

New Pro For Golf Club Is Being Sought

Club House At Cleveland Springs To Be Sports And Social Center Now.

A new professional and golf instructor for the Cleveland Springs Country Club will likely be secured for the coming summer, according to an announcement by club officials.

The securing of a professional will be in line with the renewed activity which promises the biggest golf season in the history of the club.

The club has not had a regular pro since Mac McCombs left to come to the Hickory Country club, Pete Webb, sensational point golfer, has operated a brand and given general supervision to club play. But with a number of new members in the club it is thought best to secure a full-time instructor. When he is secured it is planned to have him and his wife live on the second floor of the club house and take charge of the broadened sports activity planned.

Inner Club Features. The interior of the club house has been re-decorated and will during the warm months be a social center for small parties by lady members of the club. A grill lunch feature may also be installed by the new pro and his wife.

In addition to the improvement of the golf course, club officials are rebuilding the tennis courts and horseshoe links so that they may be used at night. Members of the club are elated over this addition, as heretofore they say, Shelby has lacked proper amusement for the early hours.

The ladies of the club are planning a series of bridge tournaments as well as a weekly golf tournament when the new members improve their game.

Dub Tournaments. Within a short time the annual dub tournaments for both men and women will be held. These will be followed by the regular club tournaments and several exhibition matches in which the Webb brothers will vie with outside golfers.

The male membership of the club has been restricted to 100 and this quota has almost been reached. There are now about 40 lady members and it is likely that the total will be held to 50, if not less.

Ask For Boxes In The N. C. Election

gross frauds and irregularities in the 1930 senate contest, could not be found Friday at the capitol or at his hotel.

It is believed that he has departed for Asheville, as his ex-colleague, Charles A. Jones, left Friday for Lincolnton. The subcommittee, composed of Senator Moses, republican of New Hampshire, chairman, and senators Watson, republican of Indiana, and Bulkley, democrat, of Ohio, will await the arrival of the election material from North Carolina before proceeding further.

Gardner Co-operation. Raleigh, March 9.—Governor Max Gardner will do all within his power to comply with the request of the senate elections subcommittee for the impounding of the North Carolina ballot boxes, he said.

He received a telegram from Senator Moses, republican, New Hampshire, chairman of the subcommittee, requesting him to take steps to turn over the ballot boxes in the last election to the investigators in Washington.

Governor Gardner said ballot boxes are held six months after an election in North Carolina. Mr. Bailey defeated former Representative George M. Prichard, republican, of Asheville, in last November's election.

Airplane In Crash At Kings Mountain

Pilot And Passenger Hit Tree North Of City. Plane Is Ruined.

Kings Mountain, Mar. 9.—Two men had a miraculous escape from death when the open biplane they were flying crashed into a pine tree in a woods a mile north of here about 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The motor stalled at a low altitude because of water that reached the sparks plugs or coils in the midst of a heavy drizzle.

Neither the pilot, whose name was said to be Edward McLean, of Gibsonville, nor his passenger was injured by the crash that completely demolished the machine.

McLean and the other man left immediately, telling two or three persons who witnessed the accident that they were going to Gastonia. The plane was practically brand new, having been bought February 1. The flies were thought to be flying on the Atlanta-Richmond aerial route to Greensboro.

Shelby Quint Wins Tourney In Final Game

ensive play, which opposing team could not penetrate only at rare intervals was the factor that carried the Shelby side through.

First Game. In the first game with Mt. Airy the opposing team led 7 to 5 at the half, but a 24 to 9 rally in the final period won 13 to 9. Capt. McSwain led the Shelby with six points. G. Brown coming next with four.

In the second game, Shelby defeated 24 to 12. Eskridge made half of the score with six points. McSwain and Connor taking the rest with two each.

Same Playing. The most exciting game of the season was the semi-final struggle between Wilkesboro. Three extra periods of play being necessary before the locals won 15 to 12. Devine topped the scoring with six points.

