

Jail Dude Bandit

Edward "Toddy" Dillon (above), collegiate and society bandit of Chicago, was sentenced to serve one to twenty years in State prison the other day on each of five charges of robbery, the sentences to run concurrently. Dillon had served four years in Sing Sing, from which he was paroled. The youth is reported the "black sheep" of a prominent St. Louis family, his name and position giving him entrance into society circles.

Around Our TOWN Shelby SIDELIGHTS

By KENN DRUM.

Prospects are that the colyum today isn't going to be anything worth writing home about, so it may be well to start off with a pun.
A Shelby lady back from a visit to the city relates it. It may be original as she claims; and it may not (nothing in this corner is guaranteed to be fresh, nor is it wrapped in cellophane), but we'll tell it anyway.
Two women were seated in a street car discussing their favorite opera, and as the conductor advanced to take their fare, one of them, handing him her fare remarked: "I simply adore Carmen."
Blushing to the roots of his hair, the embarrassed conductor replied, "Try the motorman, miss, he is single."

THEN AND NOW; AND HOW DIFFERENT!

"Wonder," asks Mrs. O. E., "how many people remember when the old Methodist church stood on the East Warren and South DeKalb corner and the men sat on one side and the women on the other? Never did the two sexes sit together."
Now who can recall something equally as interesting and unusual in the old days?

Something you may not know: This county has an up-and-coming young editor, William Eaker, of Lawndale, who graduated this spring at Rutherford college, was editor-in-chief of the college paper and his final edition was one of the best edited college papers we've ever seen.

CONVERSATION NEVER LAGS IN BARBERSHOPS

The barbershop before it became a bit effeminate was the same thing to the male as was a sewing circle to the female—an opportunity for chatter. (Incidentally, we've never heard of a club name that intrigued us more than the Tongues and Needles club of Shelby).
But getting back to the barbershops, here are some of the riddles and wise cracks the boys were throwing at each other in Patton's tontorial parlors recently:
—Sitting on a box car of a train running 100 miles per hour with a gun that will shoot a bullet at the speed of a hundred miles per hour, how far will the bullet go?
—Harvey Wray says a straight line is not the shortest distance between two points and he proves it by a fly, without wings which can get from the corner of a square room to the opposite, or diagonal, corner best by not going in a straight line.
—Two men contract to cut and pile the cornstalks from two rows of corn. Each row has 50 stalks. One man stops work to get a drink of water and while he is away the other man cuts six stalks from the first man's row. The first man comes back and the second man goes for a drink. While he is away the first man cuts three stalks from the second man's row. How many stalks did each man cut?
—If the Shelby court square were dynamited and blown up and there was no one in hearing distance, the explosion would be absolutely noiseless.

W. S. Fortenberry, Kings Mountain R-2, has two interesting old tax receipts. One is for 50 cents and the other for 60 cents. He found them recently in the papers of his uncle, D. J. McCall. The receipts were given Mr. McCall's father, grandfather of Mr. Fortenberry, almost 100 years ago—1837. They were signed by C. T. Grigg, deputy sheriff.

IN THE OLD DAYS, TEACHERS AND BOYS

One signing himself as "Doe" wonders how many people remember when Mr. Holton was the official punishment inflictor at the Shelby school. "One lick from him left the seat of punishment in blistering agony for two or three hours . . . After the first lick we could never tell how many he gave us—they came too fast, and too hard. No boy was ever sent to that room without receiving a warm welcome . . . How many remember Misses Summers, Hardy and Edwins? What about the history test when everybody in the room made 98 and the teacher held the test over again, claiming we had cheated. We hadn't, because I found the questions in advance and we all copied them. On the second test we made from 20 up. When we talked and did not behave in the school room, remember what Miss Summers would always do? Keep us there all afternoon subtracting 3 from 1,000. I've done that time and time again and so have many others. We could seldom have a 5 o'clock ball game because there were too many of us in there taking 3 from 1,000.
"Those were some days about the time of the rock battle between the white boys and colored boys in Flat Rock, and when we went swimming at Chapel's Bend after the law said we should not . . . Remember swimming in the 1916 flood . . . and when watermelons sold two for a nickel and mule tobacco for a dime per plug?"

