RUN-DOWN and WEAK

"I began taking Cardui when in a weakened, run-down condition," writes Mrs. F. S. Ferrit, of Wesson, Miss. "I took one bottle, and I seemed to improve so much that I sent for six bottles. After I had taken the six bottles, I seemed entirely well."

"Before I took Cardui, I was nervous, restless, blue and out of heart. I felt depressed all the time. After I took Cardui, all this disappeared."

By RENN DRUM.

A Cleveland farmer who lives in a section hit by the hail storm last week was standing over on the court square one day this week telling about it. Several men were listening.

"The hail was at least a foot deep near my house," he said. "I've heard many times of hail being that deep on the ground," spoke up one listener, "but I'll never believe it until I see it."

The man telling of the storm looked at the other for a split second, then turned to others in the group and said: "I wish he had been there and one of those stonies had bumped him on the head. We'd have one less pest in the county."

Just think how many of us know a number of people we like to see the same thing happen to? Some—drat it!—would like to stand this colyum out under a shower of hailstones large as elephant eggs.

BELLBOYS REFUSE TIPS OF GOLD STAR MOTHER

Mothers who sent their soldier sons to France will be interested in this—Government officials, New Yorkers and others are certainly feeling it that the Gold Star mothers going back to France are made comfortable.

A letter to relatives from Mrs. Frank Hoyle, who sailed last week to visit the grave of her son, tells about it. When she reached New York from Shelby a county army officer met her as she stepped from the train. "How do you do, Mrs. Hoyle?" he asked. He knew in advance just what mothers were coming and on what trains. At the desk in the Commodore hotel a clerk informed the Shelby Gold Star mother that she was not to tip any bellboy or other employe. "Everything here is free for Gold Star mothers. If you need anything, or desire anything, just call," he added. A few minutes later Mrs. Hoyle was shown into a room on an upper floor where other mothers who would go over on the same boat were assembled. They all expected her and made her welcome when she walked in. A bellhop had struggled up in the meantime with her baggage. Mrs. Hoyle offered a tip, feeling that his labor had been worth it. "No ma'am," he replied. "Nothing doing. We don't want anything from you mothers. Wish we could do more. If there is anything I could bring, let me know. We hope you enjoy your stay in New York and have a fine trip over."

Mrs. Hoyle should have many interesting things to tell the members of the American Legion post, named for her son, and the auxiliary when she returns. The legion gave her a handsome travelling bag before she sailed and the auxiliary wished her bon voyage at a special banquet in her honor.

Johnny McKnight, the Shelby boy who is with the Associated Press in Cuba, is going places and seeing things. Last week he flew by airplane 700 miles from Havana to Santiago to cover what promised to be a revolutionary outbreak.

THEY'RE FOND OF SHELBY BOYS IN WASHINGTON, WHY?

It isn't likely that any city of Shelby's size in America has more natives employed in Washington. Shelby boys have gone to Washington and made good in many lines of business. Nearly everywhere you turn is some former Shelbyite. One particular reason for this is the chain of drug stores operated there by the People's drug company. There are very few of them in the Washington sector in which a Shelby boy is not working or has not worked.

Years ago that firm decided its best employes were from the South. Since that time the majority of the young men started in business by them came from south of the Mason-Dixon line, and a goodly percentage of them from North Carolina. An example: Dewitt Quinn, who started in the drug business in South Shelby and later moved nearer town—in fact, just a whisper off the square—is acquainted with one of the officials of the Washington firm. He has recommended 16 Shelby boys to the firm and 15 of the 16 have made good and are still with the People's outfit.

Who knows, boyly, some of these days a Shelby boy may move in that Pennsylvania avenue mansion where Mr. Hoover lives now?

Shelby Shorts: Odd McIntyre hasn't anything on this corner; they called us "Dunk," too, about the time we graduated from the safety-pin age. . . . Over in Freedman, the colored residential section, so they tell us, is a bush the leaves of which will, in "no time," draw a boll to head or draw splinters or what-have-you from your foot or hand. . . . Wonder if it'll pull teeth? . . . Shelby's getting more and more like a city. Fingerprints experts are called in when we have a robbery. . . . A number of years ago, when both were boys, a well known Shelby surgeon and a well known motor car dealer were playing in the yard of the former. For some reason the latter became angry and hung a pumpkin over the head of the former. Wonder if the surgeon recalls how he felt when he looked out upon the world from his odd collar with the "punkin" seeds streaming over his face? . . . Dr. R. M. Gidney has in his possession a very valuable old docket. It is a surveyor's map showing the county lines between Rutherford and Cleveland when they sliced off a portion of the neighboring county to make this one. It is dated March 27, 1841 and was the property of Dr. Gidney's grandfather, S. S. Gidney. . . . James Logan was the surveyor. . . . Clint McDade, of Chaitanooga, has forwarded us a complimentary copy of his "Dog's Life," or the trail of little yellow "Runt." If anyone has the blues so bad he hasn't laughed in ages better borrow the book—or, better still, buy one. There's a laugh in every line with a few chuckles thrown in at each period and comma for good measure. . . . We get curious every time we read the name of Cleopatra Pompey, in the court news of The Star. Wonder if his mother studied Latin, or who named him? Maybe his middle name is Caesar or Mari Anthony. . . . R. E. McKinney, who is bored with having Hoover Republicans refer to hard times under Cleveland, desires to know how many remember when McKinley was president and the people were glad to get five cents per pound for their cotton.