The regulation game ended at 7-11 after Shelby had come back in the second half. Wilkesboro led 5 to 2 for the first half play. No scoring resulted in the first extra period.

Captain Dula of Wilkesboro sank a goal soon after the second extra period opened. Devine of Shelby rang a long one to tie the count, the ball hitting the basket with the gun.

The last extra period started with R. Brown sinking a free shot for Shelby. Devine sank a pretty one-handed shot from the side of the court to give Shelby a three-point lead. Henderson cut that lead to one point with a field goal, but Brown got it back with a two-point or McSwain added a free shot for Shelby. Brookshire made a free toss for Wilkesboro as the game ended.

Title Game. In the final game with Lumberton Shelby shot seven points from the free-throw line to go with their six points from the floor. Capt. McSwain again led the play with six points and G. Brown losing in four. Those two and R. Brown guard threw two foul goals each and Devine dropped in one.

Shorty McSwain, captain and forward, was the focus point of the Shelby offense and floor play. His total tournament score was 17 points. Guy Brown came in next with 12, Eskridge third with eight, and Devine next with seven.

Many Forest City Men Seek Offices

Forest City, March 9.—With the municipal election still several weeks off, quite a bit of interest is being shown, as local men announce themselves as candidates for the office to be filled. Including the announcement last week of four men as candidates for the Board of Aldermen, the total seeking a place on the board is raised to nine, while three are running for mayor.

The four candidates coming out last week are: C. S. Hemphill, G. C. McDaniel, R. K. Hollifield, and M. H. Hewitt. All are experienced business men. The other five candidates for aldermen are M. J. Harrell, J. L. Butler, W. E. Moore, W. L. Horn and H. Francis Little.

The three candidates for mayor are R. L. Reinhardt, L. C. Lawrence, and V. T. Davis, the latter running for re-election, being mayor of Forest City at the present time.

Don't Let a Poor Carriage Be the Skeleton in Your Closet

Noted Cornell Savant Advocates Regal Stance As Aid to Grace, Health and Longevity, in Direct Contrast to "Back to Nature" Theories of New German "Health Cult."

CORRECT POSTURE COUNT THUN-HOHENSTEIN INCORRECT

(BY MABEL ALDEN.)
Itlicia, N. Y.—Reach for a star and acquire new beauty.

That is the latest prescription of science to add those who wish to stand and walk correctly. It is none other than Doctor Elizabeth Edmunds of Cornell university who has been telling beautiful show girls as well as housewives and society girls that they remind her of skeletons. No, not because many of them are so thin, but because so many of them stand just like skeletons, the same slumped in form, the same slumped and everything. Rather an unpleasant thought isn't it? But it is quite easy really to prevent your carriage from being in skeleton in your beauty closet. Even if Doctor Edmunds does say that only one out of every four Americans has the correct and regal stance and carriage of an aristocrat.

And so we are told to make ourselves as tall as possible without standing on tiptoe or vary that by stretching the body as though one would reach for a star. When one stands as tall and straight as possible the spine becomes thoroughly unkninked with attendant healthy results. And this simple prescription makes quite unnecessary the old exercise of balancing a glass of water on the head said to have been in vogue among beauties of the Victorian era. Doctor Edmunds believes that the prettiest face is as nothing if its owner does not stand and walk correctly and with grace. And schoolgirls and debutantes are told most emphatically to avoid that skeleton slump that they think so fetching and fashionable if they are to become truly beautiful.

While Doctor Edmunds and other savants are teaching America the secret of correct and healthy posture, Germany has a new health cult that insists on a certain posture. But it's quite a different affair. For the followers of Count Thun-Hohenstein follow their leader on all fours. Which is "back to nature" with a vengeance!

The young German aristocrat who is an adept at walking like an animal believe that anyone can walk on all fours along the road that leads to perfect health. He declares that by so walking that the ribs hold up the lungs and heart and that the stomach develops muscles strong enough to entirely support the weight of the intestines.