Shelby Shorts: "Popsicles" are the latest rage at Shelby soda fountains. They resemble all-day suckers and are flavored ice concoctions frozen on sticks. They come in all colors—and how they sell . . . The up-and-coming young ladies have not as yet dared strut about town in flaring pyjamas, but for several days a couple of dames have been strolling Shelby streets attired in white duck trousers and white shirts. The trousers did not flare but were rather on the form-fitting plan (that stanza was written for the information of feminine readers; all the men have done their own gazing) . . . Dr. Zeno Wall has travelled 300,000 miles in his 25 years in the ministry and not three million as erroneously stated in The Star. He would have the matter straightened out for fear that someone would think he had been flying about with Capt. Frank Hawks, the aviator who zips all over a continent in one day . . . A lady mentioned in the colyum today has a couple daughters who would make good bids for Miss Shelby honors . . . Some of the fellows who were boys back in the days before the World war are going out to Chapel's Bend one of these days and see if they can swim up around "the rock" as they once did . . . Now that they're home for the summer, maybe some of the college boys and girls will contribute a splay paragraph now and then for this tangle of 'type. It is apparent that an injection of new blood might work wonders with it.

Where All Else Failed, This Helped

The experience of Mrs. Lina Smith, 74 years old, 3814 Church Street, Latonia, Ky., should be a lesson to anybody who is despondent because of illness, and can find no remedy. She tried every medicine she heard about. One day she heard about MALVA. Now see what she has to say.
"When anything has given anybody the great blessing that MALVA, the wonderful new family medicine, has given to me, I think they owe it to the makers of that product to thank them, and to make the product known to everybody who might benefit. After everything else failed, MALVA restored me to health."

Junior Baseball Is Given Praise

Legion's World Series For Boys Commended By Nationally Known Figures.

That the American Legion junior world series, made possible through the cooperation of the American and national leagues, who have contributed $50,000 annually for the financial support of the legion, sectional and junior world series, is a vital force in making healthy and responsible citizens of the nation's youth, is the opinion of the leaders in American life, cited by local legion athletic officer, Dr. B. M. Jarrett.

Some of the comments of leaders whose names are known to the far corners of the sporting world follow: Kennesaw M. Landis, commissioner of organized baseball: "It will arouse great interest in the national game among thousands of boys throughout the country."

E. S. Barnard, president of the American league: "In voting unanimously to stand behind the American Legion in the campaign for great interest in baseball and Americanism in general among the boys of the nation, I believe that the major leagues have taken a step that will meet with the endorsement of the public."

John A. Griffith, athletic commissioner of the "Big Ten": "The nation-wide junior baseball program, sponsored by the American legion, the National and American leagues, is the most thoroughly unselfish move in the modern history of American athletics."

V. D. "Curley" Grieve, sporting editor of a Denver, Co., newspaper: "The Legion baseball program has no parallel in the history of this country. It essentially benefits the youth when he needs a diverting, wholesome influence. He learns the true meaning of sportsmanship, teamwork and the building up of self-confidence. Aside from healthy minds and bodies it develops lasting friendships of long duration."

John A. Heydler, president of the National league: "The major leagues feel that the Legion plan for developing baseball is an excellent means of perpetuation of the game and of keeping the nation's youth out of mischief. Not only will this movement stimulate the interest of the youth of America in baseball, but it will also result in substantial increase in the number of playgrounds from coast to coast."

The Legion junior baseball team played three games during the past week. First game being with Mooreboro high school, R. K. Wilson pitching a no hit no run game, 1-0 in Legion's favor. Second game a combination between Cliffside high school and Cliffside mill team, resulting in 7-2 in favor of Cliffside. Banks Cashin, pitching for legion in Saturday's game, allowing Avondale only one hit. Scores 3-2 in favor of Shelby legion.

Work Monday after a few days illness.

