New Day Dawning For Democrats Now

Charlotte News. The mind of the people of the country is turning unquestionably toward the enthronement in office of the Democratic party. The Republicans are well aware of it. The leaders of that party are troubled about it. Their campaign tactics this year—an off-year in politics, but still an important year for them in the matter of controlling the congress—are designed to beat back the rising wave of disaffection against their rulership. The major strategy of those masters of politics is to neutralize so far as possible the sentimental swing which they so clearly see developing.

Whether we make reference to government in the nation or government in this state, this newspaper unhesitatingly declares itself on the side of more militant and achieving democracy. It is time that we are through piddling about in the puddles of our own self-bleeding and unitedly get to work to give the Democratic party in this Republic and in this commonwealth freer and fuller balance. In the nation at Washington is being castigated for its failures and non-fulfillment of its platform pledges.

It has failed to help agriculture and the farmers of America were promised about everything except the Kingdom of Heaven itself if they would two years ago lend their support to the Republican ticket. The efforts of the administration toward appeasing agricultural wrath throughout the country have been mere gestures. The creation of the federal farm board was widely heralded as the one sure cure for the ills that were afflicting the farm life of America, but he must have a vivid imagination who can see a scintilla of good that this body has performed. It has been meddling and musing around in the business of almost all classes of the farmers, but leaving them at the last in a hopeless state of dejection and despair.

Its attempt toward paternalism have been unfruitful; its suggestions have been ill-placed. The only thing that has come out of the body that is tangibly and far-reaching good was in the form of advice to the American farmers to organize and to co-operate, and that has been preached since the days when members of the board themselves were prattling about their mothers' knees. Certainly, they can't claim any credit either for originality of counsel along this line or for having prevailed upon the farmers more readily and generally to fall in with this enterprise of co-operation.

In respect to the Republican party's stewardship of affairs pertaining to the kingdom of industry, one would be silly to hold that that party or its administrative policies have been responsible for the depression which struck the people a year ago, but it is not going beyond the range of the evidence to charge that that party's tariff principle as now in operation is having the effect of throttling American business and industry and will continually have just that influence until it is remedied. With every country in the world driven to policies of reprisal against us for the high tariff walls set up by the Grundy bill and with our exports, therefore, shot to pieces this damming up more and more the trade channels at home, we are face to face with an economic condition which that tariff structure is largely responsible for and which will not be obviated so long as it is continued.

There is nothing, as a matter of fact, in the record of the leadership of the Republican party in this country in the last two years to commend it to the good graces and favor of the people. Protection by Big Business with a consequent disregard for the well-being of the masses—the traditional policy of the Republican party—has been weighed in the balances within this period and found wanting in its fairness in principle or in its justice in operation. It is time that the people of America were taking account of the situation into which they find themselves catapulted politically, and for them, furthermore, in the energies of a mighty protest, make up their minds to restore to power a party that believes in government of, for and by the people.

Republican Whining

Charlotte News. The Republicans can't possibly hope to get very far with their wishy wishes about the Democrats being responsible for the business depression. It's a hollow suggestion that rings from the lips of their spell-binders, made all the more despicable because of the obvious effort they are making merely to neutralize the charges which the Democrats have a right to make against the party in power for its own contributions to the continuation of this unfortunate situation.

The Democrats are not to blame, of course! Even the morons will be able to get a laugh out of the suggestion that they are. The charges of the Republicans that things would have been satisfactory in the economic world if the Democrats had not been mouthing about the affairs of the country in the last two years is merely a joke so good that the boys on the vaudeville stage should not overlook it.

ZION COMMUNITY BATCH OF NEWS

Mrs. Simmons Entertains Sunday School Class. Mountain Institute Presented.

Zion, Sept. 29.—We were very fortunate to have some of the South Mountain Institute people with us Sunday in our Sunday school. Mrs. Brown gave a very interesting talk about how they did in their school. The children gave us a good message through songs. Mr. Barnett made a splendid talk. Mr. Barnett is from Maine and has been with the institute for some time. Miss Beckwith, teacher in the school was also along.

After Many Days, Aberdeen Pilot.

Some three years ago while Miss Margaret Hobbs of Fayetteville, was guest of Miss Katherine Arnold they attended a fishing party at Thagard's pond. In some way Miss Hobbs lost a magnificent diamond ring, the valued gift of her mother, and although every effort was made to recover the ring, even to draining the pond, the handson's jewel could not be found. Time passed, Miss Hobbs became Mrs. O. J. Mullenix and Miss Arnold became Mrs. McDavid. Last week Mr. McIver again went fishing at Thagard's, the pond, of course, owing to the very dry weather, was quite low, and as Mr. McIver was walking around it, he noticed a brilliant glitter on the sandy shore, and as he stooped to investigate, presto! the lost ring was revealed. It was immediately restored to its delighted owner, who found it in almost perfect condition.

TOOTS AND CASPER— What Will Casper Learn?

IMAGINE SUCH A THING, TOOTS! I BOUGHT SOME SHIRTS AT A HABERDASHERY, AND TOLD THE CLERK TO CHARGE THEM TO ME, AND—ZIP! TWO COPS POUNCED ON ME, AND I HAD A HARD TIME CONVINCING THEM I AM CASPER, AND NOT THE IMPOSTOR WHO HAS BEEN POSING AS ME!

THAT'S FINE, CASPER—IT SHOWS THE POLICE ARE ON THE JOB!

I'D LIKE TO CATCH THAT CROOK—HE'S CAUSED ME A LOT OF TROUBLE! HE NOT ONLY USES MY NAME TO SWINDLE THE STORES, BUT HE'S DATED UP LOTS OF GIRLS AND TOLD THEM HE'S ME! THAT GIRL, CLARICE, WHO CAME TO SEE ME IS SURE SORE AT HIM FOR DECEIVING HER!

SHE PROMISED TO LET ME KNOW IF SHE RAN ACROSS HIM AGAIN!

A GIRL NAMED CLARICE IS ON THE WIRE, CASPER! SHE SEEMS VERY EXCITED!

I'LL TALK TO HER, TOOTS! SHE MAY HAVE SOME INFORMATION AS TO THAT IMPOSTOR'S WHERE-ABOUTS!

WHY IS CLARICE SO EXCITED? WHAT HAS SHE TO SAY?

CONTINUED TOMORROW.

Setting The Trap.

THAT WAS THE GIRL, CLARICE! SHE PHONED TO TELL ME THAT THE IMPOSTOR WHO HAS BEEN POSING AS ME IS GOING TO TAKE HER TO A THEATRE TOMORROW NIGHT, AND HE'S TO CALL FOR HER AT HER APARTMENT AT EIGHT P.M. SHARP!

I'M GOING TO TELL THE POLICE ABOUT THAT, TOOTS! IT'S THEIR CHANCE TO CATCH THE CROOK!

CLARICE MUST BE GOOD AND SORE AT HIM, CASPER! IT'S THE OLD STORY OF A WOMAN SCORNED!

YES, CAPTAIN—THAT'S WHAT CLARICE TOLD ME—NOT FIVE MINUTES AGO!

WE'LL SET A TRAP FOR HIM, AND LAND HIM WHEN HE WALKS INTO HER APARTMENT! LET'S HOPE THE GIRL DOESN'T REPENT AN' TIP HIM OFF IN THE MEAN-TIME! I THINK HE'S THE SAME MAN WHO IS WANTED BY THE POLICE IN SEVERAL CITIES.

IT LOOKS LIKE THE BEGINNING OF THE END FOR THE IMPOSTOR!

WATCH FOR DEVELOPMENTS!
