TO A BROWN GIRL
What if his glance is bold and free, His mouth the lash of whips?
So should the eyes of lovers be,
And so a lover's lips.

What if no puritanic strain Confines him to the nice?
He will not pass this way again, Nor hunger for you twice.

Since in the end consort together Madgalene and Mary, Youth is the time for careless weather:
Later, lass, be wary.
—Countess Cullen.

which was directed by the teachers of all the grades and participated in by most of the students. The play which was in the nature of a pageant was well attended by patrons of the school.

This morning at the same school during the assembly period Mr. C.
B. McBrayer addressed the teach-"Poppy Day," discussing phases of the World war and the importance

Musical Tea Is Charming Affair.

Members of the music and arts department of the Woman's club considered themselves extremely fortunate in securing for their program at the musical tea on Wednesday afternoon Mr. F. W. Woddell, voice instructor at Converse college, Spartanburg, and a group of accompanying artists, including Mrs. J. O. Wilson, mezzo-soprano, Mr. Ed C. Wrightson, jr., baritone and Mrs. H. V. Tanner, accompanist, all of Spartanburg, and Miss Mariella Burton, contralto, of Asheville. Mr. Wodell's audience felt that they were privileged in hearing one of the leaders in the field of voice culture, he having been a private teacher of voice and oratorical conductor in Boston for over twenty-five years before coming to Converse college nine years ago.
For a number of years after coming to Converse he successfully directed the spring music festival. He has written a number of books on his subject.

Mrs. A. D. Brabble, chairman of the department of music and arts, extended a welcome to the visiting artists and the assembled guests, after which she introduced Miss Mary Adelaide Roberts, a former pupil of Mr. Wodell's, who in turn graciously presented Mr. Wodell as the afternoon's speaker. After responding briefly to the introduction he made a few introductory remarks concerning his program, following which two vocal solos were presented from the "Song Cycle," "The Morning of the Year," by Charles W. Cadman. Mr. Wrightson sang, "I Martius Am" and Mrs. J. O. Wilson sang "The Moon Behind the Cottonwood." The feature of the program was Mr. Wodell's lecture on "Vocal Art and the College, or Cultured Woman," the theme of which was the importance of musical training in the education of every individual, of proper voice instruction for children in public schools, and of the responsibility of the cultured woman in promoting the cause of good music. He particularly stressed the desirability of quality and beauty of tone over volume in singing.
He closed his lecture with the reading of an original poem, "The Ministry of Music" and one was impressed with the fact that he was, in his own words, "A musical missionary, intensely interested in the progress of good music." Following this lecture in which he so definitely emphasized harmony and beauty of tone in good singing a delightful musical program was given by Miss Burton, Mrs. Wilson, and Mr.
Wrightson, all of whom have received their voice training under Mr. Wodell, in which they illustrated the qualities of singing advocated by Mr. Wodell. This program included numbers from three operas, two oratorio numbers, and two modern selections. The program, as given, follows: "Ah, Rendimi," from the opera Mitrave by F. Rossi, sung by Miss Burton; "I Am Here in Her Boudoir" from Mignon by A. Thomas, sung by Mrs. J. O. Wilson; "The Heart Bowed Down," from The Bohemian Girl, by Balfe, sung by Mr.
Wrightson; "He Was Despised," from The Messiah by Handel, sung by Miss Burton; "Fear Not Ye O Israel," by Dudley Buck, sung by Mr. Wrightson; "Blackbird Keep Singing," by Cuthbert Harris, sung by Mrs. Wilson; and "Seven Old Women Sit for Tea," by Levy, sung by Miss Burton.

During the social half hour following the program the visiting musicians formed an informal receiving line, giving all the guests present an opportunity to express their appreciation of the program.
Simple refreshments were served.
Guests of the music and arts department on this occasion were members of the Cecelia music club and members of the three church choirs.