Misses Sarah Hamrick and Lois Adams returned home Friday from Mars Hill college to spend the summer vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Herschell Blanton, Mr. and Mrs. Coleman Doggett and Mr. and Mrs. Baxter Putnam of Shelby were visitors Sunday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Jeff Hamrick.

Prof. Ivey Willis is attending commencement exercises at Meredith college and on his return home, will be accompanied home by his daughter, Miss Mary Elizabeth, who is a student at Meredith.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Canipe were visitors Sunday at the home of Mr. C. Jeff Hamrick.

INDIGESTION
"My work is confining, and often I eat hurriedly, causing me to have indigestion. Gas will form and I will smother and have pains in my chest. I had to be careful what I ate, but after someone had recommended Black-Draught and I found a small pinch after meals was so helpful, I soon was eating anything I wanted."
"Now when I feel the least smothering or uncomfortable bloating, I take a pinch of Black-Draught and get relief."

Nobody's Business

GEE McGEE—

But if you want to get a real shyster's dander up, make him pay you after he has decided not to do so. He will never get over it, and furthermore—he will accuse you of being a rascal and a scamp and a thief as long as he lives. Some people will work for 2 dollars a day and go buy 2 dollars worth of merchandise a day on credit, and then "talk it about" that they make 4 dollars a day, but don't explain that they make 2, and take the other 2 malice aforethought.
The earliest debt in the world to collect today is the installment on a car and it is singular, but true—a fellow never gets mad when he is "dunned" for an account which is secured. Where his obligations are collateralized, he calls such a debt an honest debt, but where he gets the goods on the confidence plan, that's another thing.
Therefore, my advice to you is . . . If you want to keep your friends, sell 'em for cash. But it is absolutely all right to sell folks not counted among your friends on credit; they will pay you. Primitives credit business has put more men in the asylum and cemetery than has all other hazards combined, except making and selling booze.

1. be sure to thin yore cotton thickly and don't set but 13 eggs under a hen at one time, as she cannot kiver a larger crowd oner count of the days being so hot an-sorforth.
2. see that all of yore dogs is well housed and sprayed with a mixture of tebbem tino so as to keep them free from fleas and other vermin, such as black tongue and worms. feed them a good heavy diet of food.
3. side dress yore corn, if you happen to have any planted and can get any fertilizer to side dress same with, and lookout for crows and hawks amongst any chickens yore wife may have raised for the preachers and her kinfolks this summer.
4. the best time to fish is Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and saddy, so you can go to church on Sunday, but keep yore eyes skunt for rabbits and other wild life which will no doubt eat up her garden, if you let her plant one insted of cotton.
5. when not bizzy loafering in town, taking pollyticks and about other things you don't know anny-thing about, it might pay you to fix up the pastor fence, that is—if you have not already traded yore old cow in as a down payment on a ford or chevrolet.
6. keep a close watch for black-berries and other things of a delicate nature to be gathered and cooked without having to run to the stoar for same, if bothered with musketeers, mites, book agents and sewing machine drummers, use a long squirt gun filled with microbe killers for sal by drug stores.
7. if anny of yore notes and mortgages ever falls due at the banks, ples don't pay anny attention to them and you can rest assured that the banker won't ever let you have no more money or credit, as he enjoys carrying past due paper, in case other plints is desired by the farmers of this section, please rite or foam me and i will tell you what to do about it.

he never got over it. I asked him for my money, and he said he didn't like to be dunned. He flew up and has been mad ever since. He made 1 barrel of flour and 1 ham and 2 pairs shoes by falling out with me.
I took a man's word as his bond a few weeks ago, but found out a little later that his bond was selling far below par. He told me if I'd send him some goods he'd pay me that same afternoon at 5 o'clock. He's putting now because I sent a collector to see him. He got $4.25 for telling that one little lie. A friend of mine informed me that that guy would tell lies all day for 2 cents apiece.
Some folks will dodge you for 5 years rather than pay you 75 cents. Extending credit to a dead-beat is a good way to get rid of him. I have known a man with a family of 10 to pick up and move 45 miles to another town rather than try to pay a small grocery bill, and his "moving cost" was three dollars more than the debt amounted for. That he was running away from.
