If Mrs. Smith actually winned the prize, it speaks mighty well for her white leg horns. Several other hens done mighty well—considering.

"When I was a child, if I did not feel well, or if I had a cold, my mother gave me Black-Draught," says Mrs. Opha Hill, of Wofford, Ky.
"When I was married, it became a family medicine in my own home, as it was in my mother's."
"I take it for headache and especially for constipation. When I get bilious, my skin gets yellow and I have a very bad taste in my mouth, and a drowsy feeling all during the day. My eyes burn and I get dizzy, or my head is 'swimming.' When I take Black-Draught, it seems to drive the impurities out of my system and I feel fine. I am seldom without this reliable remedy."

there has been a plan on foot for a month or so to consolidate the Methodist and Baptist prayer meetings at this place, so's bigger crowds will come out, very often the Baptist don't have nobody at their prayer meetings except rev. starve and his wife and 9 boys and girls, but none of same can sing, the Methodists don't have that many very often, the latter is willing provided the former agrees not to say nothing about sprinkling and close communion, viser-versa.

the supper which was given last Friday night by the mission nery society took in nearly 48 and c70 after all expenses was paid, Mr. Kifer got a check cashed by the treasury when he paid for his supper, and as same was made out for 38 and c35, she give him back 35, but his check was turned down and it now looks like they not only lost the 30, but the bowl of oysters is gone also, there is some whispering against the treasury for cashing checks, and she may be turned off.

well, Mr. Editor—that is about all of the news, a "live-at-home" movement is on foot here, and it looks like if we live a-tall, that we will huffer live at home or starve, as everything has gone to the cash plan except the churches, rite or foam when you want longer peaces.

Business Burdens.
I visited a friend in a nearby town not long ago. I had not been to see him in over a year. I knew nearly everybody in that town and learned to like several of her leading business men. I always asked about the various acquaintances when I failed to see them while there.

I will call the town of my friend Hopeville, but that isn't what the postoffice sign says. While talking to my friend Bill (whose name is Jack) I asked him how Mr. Brown, the fertilizer dealer, was getting along. He said—"Why, hav't you heard. He sold fertilizer on credit last year and he's in the asylum now."

I knew 2 other fertilizer dealers in Hopeville, and I thought I'd ask about them. Bill (Jack) told me that Mr. Piddle sold guano on credit also last year, and he's in the poor-house now. Mr. Piddle sold 278 tons of 8-3-3 on credit; he's on the chain-gang—offense—whipping a cash (?) customer.

That was sad news to me and a couple of tears trickled down my vest and lodged in the crease of my britches. Being a fertilizer agent myself, I asked Jack, whose name is not bill, how it all happened. He said—"Well, you know, all of these men were great believers in peddling out the milk of human kindness."

I replied—"That's so, but they should not have put it into bags." Then Bill explained it all: "Mr. Brown sold his stuff to his friends who promised to pay him when they sold their cotton—they haven't sold yet. Mr. Piddle was to be paid when they got through hauling, but they apparently have not finished. (Where they bought 200 bags, they hauled only 199, so you see, they ain't thru yet.)"

He stopped talking. I asked him what happened to Mr. Piddle. He said—"Mr. Piddle expected a settlement from his milk-of-human-kindness friends 'next week' and 'on the first' and by 'May 10th.' The fertilizer companies paid their dealers nearly a dollar a ton for handling and storing and selling and delivering their goods—that is—they allowed them 4 per cent from the cash price of the stuff when they got it in the early spring."

Nobody blamed the farmers or the guano agents. Ten-cent cotton and 50-cent corn won't pay debts. The guano companies got their money (mostly), but after the dealers got thru paying interest and licenses and handling expenses and losses—they had no other course except the asylum or poorhouse or chain-gang. Of course, they could have shot themselves, like many of them did, but we are certainly having some fine weather here of late.