The all-four walkers believe that it is easier for man to assume this position than it is for him to walk upright on two legs, a position that is not really natural to him. They insist that after middle-age, protruding abdomens are caused not by undigested food but by the sagging of the internal apparatus above that region. And this they say will never happen to the disciples of Count Thun-Hohenstein.

Of course, one might point out to the four-footers that the majority of animals walking on four legs do not live long nor are all of them particularly healthy. Even healthy horses rarely live beyond the age of twenty-five. And the healthiest dog has not a particularly long span of years in which to know bones and fight cats. And this is true of most animals with the exception of the elephant who certainly does reach a venerable age. But vegetarians claim all the credit, because the elephant is content to live on hay and other non-carnivorous foods.

Most people will prefer to adopt Doctor Edmunds' prescription for the correct carriage. The main thing is to keep the ribs expanded, the shoulders back, to breathe deeply from the diaphragm all the way up, to inhale through the nostrils and to exhale through the mouth. This combined with a straight spine ought to be successful in helping people to walk happily along the road of life to a healthy old-age. That is, provided that it don't come in the path of the hit-and-run driver!

Building Boom On At Fallston

Several New Homes Are Being Erected. Other Buildings Being Improved.

(Special to The Star.)
Fallston, March 9.—Fallston, it seems, is on a building boom in spite of the fact that everyone is constantly complaining of hard times. Due to the fact that Fallston has no industry, and there is no railroad running nearer than ten miles to the town, it has made very little progress in an industrial way, and the population has increased slightly within the past few years. However, there are a number of nice homes in and near the town, and others are being built.

The handsome home of Mrs. T. A. Stamey is being remodeled. Several rooms are being added and a new heating plant is being installed.

Mr. and Mrs. Sloane Elliott will occupy their new home about the first of April. This home is being built on a lot between T. M. Swain's home and the Methodist parsonage on highway 18. It will be a six room brick veneer house with all modern conveniences.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Lee have recently purchased a lot adjacent Mr. Claude Stamey's, and work will soon begin a seven room brick house, which will be placed in the grove of Mr. Stamey.

