

Smashing Democratic Victory Seen In This State This Fall

Simmons And Bailey Groups Lining Up Lack Of Bitterness Shown.

Raleigh.—A smashing Democratic victory throughout North Carolina in the general election in November is being freely predicted as a result of the decisive victory of Josiah William Bailey over Senator F. M. Simmons in the primary last Saturday.

The Bailey victory is interpreted as meaning a decisive Democratic victory in November because it is being generally conceded that the thing that contributed perhaps more than anything else to Mr. Bailey's victory was the intense feeling now existing in the state toward the Republican administration in general, President Herbert Hoover and the now thoroughly detested "Hoover Prosperity," and the fact that Senator Simmons lent encouragement and succor to the Hoover movement in 1928.

Another factor being interpreted as indicating Democratic success in the general election in November is the apparent absence of any bitter feeling on the part of the Simmons supporters and the fact that Senator Simmons has stated he will support the entire Democratic ticket. Colonel John D. Langston, of Goldsboro, chairman of the Simmons campaign advisory committee, A. B. Andrews, of Raleigh, and others, have already wired their congratulations and pledged their support to Mr. Bailey. Hundreds of others who supported Simmons now say the Democrats of the state have spoken and that from now on the party must stand united back of Bailey and that they are going "down the line" for the entire party ticket.

Bailey Stand Helps.

The fact that Mr. Bailey is proving a good sportsman and that he is showing no ill feeling toward those who opposed them, but is welcoming their support and cooperation, is also strengthening the Democratic organization throughout the state and cementing it together into one coherent unit.

The extremely heavy Democratic registration over the state this year, and the fact that the bulk of this registration voted for Bailey rather than Simmons, although many of the new registrants were generally recognized in many communities as having formerly been Republicans, is also being regarded as indicative of the sweeping Democratic victory in November. The unusually light vote in the Republican primary and the decided apathy among the Republicans is also regarded as significant.

"The intensity of the feeling against President Hoover and the present Republican administration, caused by the intensely unfavorable business conditions that have gone along with it, especially here in North Carolina, has caused the bitter feeling against the Republicans that I have seen in years," said a state official here today who has been intimately connected with the political life of the state for years. "And I am personally convinced that this combination of circumstances was the most powerful factor in the defeat of Senator Simmons. This same feeling is going to continue to exist and bring about what I believe will be the greatest Democratic victory in November that the state has seen in years."

This belief is shared by scores of others, including some of the strongest supporters of Senator Simmons. Some of the Republican leaders still have the hope that there will be enough Simmons supporters who will refuse to vote for Bailey in November and thus vote for the Republican candidate for the senate to enable them to elect a Republican senator. But the majority of the Republicans are frankly discouraged at the results of their primary and at the outlook for victory in November.

Mr. Bailey already sees the opportunity that is his to capitalize on this sentiment over the state and is losing no time in making the most of this opportunity. Those who know Mr. Bailey and his style of campaigning believe that he will grant little quarter to the Republicans in the campaign this fall.

New York club women who are fat and don't mind admitting it are planning a "Nonstylish" show in protest against clothing makers who make only slender garments. The portly matrons will wear the exaggerated, skinny models to show how ridiculous they look.

"Things I Ate Hurt Me"

"I had a severe case of indigestion," says Mrs. B. C. Black-Draught, 7 River St., Piedmont, S. C. "So many things that I ate hurt me. I almost quit eating. I would burn in my heat. I had severe headaches, and such a tight, smothering feeling. I would be obliged to eat a little, then it would hurt me. A friend said to me: 'Why don't you take Black-Draught?'"

"I was just too weak then to do my work. I began taking small doses after meals, and in just a few weeks I could eat anything I wanted to, then take my small dose of Black-Draught and feel fine. I soon regained my health and strength."

Costs only 1 cent a dose.

DUTY OF WOMAN TO HER HUSBAND FROM BACK SEAT

Atlanta, Ga.—The Georgia court of appeals ruled inferentially that it is not only the right, but the duty of a woman to assist her husband by back seat driving.

Mrs. R. H. Pickard, of Atlanta, had sought damages from the Georgia Power company for injuries received when an automobile driven by her husband was struck by a street car. The court ruled that Mrs. Pickard saw the car approaching and did not warn her husband.

"By the exercise of ordinary care she could have avoided the accident," the opinion, granting a non-suit read.

Republican Nominee For Senate Contest

Charlotte News.

The Republicans have chosen the son of a former senator to make the race against Mr. Bailey for the United States senate—George M. Pritchard, of Asheville, one of four men that party voted upon in its Saturday primary, and perhaps not as strong or as formidable as Mr. Tucker would have been for the Democrats to combat.

