Then comes the proposal to tax moving pictures, and every theatre operator goes to Raleigh and displays figures which prove that not a penny has been made in the theatre business since 1786. When bills are suggested for taxing barbers, bottlers, fish-dealers, chiropractors and bootleggers, representatives of these professions immediately run to Raleigh and sue to have their taxes blocked by any such move. Then somebody introduces a bill to put another tax on the farmer. It is given publicity through the newspapers. Members of the legislature hold their breaths. They gaze at visitors in the hotels but fail to discern a single farmer among them. They spot all kinds of lobbyists, but nary a farmer-lobbyist. A huge sigh of relief is released. "Maybe it's best to put on that kind of a tax after all," says Mr. Legislator. And the bill is passed with very little opposition. Along with learning how to live at home, the farmer ought to learn how to do a little lobbying.

Short Divorce Bill Is Passed

Little Rock, Ark.—A bill its author said would enable Arkansas to compete with Nevada for divorce business was before the state senate with house approval.

The bill, which would shorten to three months the period of residence necessary for divorce, was adopted 54 to 35 by the house yesterday after a heated debate on "morals," "fanaticism," and "the fair name of Arkansas."

Representative Campbell of Sevier County, author of the bill, told the house opposition to the measure had taken on the form of a fanatical ferror.

"Rather than make a hell on earth of marriage, I favor the state government relieving the situation," he continued. "If the rich people want to go Reno to get a divorce let them go. If they want to come to Arkansas and spend their money let them come and help out our commonwealth with their money."

Goerch Gabs Of Assembly Activities

(By CARL GOERCH) The legislature is composed of a lot of mighty fine fellows. They're shaps who are kind-hearted, sympathetic, generous and considerate. They are anxious to please the people of the state and want to do the right thing. Somebody makes the suggestion that the power interests ought to be taxed. What happens? A regular army of lobbyists descends upon Raleigh and proves convincingly and conclusively that the power companies are just about on the verge of starvation. The legislators listen to the presentation of facts, wipe the tears out of their eyes and decide that in view of circumstances probably it would be best not to impose any additional tax on the power people.

Somebody else makes the suggestion that we ought to have a sales tax. Thirty-eight thousand merchants immediately have a stroke of apoplexy, seventeen thousand die of shortness of breath and several thousand others develop serious cases of the rabies.

Then comes the proposal to tax moving pictures, and every theatre operator goes to Raleigh and displays figures which prove that not a penny has been made in the theatre business since 1786.

And the bill is passed with very little opposition. Along with learning how to live at home, the farmer ought to learn how to do a little lobbying.

The lieutenant-governor of South Carolina visited the legislature in Raleigh last week and made a talk to the senators and representatives. He advised the legislators to visit other states and get new ideas. Judging from some of the bills that have been introduced in Raleigh thus far, they've already got too many ideas up there. If they get any more, the chances are that the whole state will go broke.

One hundred and fifty representatives of county government and county road boards met in Raleigh last week to declare open war on Governor Gardner's highway program. If the governor were to make a speech saying that he hoped for fair weather on the Fourth of July, there'd be a delegation in Raleigh before the week was out to declare open war on any such a proposition. A good many of the counties want to see the extra tax placed on gasoline, but they want to handle

Some Difference.

"Oh, save my hair! Save my hair!" she cried, pointing to a wig rapidly drifting out to sea.

"Madam," replied the gallant life guard as he took a firm grip on her shoulder, "I'm only a life-saver, not a hair-restorer."

Miss Louise Roberts of the Mooresboro faculty spent the week-end at home.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Neal of Clinton, S. C., visited home folks recently.

Miss Onida Camp visited relatives and friends at Gastonia Sunday.

Oswego, N. Y.—The Rev. Walter D. Caver of Grace Presbyterian church has concluded, after sending out questionnaires, that girls want the same type of man for a husband that their grandmothers married.

Here is what the girls said they looked for in their prospective mates, given in order of preference: Character, a good disposition, earning ability, intellectual brilliance, social standing, good looks.

Only ten of the girls preferred, they said, a professional or business career to being happily married.

TOOTS AND CASPER— A Lucky Break For The Colonel.

Panel 1: "I'LL BET COLONEL HOOFER WAS SORE WHEN HE GOT TO THE STUDIO AND FOUND OUT HIS BABY WAS TO PLAY IN A MOB SCENE WITH 1000 OTHER BABIES! THIS IS WHERE I GIVE HIM THE MERRY HA-HA! I WAS WISE! I DIDN'T SHOW UP WITH BUTTERCUP."

Panel 2: "HELLO, CASPER! COME IN! I GOT THE SURPRISE OF MY LIFE AT THE STUDIO YESTERDAY!"

Panel 3: "I NEVER SAW SO MANY BABIES IN ALL MY LIFE! HUNDREDS OF THEM— WELL, TO AKE A LONG STORY SHORT, THE BABY STAR IS ILL AND THEY LOOKED OVER THE OTHER BABIES FOR A PINCH-HITTER, AND THEY SELECTED MY TEDDY! BEGINNING MONDAY TEDDY GETS $25.00 A DAY!"

Panel 4: "YOU CAN'T BEAT THAT GUY'S LUCK! HE GETS ALL THE BREAKS!"

Panel 5: "A BREAK IS NOTHING MORE THAN BEING AT THE RIGHT PLACE AT THE RIGHT TIME! COMPETITION IS THE THING! NOTHING IS WORTH MUCH THAT NO ONE ELSE WOULD COMPETE FOR! — AND NO ONE APPRECIATES ANYTHING THAT COMES TOO EASILY."

A Monopoly On Luck.

Panel 5: "HELLO, THERE, COLONEL HOOFER! DID YOU JUST GET HOME? I'VE BEEN TRYING TO REACH YOU ON THE TELEPHONE ALL DAY."

Panel 6: "YES, I JUST GOT IN, CASPER! YOU KNOW MY BABY 'TEDDY' IS GETTING $25.00 DOLLARS A DAY IN THE MOVIES AND I WAS OUT ON LOCATION WITH HIM! WE GO OUT AND BACK IN A STUDIO LIMOUSINE — COME OUT TO THE STUDIO SOME AFTERNOON AND I'LL INTRODUCE YOU TO THE STARS — I'LL SEND THE LIMOUSINE AFTER YOU!"

Panel 7: "THE BIG FOUR-FLUSHER! HIS HEAD IS TWICE AS BIG SINCE HIS BABY GOT IN THE MOVIES! HIS BABY MAKES AS MUCH IN A DAY AS HE DOES IN A WEEK SO I CAN'T SEE WHAT HE'S GOT TO BE PUFFED UP ABOUT."

Panel 8: "BUTTERCUP MIGHT HAVE LANDED THAT JOB ONLY YOU WOULDN'T LET HIM PLAY IN A 'MOB SCENE' WITH OTHER BABIES!"

Panel 9: "NO WONDER BUTTERCUP'S MOVIE CAREER CAME TO NUTHIN'! IT WAS FRIDAY THE 13TH HE WAS TO START AND THAT'S AN EVIL OMEN! YAS-SUH!"

Panel 10: "FRIDAY THE 13TH WASN'T A JINX TO COLONEL HOOFER, BUT I GUESS HE'S JINX-PROOF! E WAS BOF' IN A TOWN CALLED 'HORSE SHOE' AND HIS FATHER'S NAME WAS 'RABBIT FOOT HOOFER'."
