

Linville River In Burke County Most Beautiful Stream In N. C.

Forester Advocates State Park in Enchanting Linville Gorge Area.

Raleigh, July 7.—Linville river along the 20-mile stretch from Linville falls to the mouth of Linville gorge, Burke county, "is the roughest and most picturesque stream in the southern Appalachians," asserted State Forester J. S. Holmes in discussing the possibility of the area's being converted into a state park.

"The river dashing through the gorge in places 2000 feet deep, Mr. Holmes said, "falls in its 20 mile course to the foothills 2400 feet." The wild beauty of the area, he added, is hardly surpassed anywhere in the world.

So rugged and wild is the territory, Mr. Holmes said that "while ad venturesome fishermen know parts of the gorge, there are few people who have traversed the whole length." The scenic beauty and value of the gorge section was warmly praised in a resolution adopted by the national conference of state parks, which was held this year at Linville. In its resolution, the conference urged that the area be acquired by the state of North Carolina as a state park.

Over a Billion Deadly Germs in a Single Drop of Water

Germs are so small that there may be as many as one billion, seven hundred million of them in a drop of water. And just a few of these tiny germs, if they get into your blood through a cut in your skin, may make you so sick you will be in bed for weeks—may cause the loss of a limb through blood poisoning—may even infect you with that most dreadful and fatal of diseases, lockjaw.

Just because you can see no dirt in a cut does not mean that it is clean. You cannot see germs. The only safe and sane thing to do, is to thoroughly wash every cut, no matter how small, with Liquid Borosone, to kill the germs, and then dust it with Borosone Powder, to hasten the healing. Liquid Borosone costs 30 cents, 60 cents, $1.20 and $1.80; Borosone Powder, 30 cents and 60 cents, and can be had at PAUL WEBB & SON AND CLEVELAND DRUG CO. (adv.)

Thin, Pale, Weak

"I HAD BEEN THROUGH a bad spell of sickness which left me very weak," says Mrs. Virginia Spruce, of Stepleton, Va. "I was pale, and felt listless, and my strength did not return."
"I spent most of my time on the bed. I was very nervous, and the least thing upset me. I did not have strength enough to lift a broom. At times I would have had headaches, which would hurt me until I could hardly see."
"Someone asked me why I did not try Cardui. I had read of it, so though I would not say what I would do for me. It was really remarkable how I came out. My strength returned, and my health was better than it had been in years. I gained in weight about ten pounds. My color was good, and I ceased to suffer from headaches. I have told my friends about Cardui because I was benefited after taking it."

sufficient size. It was then that the Great Smoky mountain park plan was suggested and finally adopted. Turning to the matter of the states acquiring the Linville area for a park or the establishing of a park by other means, State Forester Holmes said three possible courses were open. "Unfortunately," he explained, "no definite steps can be taken toward the acquisition of these properties without special legislative authorization and appropriation, unless private funds can be secured."

The three ways by which the park might be established were listed by Mr. Holmes as follows:
"1. By securing an appropriation from the general assembly to purchase the property as a state park, the legislation necessarily carrying the power of condemnation. State funds would be made available by a direct appropriation from the treasury or through a bond issue to be issued as the money was needed. This latter plan was approved by the North Carolina forestry association for the acquisition of not only Linville gorge, but other desirable areas throughout the state.
2. It might be possible either through special federal legislation or through the National Forest reservation committee to get a special dispensation for the acquisition of this property to add to the national forest. * * * Possibly the state would appropriate money to cooperate with the federal government in such acquisition.
3. It might be possible to interest some public spirited citizen to purchase the property and donate it to the state as a state park."

Communists Put On Large Parade

New York.—A Communist parade which started with 2,000 marchers and had recruited 2,000 more by the time it had proceeded a dozen blocks marched through Harlem today in honor of a dead Communist Negro.

A police inspector, a police captain, a sergeant and two patrolmen marched at the head of the procession. As they swung into line a few blocks away from the second-floor room, formerly a pool hall, where the dead Negro, Alfred Luro, had been lying in state, there was some booing and hissing, but the procession on the whole was orderly.

Revival Starts At Fallston July 15th

Rev. W. A. Elam Will Do The Preaching. All Denominations Asked To Take Part.

The revival meeting with the Baptist church of Fallston will begin next Sunday, July 15, at 11 o'clock. There will be no services Sunday night but beginning Monday night there will be services every night. The hour for both services will be 10:30 in the morning and 8 at night.

Everybody in Fallston and surrounding country is invited to attend these services. All denominations are welcomed. We especially request those who sing in the Methodist churches of Fallston to come along and help us in the singing of the gospel. People of nearby churches in the community are invited to come.

The great need of our day is that Jesus the Christ shall be more real to us. That is the kind of revival we need. The church has asked the pastor to do the preaching. He feels more keenly than ever the need of spiritual power and the co-operation of the people. His desire is that the whole community shall be benefited by the meeting.

May we all do two things this week and next: Pray for the meeting and seek to do some personal work.

NEW HIGH LEVEL REACHED IN N. C. TAX COLLECTIONS

Total Revenue For Year 1929-1930 Amounted To $35,263,174.18.

Raleigh.—Despite so-called "hard times" and business depression, the total revenue collections for last year climbed up to a new high level for all time, it was shown in the annual report of Commissioner of Revenue A. J. Maxwell.

The total collections for the fiscal year 1929-30 which ended June 30 were $35,263,174.18. This was $4,034,246.92 more than for any other year previous.

Of the total, the general fund collections were 15,344,242.35 showing a $1,441,552.50 increase over the year of 1928-29. Highway fund collections totaled $19,918,931.83, an increase of $2,592,694.42 over the previous year.

A total of $211,225.49 of deferred payments on the state income taxes provided this year for the first time is not included in the general fund figure, Commissioner Maxwell explained.

While expressing satisfaction at the total collections for last year Commissioner Maxwell warned the people of the state that they might not expect such a good showing for the present year.

"It should not be overlooked," he said speaking of last fiscal year's collections, "that a large part of this revenue was collected before the beginning of the depression period and with respect to income taxes payable in March of this year, the income had in the main been earned before the beginning of the depression period, which began the latter part of 1929." Mr. Maxwell said the increase in highway fund collection reflected an increase from four to five cents in the gas tax and that the increase in the general fund revenue was in part due to changes made in the revenue laws by the last general assembly.

Prospects for a decrease in revenue during the present year, the second of the biennium, Mr. Maxwell pointed out, makes necessary "the rather drastic measure of economy which the budget bureau is enforcing."
