Daily Record Costs The U. S. $600,000

Circulation figures of the Congressional Record show that this official publication, carrying the debates of congress and supplemental data, goes ordinarily to less than 36,000 readers daily in a population exceeding 120,000,000, says an article in a recent issue of the New York Times. Paid subscriptions are fewer than 1,000.

A recent report by George H. Carter, public printer, shows that the government printing office turns out 35,500 copies of the Record each day congress is in session and that the cost of the daily and bound editions of the Record averages $600,000 per annum, almost wholly paid by the federal government. Congress itself is the best customer of the Record, although the government lets anybody purchase the Record at a reasonable rate—$1.50 a month or $9.00 for all editions of a long congress session and $4.00 for a short session.

Members of congress are authorized to purchase any number of extracts from the Congressional Record for circulation in their districts. The cost is only that of composition and paper. "Franked" envelopes are supplied free for the mailing out of such extracts and the chief use made of the privilege is in a campaign year. On the average about $65,000 to $70,000 a year is expended by members of congress.

Reynolds Profits Greatest In 1930

Winston-Salem.—The annual statement of R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, issued here reports earnings of $34,256,664, a new high record, as compared with $32,210,521 for the previous year.

This is equal to $3.42 per share for 1930 against $3.22 per share in 1929, and represents a continuance of record-breaking earnings shown by that company for many successive years.

The ratio of current assets to current liabilities, according to the statement, is over 12 to 1, with no bank debt, no outstanding bonds or preferred stock, and with only the nominal sum of $1 assigned to its brands, trade-marks and good will.

In a letter to the stockholders, Bowman Gray, president of the company, pointed out that the report "is being sent to the largest number of stockholders in the company's history, the aggregate number being nearly three times that of two years ago."

"The company," Mr. Gray said, "holds shares of its own stock which are carried at a figure less than market price at December 31, 1930." During the past year the company sold a block of the shares previously acquired, and the profit from the sale was applied in reduction of the cost of the shares still held. No part of the earnings shown in the treasurer's report for the year was derived from the sale of stock."

FOREST CITY HAD BIG FIRE LOSS LAST YEAR

Forest City, Jan. 23.—Forest City, Rutherford county's largest town, suffered a large fire loss during the past year. Figures kept by the Forest City fire department reveal the fact that approximately $72,000 worth of property was destroyed by fire. Fire insurance amounting to only about $55,000 was carried on this property. This unusually large fire loss was caused by 14 fires, nine of which resulted in the buildings burning completely down. One fire was extinguished before any damage was done.

Nine dwellings, one store building one barn, a car shed and the old school building that had been converted into a laundry were among the fires listed for the year.

Accused Man Slain By Girl In Court Room

With Dramatic Suddenness, Arkansas Woman Rises From Seat, Kills Who Slew Father.

DeWitt, Ark., Jan. 21.—A judgment of death, rendered in a crowded courtroom by the pistol of 17-year-old Mrs. Helen Spence Eaton, has ended the trial of the accused slayer of her father before a jury could return a verdict.

With dramatic suddenness, the daughter from the White River country rose from her seat Monday and fired four bullets into the body of Jack Worls, 30, just as the jury prepared to file from the room to deliberate charges of murder against him.

Her action ended a river episode that cost the life of her father, A. Cicero Spence, and eventually brought death to her mother.

Panic Develops. As Worls slumped to the floor, panic developed with women and children screaming and fighting to get out. Mrs. Eaton surrendered quietly to sheriff's deputies in the courtroom and was taken to the State penitentiary Little Rock.

Worls was accused of wounding Spence and throwing him from a boat into the White river while still alive. Two other men and Mrs. Spence were in the boat.

The slaying occurred in a remote section of the White river country, and it took officers several days to journey to the scene and return with Worls and Mrs. Spence, who officers said had been beaten. She died two weeks ago in a Memphis hospital.

"I'm not sorry for it and I'd do it again," was Mr. Eaton's comment at Little Rock. "I was afraid that jury was going to free him. Worls claimed he killed my father in self-defense, but I shot him down like he did my father—in the back, or at least from behind."

"I stepped out to the railing and pointed the pistol right at him and pulled the trigger," she told officers. "He fell out of his chair to the floor. He never said a word. Everybody seemed to have hurried out of the courtroom and I found myself alone."

"Finally a deputy came up and I handed him my gun." She has been given lodging in Warden S. L. Todhunter's home until she can be transferred to a more appropriate quarters than the State penitentiary which has no department for women.

EXECUTOR'S NOTICE. Having this day qualified as executor of the will of W. A. Proctor, deceased, this is to hereby notify all persons holding claims against said estate to present same itemized and verified to the undersigned within twelve months from this date or this notice will be pleaded in bar of any recovery; and this is further to notify all persons indebted to said estate to make immediate payment to the undersigned. This the 26th day of December, 1930. SAMUEL PROCTOR, MARY PROCTOR, Executors. 6t Dec 29- Newton & Newton, Attys.

In The Good Old Days

If I remember correctly some 20-odd years ago we all had a horse and buggy; eggs were ten cents a dozen; milk was delivered out of a can at five cents a quart; the butcher gave away liver; good cigars cost a nickel; shoes were $3.50 per pair; houses rented for $15.00 a month; the hired girl received a dollar a week and did the washin'.

Women did not powder and paint smoke cigarettes, play poker, do the black bottom, show their knees in public. They were taught to cook at the age of ten.

Men wore whiskers and boots, chewed tobacco, spit on the sidewalks and cussed. Laborers worked ten hours a day, took a bath in a pail and never went on strike. No tips were given to waiters and the hat-check grafter was unknown. Boys walked to school (where the Bible was read). T. B.'s and B. V. D.'s were unknown.

No one was ever operated on for appendicitis, tonsillitis or other ills. Microbes were unheard of; folks lived to be a good old age and every year walked miles to wish their friends "a Merry Christmas."

Today—you know everybody rides in automobiles, taxis, or aeroplanes, uses bottled pasteurized milk, eats canned fruits and delicatessen foods gets music and religion out of the air; has amusements furnished by others; insists on a certain brand of cigars or cigarettes, but will drink
