker 12, Dorsett 5.

Pritchard To Be Candidate Of Republicans

Asheville Man To Be Bailey's Opponent This Fall. Late Figures.

Charlotte, June 11.—Winner over three other candidates in his party's primary, Congressman George M. Pritchard, of Asheville, will make the race against Josiah Bailey, the Democratic senatorial nominee, for the Republican party of North Carolina next fall.

Additional returns from Saturday's primary removed any doubt that Pritchard might be forced into a second primary to gain the nomination.

Far Ahead of Butler.

With 1,457 of the state's 1,799 precincts reported, his total vote stood at 19,958 with that of George E. Butler, of Clinton, his nearest rival at 6,294. The remaining vote was divided 4,152 for Irvin Tucker of Whiteville, and 1,137 for the Rev. H. Grady Dorsett, Wake Forest minister.

The margin by which Senator F. M. Simmons lost the Democratic nomination as senator to Bailey was indicated as near the 70,000 mark as additional returns were received.

Bailey's vote in 1,702 precincts as unofficially reported was 197,078 to 128,061 for Simmons. That of Thomas L. Estep, Alleghany county man who ran as a wet, was 1,645.

Senator Simmons To Support J. W. Bailey

Washington, D. C.—In a telegram to John D. Langston, Goldsboro, Tuesday night, Senator Purnifold M. Simmons said, "I have no further statement to make, for I assume the people of the state know that I shall keep the pledge I made when I entered the primary, and support Mr. Bailey." Senator Simmons was in his seat in the senate Tuesday. He entered quietly, and no one said anything to him about his disastrous defeat. No one seems disposed to crow over him.

Lives With 1 Wife At 1 Place 55 Years

Out in the Flint Hill section of this county is an aged, contented couple that cannot understand why people ever need divorce courts, or are ever troubled with restless feet that crave to keep moving from one place to another. They are Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Martin. He is 83 and she is 80. In 1875 they were married, just 55 years ago, and since that time they've lived at the same place and "have gotten along with each other just as well as married folks could hope to." Their eight children are all married and living to themselves, but both Mr. Martin and Mrs. Martin express themselves as "spry enough, thank you," and able to take care of themselves for a good many years to come.

Daily Milk Supply In Shelby Is Five Hundred Gallons

Seven Central Dairies Meet A Grade Test Required By City. Pure Milk.

The people of Shelby use approximately 500 gallons of milk per day, or rather, that amount of milk is purchased daily from the seven central dairy plants which supply the milk of the city and who have met the pure milk regulations of the city health department.

Governing Body Is Returned

Two County Officials Unopposed. Others Returned By Primary Vote.

People may get heated up over minor issues in political campaigns, but the primary outcome in Cleveland county was a pretty good indication that the voters of the county believe in watching the expense accounts, which, after all, is their pocket-books for the bills in the form of taxes.

Some Cut Off

Dr. J. S. Dorton, city health officer, stated today that the grade of milk sold here has steadily gained in quality since the beginning of the enforcement of the A grade milk ordinance. The strict enforcement resulted in 11 dairies being refused permits to supply milk in the city because they could not meet the requirements. The city's milk supply comes from the following dairy plants, which have met the sanitary conditions: Poston dairy, Ryburn Hamrick dairy, D. O. McSwain and Son, George Hamrick, Smith's dairy, Lester Green, and the Shelby Milk plant.

In addition to these there are 11 other county dairies which have passed the A grade requirements and furnish milk to the Shelby milk plant. Four other dairies, with A grade endorsement, furnish milk to the seven central distributors.

Had Its Effects

Those bits of information apparently had their effect with the more than 50 thousand people in the county who pay, in the form of taxes, for county government, roads, schools, etc. This is evidenced by the fact that every court house official in the county was returned to office last week in the primary.

Sheriff's Race Pulled Highest Vote In Primary

Newton Lacks 40 Of A Majority

Unofficial Figures Rapidly Assembled By Star Not Far From Official.

The official Cleveland county primary vote issued by the county election board yesterday varied very little from the unofficial vote, assembled hurriedly Saturday night by The Star, and the outcome of no race was materially changed by the official figures.

The contest for the Democratic nomination for sheriff drew the largest number of votes—5,937. The Superior court judgeship contest, with 5,871 votes, was second; the county solicitor's race, with 5,861 votes, was third; the United States senatorial race, with 5,831 votes, was fourth; the congressional race fifth, the race for legislature, sixth, for treasurer seventh, for recorder eighth and for coroner ninth.

Young, Weathers, High. Charles S. Young, successful candidate for the county school board received the highest number of votes in the board races with a total of 4,861. R. L. Weathers, member of the county board of commissioners, was second with 4,624.

In the individual office races Judge B. T. Falls received Cleveland county's highest vote in his bid for the Superior court judgeship, a total of 4,243. J. W. Bailey ranked second with 4,105. Roscoe Lutz third, Maurice Weathers fourth and Irvin Allen fifth.

By the unofficial figures assembled by The Star, J. C. Newton lacked only 62 votes having a majority over both of his opponents. This shortage was cut down by the official figures which show that Newton only needed 40 votes to be a winner in the first race. The official figures gave Newton 35 more votes, Gardner 20 more votes, and McBrayer 20 less.