The suggestion that the Republican may change their tactics now that Senator Simmons has been defeated, remove Mr. Pritchard in favor of some stronger man to contest with Nominee Bailey, is hardly to be taken seriously. In fact, it is not likely that a new face might be that of D. H. Blair of Winston-Salem or Judge John J. Parker, of Charlotte, fails to register under circumstances which the Democratic primary has brought about, especially the circumstance revealing such a united spirit of determination within the ranks of the majority party. Had Mr. Bailey won the victory by a narrow margin that had left plenty of fire and attack in the Simmons forces, enough to indicate to the Republicans a hang-over of widespread spirit of vengeance and determination to retaliate, the opportunism of such a move would be more defensible.

There is, however, nothing on the horizon at this hour to suggest that even the most mighty man the Republicans could harness for this contest would be of sufficient appeal to give the Democrats serious worry. The Bailey victory exhibits such momentum and fire within the revived Democratic organization as to warrant no feeling of ebullience among the Republicans. They will hardly interfere with the re-election of Mr. Pritchard to go through the ordeal that awaits him.

Around Our TOWN Shelby SIDELIGHTS

By RENN DRUM.

WHO WAS the sheriff of Cleveland county a half century ago? Who was the clerk of court, who were the commissioners, and what man was mayor of Shelby?

The column is indebted to Mr. W. D. Babington for a newspaper clipping of approximately 55 years ago which gives a list of city and county officials and a professional and business directory of Shelby.

Old-timers, the fellows who gather on the court square and hark back to the good old days of long ago should be interested in that list. Too, it should be equally as interesting to descendants of the men who had charge of things a half century in the past.

County Officers Then.

Cleveland county officers then were: R. B. McBrayer, coroner; B. F. Logan, sheriff; G. M. Green, treasurer; R. Roberts, surveyor; T. D. Lattimore, clerk of court; R. J. Durham, register of deeds; M. C. Roberts, jailor; M. E. Rudisill, standard keeper; E. B. Jennings, J. R. Logan, I. R. Oats, E. Dickson, and W. B. Stroud, commissioners.

The town officers of that day were:

Dr. L. N. Durham, mayor; W. W. Green, postmaster; J. A. Harrill, marshal; L. H. Harrill, T. P. Alexander, D. D. Suttles, John Lineberger, commissioners.

One Full-Time Church.

The church directory from the old newspaper shows that only one church here had services every Sunday. It was the Methodist church of which Rev. H. T. Hudson, grandfather of Harry Hudson, was pastor of the Baptist church on the first, third and fourth Sundays. The Presbyterian and Episcopalian churches were not regularly supplied. The Baptists had Sunday school every Sunday afternoon at 2:30 and the Methodists at 3.

The only hotel of that day was the Shelby hotel, of which J. S. Borders was the proprietor. J. L. Alexander, J. W. Nance and W. E. Ryburn operated private boarding houses.

In The Professions.

The physicians of that day were: W. J. T. Miller, T. Williams, O. P. Gardner, W. P. Andrews, J. C. Gidney, R. J. Brevard.

Lawyers listed were: H. D. Lee, P. Durham, H. Cabaness, J. W. Gidney, W. A. Hoke, R. McBrayer, W. C. Durham.

Dentists were: L. N. Durham, Heatwell, A. B. Ware, J. A. Harrill. House-builders were: M. E. Rudisill, M. P. and D. Dellinger, S. A. Hoey, J. G. Webb, Webb Owens, J. W. Nance.

Plasterers, painters, brick-layers were: W. R. Harden, J. L. Alexander, T. P. Alexander, W. S. Alexander, N. Camp, R. E. Putnam. Blacksmiths were: W. E. Ryburn, John Lineberger, Babington brothers, S. Hunter.

Cabinet makers: N. N. Haynes and son, D. Justice. Marble yard operators: Wells and Coggins. Bankers: J. Jenkins and Co. Iron Foundry: Babington brothers.

Tobacco factory: J. W. Gidney and company. Confectioners: J. F. Harris, D. McArthur and J. W. Kee. Tinners: D. McArthur and J. F. Harris. Druggists: Gidney and Wells, W. A. Ray and Co. Tailors: A. W. Quinn and Son, T. Hamrick.

Dress-makers: Madam Jones, Madam Lee and Madam Durham. Merchants: Webb and Jenkins, Ware and Froneberger, T. P. Wells, Ware and Wells, Elliott and Son, Lovelace and Co., Bynum and Miller, Suttles, Bostic and Brother, Miller Brothers, J. C. Everett and Co.

