Elliott Family Record And Their Marriages Given

(The Elliott family record from the family Bible, by James Carson Elliott, a great grandson of Martin Elliott.)
Martin Elliott, with grown-up children, came here from Virginia in 1806 and settled between the river and Brushy creek, west of Shelby.
We have a transcript of the marriage bond of Martin Elliott to Annie Finch, daughter of Adam Finch, with Joseph Lee as surety—all were of Charlotte county, Virginia—the wedding is dated January 2, 1780. Martin Elliott's mother was a Thompson. There is no record of his father, or of his brothers and sisters.
The following is a record of the children born to Martin Elliott and Annie Finch Elliott:
Jinney Elliott, born Dec. 1780.
James Finch Elliott, born Feb. 22 1782.
John Elliott, born July 4, 1785.
John Crenshaw Elliott, born Dec. 11, 1787.
Martin Slaughter Elliott, born Feb. 25, 1789.
Robert Elliott, born July 28, 1795.
Annie Elliott, born Aug. 13, 1799.
Sarah Hicks Elliott, born January 5, 1793.
Nancy Elliott, born Feb. 27, 1795.
Elizabeth Elliott, born Oct. 4, 1803.
Adam Harmon Finch Elliott, born May 2, 1806.
There was one child born to a second marriage, with Miss McCombs: Lucy Marion Elliott, born Aug. 19, 1829.
Lucy married a Dr. Borden and they, with her mother, moved to Florida. Robert was a bachelor. He went to Louisiana and was lost sight of. James Finch Elliott married a Miss Doggett in Virginia. His brothers-in-law, Coleman, James and Dickey came with them. Coleman Doggett married Mary Smith, daughter of Minor Smith. James married a Wilson, and Samuel Poston married his widow. Dickey never married and he was murdered by a negro.
John Crenshaw Elliott married Meary Dunahoo, of Caswell county, N. C., daughter of Edward Dunahoo. She had one brother, Edward Dunahoo, who moved to Tennessee. Miss Dunahoo's mother was a Cunningham and had first married a Turner. Martin Slaughter Elliott married Nancy Turner, a niece of Meary Dunahoo by a half brother. Martin Slaughter Elliott's widow married William Corbett. They had one son, Captain William S. Corbett.
Adam Elliott married a Wilson. They had one son, James Elliott, who went to Tennessee, and one daughter, Nancy, who married a McCurry. After her death, Mr. McCurry married Virzile Green.