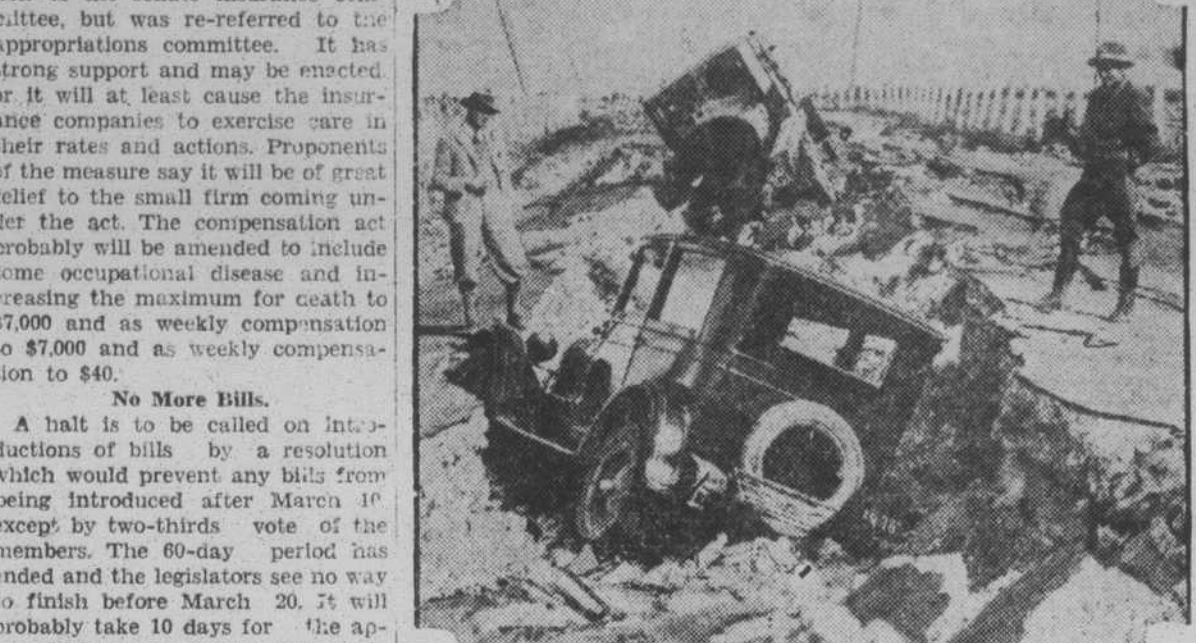

The nice little brick home of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Lackey, which is between the Stamey Co. and the M. R. church, is almost completed. It is a seven room house and equipped with modern conveniences. Mr. and Mrs. Lackey will move into it in a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Spurling have recently had installed a water system, and have added a room to their attractive home which is just west of the center of Fallston and on the Lawndale road.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hoyle will soon occupy their new home which is near completion. It is about one mile off of highway 18 and north of Fallston.

Another home that will add greatly to the community is that of Mr. Gardner Measures, which is being built on a lot between the home of Mrs. Ernest Wright. This home is an attractive two-story brick and is just below Fallston.

Where the Earth Trembled

The terrible cataclysm of nature that struck the Hawke's Bay region of New Zealand early last month split the crust of the earth into great fissures. Picture taken on one of the roads that lead into Napier shows a couple of automobiles engulfed in one of these openings. Nearly a thousand lives were lost and millions of dollars worth of damage to property was caused by the series of earthquake shocks that shook the district.

Lady Diplomat of Soviet

The many stormy incidents which attended her diplomatic career of Mme. Alexandra Kollontai, Soviet Minister to Sweden, are brushed aside as she is pictured when she took part in a recent dinner in the Swedish Capital, attended by Fabian Mann, Socialist member of the Swedish Riksdag.

Local Men Patent Milk Bottle Holder

Washington, D. C., Mar. 8.—The United States patent office has recently granted to Forrest B. Williams, John Farris Ledford and Lawson H. Ledford, of Shelby, a patent on a milk-bottle holder.

According to Clarence A. O'Brien, local patent attorney, this device is constructed for holding a plurality of milk bottles through the medium of a novel clamp equipped cabinet means. The cabinet is adapted to suspend two or more full bottles of milk and to accommodate two or more empty bottles, the arrangement being such as to practically lock the full bottles in place until the empty bottles are inserted in the clamping means.

Groundhog Still In

The groundhog remains in his hole. At least one groundhog is still hibernating. Charlie Williams, who lives on the A. M. Hamrick place, stated today that a groundhog on his farm was in his hole today. Only three more days remain of the 40 groundhog days and Mr. Williams is watching to see if the woodchuck comes out Thursday.

Blanks Here For Loans To Veterans

W. S. Beam, commander of Warren P. Hoyle post No. 82, of this city, stated this morning that a large number of the necessary forms have been received from the U. S. veterans bureau by the local post, and that arrangements had already been made for several of the local post officials and a special veterans loan committee appointed by him, to be on duty each day from now until further notice at post office and Union Trust building, Shelby, between the hours of 9 and 5 p. m., for the purpose of assisting all veterans of this community and county in filing properly the necessary forms to secure at the earliest possible date the cash to which each veteran is entitled under the recent legislation authorizing loans up to fifty per cent of the full value on adjusted service certificates.

Short Shots

"If a dog steals a piece of meat from my shop is the owner liable?" he asked the man behind the desk.

"Very well, your dog took a piece of steak worth half a dollar about five minutes ago."

"Indeed," he returned smoothly. "Then if you will give me the other half, that will cover my fee."

Bursting open the door marked "Private," the butcher confronted the local lawyer.