Shoemakers: J. A. Parker, P. P. Hoke, F. L. Hoke, J. W. Sterling. Harness shops: Green and Suttles, Lovelace and Barnett, P. P. Hoke, F. L. Hoke.

The schools in Shelby were listed as follows: Shelby Seminary, Cleveland Female Seminary, Mrs. T. W. Love's primary school, Mrs. Beam's private school.

The lodges and societies given were: Cleveland Masonic lodge, Shelby Council F of T, Philogian Society, Shelby Grange—Patrons of Husbandry.

Only one or two of the men and women named are living today according to old citizens of the town.

Wife Swappers to Enjoy or Regret Trade

Poetic Ruling of North Dakota Justice Tosses Unusual Case Out of Court

North Dakota's pair of wife swappers whose cases attracted attention more than a year ago have been freed of legal entanglements by District Judge C. W. Butts, of Devil's Lake.

The couples secured divorces in Minot and under the law were enjoined from marriage for a period of ninety days. Demanding the law, the divorced pairs, neighboring farmers, exchanged names in a double wedding ceremony in Devils Lake last week and went back to their farms with their new husbands. The modern law making of their own choice.

Dr. and Mrs. Tom Gold are entitled to a free trip to the Carolina theatre due to the fact that Dr. Gold's guess on the Cleveland county population was the nearest to the 1930 census figures. The theatre tickets were offered by Manager Sipe, of the Carolina theatre, and this column for the best guess on the county population. Frank Hoyie, jr., won the Webb theatre tickets for the best guess on the county population.

The county population was 52,305, and Dr. Gold's guess was 52,330—just 25 people too many. Of the scores who guessed in the contest only three placed their figures as high as the 50,000 mark. They were Dr. Gold, Buck Coble, and Mrs. M. M. Patterson. Buck guessed 50,550 and Mrs. Patterson 50,000.

If you're inclined to think this has been a tough day, what with having to read this column and other bad breaks, remember that it's Friday the 13th. You're lucky to be living, mebbe.

Says Falls Move Was Commendable Affair

Charlotte Observer.

It was a pretty close race for judgeship in the sixteenth district between Warlick, of Newton, and Falls, of Shelby, but the latter has saved the people of the district the bother of going into a second primary by withdrawing in favor of the Newton candidate—and that is a good and brotherly way of settling election disputes.

SERVING MANY BUSINESSES

Experience of large fleet owners reveals the unusual reliability and economy of the new Ford

A SIGNIFICANT TRIBUTE to the value of the new Ford is found in its increasing use by Federal, state and city governments and by large industrial companies which keep careful day-by-day cost records. In most instances, the Ford has been chosen only after exhaustive tests of every factor that contributes to good performance—speed, power, safety, comfort, low cost of operation and up-keep, reliability and long life.

Prominent among the companies using the Ford are the Associated Companies of the Bell System, Armour and Company, The Borden Company, Continental Baking Corporation, Firestone Tire and Rubber Company, General Electric Company, Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, Kellogg Company, Knickerbocker Ice Company, Morton Salt Company, Pillsbury Flour Mills Company, The Procter and Gamble Company, and Swift & Company.

Each of these companies uses a large number of Ford cars and trucks. The Associated Companies of the Bell System use more than eight thousand. Modern business moves at a fast pace and it needs the Ford. Daily, in countless ways and places, it helps to speed the production and delivery of the world's goods and extend the useful service of men and companies.

Constant, steady operation over many thousands of miles emphasizes the advantages of the sound design of the Ford car, its high quality of materials, and unusual accuracy in manufacturing. Beneath its graceful lines and beautiful colors there is a high degree of mechanical excellence. An example of the value built into the Ford is the use of more than twenty ball and roller bearings. They are hidden within the car and you may never see them. Yet they play an important part in satisfactory, economical performance. Their function is similar to the jewels of a fine watch.

Throughout the Ford chassis, a ball or roller bearing is used at every place where it is needed to reduce friction and wear and give smooth, reliable mechanical operation. At many points, as on the transmission counter-shaft, clutch release, fan and pump shaft, and front drive shaft, these ball and roller bearings are used where less costly types of bearings might be considered adequate. Additional instances of the high quality built into the Ford are the extensive use of steel forgings, fully enclosed four-wheel brakes, Rustless Steel, four Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers, aluminum pistons, chrome silicon alloy valves, torque-tube drive, three-quarter floating rear axle, and the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield.

The Ford policy has always been to use the best possible material for each part and then, through large production, give it to the public at low cost.