And if McIntyre wouldn't get the idea that he was being "aped," we'll tell you that it took just 18 minutes and two seconds to write this. Does look like we could have done a better job of it in that time. (See, we said it for you.)

Chic Sale Licked By Calvin Coolidge

Chicago.—Chic Sale has lost to Calvin Coolidge, 19 to 31.

It wasn't an election, but a test conducted by the Daily Northwestern, student publication of Northwestern University on the question of which person was the more interesting as a news figure.

A questionnaire, in which celebrities were paired against each other, was submitted to 20 men students, 20 co-eds and ten professors.

Alphonse Capone was an easy winner over Rudy Vallee, scoring 37 to Rudy's 13, while Clara Bow outscored John D. Rockefeller, 37 to 13.

Bishop James Cannon, Jr. fell before Jack Dempsey, 44 to 6, and Bobby Jones defeated John Phillip Sousa, 43 to 7.

Peggy Joyce won from Mrs. Florence Robnett, dean of women at the university. The vote was 34 to 16.

Medal Awards Morgan School

Variety Program Presented at South Shelby School Closing. Perfect Attendance.

The commencement exercises of the South Shelby school drew a large crowd to the school auditorium Friday evening at which time a varied program was carried out with such smoothness and precision that reflected careful training.

The South Shelby school orchestra composed of eight boys and two girls rendered several selections before the exercises began. All the young musicians acquitted themselves well. The children of the kindergarten class and first grades gave a creditable presentation of songs and a "Mother Goose" play.

A group of rhythmic songs by the second, third and fourth grades was well rendered.

Estelle Blanton and Clarence Queen won gold medals at the recitation and declamation contests. These medals are offered annually by Mr. Paul Webb and Mr. O. M. Mull. Miss Blanton had for her subject "The Punishment of Mary Louise" and Mr. Clarence Queen spoke on "Citizenship." "Cousin George's Willie" recited by Louise Brown won honorable mention while the "Universal Education" declamation delivered by Ralph Green also won honorable mention. Others entering the contest were Louise Whitener, Helen Wilson, Hubert Morehead and J. Y. Queen. The judges for this contest were Mrs. Rush Stroup, Miss Etalite Moses and Rev. L. L. Jessup, pastor of the Second Baptist church. Mr. Jessup made a splendid presentation speech.

While the judges were making their decision Rev. W. R. Jenkins pastor of the Lafayette Street Methodist church in a few well chosen words presented the spelling medal which has been offered for several years by Mr. John Schenk Jr. The winner of this medal was Donald Roberts a pupil in the seventh grade was awarded this medal for being the best speller in the South Shelby school. Ralph Greene an eighth grade pupil was given honorable mention for being second in the contest.

After the contests a chorus composed of fifty girls from the fifth, sixth, 7th and 8th grades sang in a very pleasing manner "The Call of Summer." This chorus was ably directed by Miss Winnie Blanton. The names of 44 pupils were read who had made the honor roll for the year. The names of 42 pupils were read who had neither been absent nor tardy during the year. If these pupils come to school every day until school closes a beautiful attendance certificate will be given to them.

Will SIDE DRESSING PAY THIS YEAR?..

THIS QUESTION is uppermost in your mind just now. No doubt you'd like to discuss it with the men who know by experience and study, so we have asked this question for you, of hundreds of authorities. College officials, agricultural leaders, editors, successful farmers, unite in the opinion that the answer is YES.

Here is a summary of their views: In view of light fertilizer applications under the crop, and because of the extreme importance of making high acre yields this year, cotton and corn should be liberally side-dressed with quick-acting nitrogen. Assuming a reasonably favorable season, this practice will pay any farmer who plants cotton and corn, even at present crop prices.

SIDE-DRESSING with Chilean Nitrate of Soda is the sure way to reduce the cost of making a bale of cotton. E. C. Westbrook, cotton and tobacco specialist, Georgia State College of Agriculture, points out in a survey of the cotton situation, that farmers who made a bale an acre last year, made their cotton at 8 cents per lb. of lint. Side-dressing with Chilean Nitrate alone, added nearly $7 per acre to the value of the crop.

If you didn't put Chilean under your crop, it is all the more important to side-dress liberally with this quick-acting nitrogen fertilizer. It makes doubly sure of your profit this year.

Because It's NATURAL Chilean Nitrate of Soda is the natural nitrate, the original SODA that American farmers have used for more than 100 years. Because of its natural origin Chilean contains a number of so-called "impurities"—Iodine, Boron, Magnesium, Calcium, Potassium. Each of these is a plant food in itself. They combine to make Chilean the Super-Nitrate . . . the fertilizer that is Nitrogen PLUS.
