

Lawndale Has Coming Boxer; A Sharpshooter

Jimmy (Shorty) Pearson: field of activity anywhere about this section; home address, Lawndale.

"Cricket" Weathers; present address, University of North Carolina; home address, from Lattimore to Shelby and vice versa.

Those, if you please, are two young Cleveland county athletes who deserve close watching.

Pearson is a boxer and Weathers is a basketball wizard.

Defeats Blanton.

Last Saturday night the 125-pound Pearson licked Jack Blanton, the well known Rutherford county lightweight, at Forest City. The Lawndale boy spotted the veteran Blanton 12 pounds and yet won four of the six rounds. Around Lawndale and Shelby the fight fans are saying that the sawed-off Pearson has a good future in the boxing world and are long will be rivaling Babe Carr and Jerome Spangler for fighting honors of the section.

Tosses 'Em In.

"Cricket" (Virgil) Weathers, former Lattimore basketball star, was this week awarded his letter as freshman basketball player at the university. The Tar Babies won 13 of 17 games and the Cleveland county sharpshooter led the team's scoring. About Chapel Hill they are saying that when young Weathers gets to the varsity next year he promises to be another Carl Carmichael or Jack Cobb, who were two of the greatest careers the South has ever known when they were winning titles for Carolina's "Flying Phantoms."

So, in amid your other sport interests, keep one eye peering occasionally at the progress of "Shorty" Pearson and "Cricket" Weathers.

Gold Versatile.

Pete Reynolds, Raleigh News and Observer cartoonist, this week built a sport page cartoon about "Milky" Gold, former Shelby High athlete now starring at Oak Ridge. Gold was pictured as the State's most versatile athlete. And he has a good claim for the honor. At Shelby he captained three varsity teams; at Oak Ridge he was football captain last year. He has been named on All-State and All-Southern teams. And he has played nearly every position in three sports. In baseball he has performed at short, on second, at third, on first, pitched and played outfield. In football he started out as a tackle, played end, then half back, then fullback, and at Oak Ridge became a quarterback. In basketball he played center and forward at Shelby; at Oak Ridge he has played guard, forward and center.

Bailey Tells Of Charges Of Jonas

persons manifestly uttered for partisan purpose and without specification." Senator Bailey wrote the governor.

"There appeared January 13, 1931, in a newspaper communication containing not only three insinuations and aspersions but also language directly insulting the committee of the United States senate then investigating the election, the Nye committee, and a group of United States senators known as progressive Republicans.

"Thereafter the author of that communication was appointed United States attorney and for quite obvious reasons his appointment was not confirmed. Whereupon this contest was instituted and the author of that communication, referring to a reputable newspaperman — "that is my first move." That he made this statement is not to be doubted.

"It is true that in the press of March 8 he undertakes to modify the force of his admission, but at the same time he betrays himself with the statement that the objection to his confirmation has brought about the investigation predicted by this contest. This is to say, he denies in one breath that the objections to his confirmation is the moving cause of this contest and admits it in the next—all in the same utterance."

In turning to the election contest itself, Senator Bailey wrote he desired and urged "that the authorities of our state and of every county and precinct shall join with me in such co-operation and shall aid the subcommittee in every way."

Senator George H. Moses of New Hampshire is chairman of the subcommittee of the senate in which the contest was referred Mr. Pritchard charged "fraud" and "election irregularities" in his complaint.

"Election contests have certain disagreeable aspects," wrote Senator Bailey. "The allegations upon which this one is founded involve the honor of the men and women who conducted the election November 4, 1930. They likewise call in question before the nation the good name of our commonwealth. It is our duty to see this matter through, and this we shall do."

Time To Think Of Fruit Crop

County Agent Reminds of Summer Fruit Crop. Method of Spraying Peaches.

(R. W. Shoffner, Cleveland Farm Agent.)

Now is the time we should be thinking of our fruit for the summer. As you know, if you do not spray and spray at the right time, you are not likely to have the very best fruit. For your convenience I am outlining a spraying schedule here, the time of application, and the material used.

The dormant season spray: This spray should have been on before this time. The spray following the dormant season is known as the pink spray. This spray should be applied when 75 percent of the petals, (the pink part of the flower) have fallen. The next spray is known as the "shucks" spray. This spray should be put on when the shucks are 75 percent shedded from the small peach or when the peaches are showing. For the next spray should be two weeks after the "shuck" spray. The next spray should be four weeks before the variety is due to ripen.

The material to use for these sprays: For the pink spray, that is, the first spray for our fruit, use one pound of powdered arsenic of lead, plus four pounds of hydrated lime with two or three pounds of Mulsoid sulphur with this to fifty gallons of water. For the next spray, which is the "shucks" spray, use the same mixture. For the next spray, use the same mixture and also the last spray, use the same mixture. In case you do not find the water soluble sulphur, you can use 3 1/2 lime sulphur, three pounds to fifty gallons of water with one pound of arsenic of lead. This spray should be done as near the time as possible. The sprays are for the curculio, which punctures the small peach and causes the drops. The spray is also for the scab and brown rot and other insects that might be present. The application of the arsenic of lead in this material is very important. For further information in regard to this spraying, see the county agent.

Spraying For Apples.

The dormant spray should have been on the trees by this time. The next or second spray is known as the pink spray. This spray should be applied when the pink first shows in the buds. For this spray use dry lime sulphur and arsenic of lead, three pounds of dry lime sulphur to one pound of arsenic of lead to fifty gallons of water. The next spray should be when the petals have fallen; use the same spray this time. Two weeks later, use another application of the same mixture; three weeks later, use another of the same spray. Four weeks later use another application of the same spray. You can also use the water soluble sulphur for this spray as for the peach. Always carry out the instruction that you can find on the package in which the material is packed.
