Too Many Kentucky Colonels In Nation

Over-Supply Has Followed Appointment Of 1,000 In 25 Years.

Frankfort, Ky.—Mass production of Kentucky colonels in the last four years has created an over-supply. It is estimated there are enough of them now to officer an army of 3,000,000.

So there's a move afoot to have the governor hand out his commissions more sparingly. An organization to be known as the Kentucky Colonel's association plans to take out incorporation papers, adopt insignia and formulate a code of ethics for the colonels.

Recent administrations have been generous with their commissions, but Gov. Fleam D. Sampson has broken all records in his three and a half years in office by commissioning 589 men, women and children as colonels on his staff.

Has 30 Colonels. Lieutenant - Governor J. A. M. Breathitt, Jr., has 30 colonels on his staff, appointed when the governor of opposite politics, was out of the state.

Then E. C. Walker, president pro-tem of the senate, appointed 19 colonels one day when both the governor and lieutenant-governor were out of Kentucky.

It is estimated that 1,000 colonels have been appointed in the past 25 years.

Governor Sampson also has appointed enough admirals to direct 15 fleets. His "navy," like his "army" is all officers. In addition to 15 admirals he has one rear admiral, three commodores and one colonel of marines. Practically every stream in the state has an admiral and some of them were left high and dry by last year's drought.

Review Custom. The Kentucky Colonels association hopes to revive an old custom of giving colonels' commissions only Benedict Now!

Dan Cupid over the week-end scored a knockout on Attorney Horace Kennedy (above), who when he first became recorder was one of the youngest judges in North Carolina. He was married to Miss Vera Mull, daughter of Mr. J. Cullen Mull, at Gaffney, S. C., Saturday night.

In recognition of outstanding public service, either for the commonwealth or for the nation.

Some of the colonels are Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, congresswoman from Illinois; Clarence D. Chamberlin, transatlantic flier; Graham McNamee, radio announcer; and Bebe Daniels, film star.

W. S. Gilbreath, executive vice-president of the Detroit Automobile Club, was designated a colonel in recognition of his activity in behalf of good roads, particularly the Dixie highway through Kentucky.

All The Folks Well Out His Way Except

Goldboro.—All the folks in the Georgetown section of Goldboro are pretty well, Leroy Lewis, a resident, stated Wednesday afternoon.

"except that I mashed my foot at the foundry; Laben Turnage sawed off his finger at the lumber plant this morning; Paul Rose has an attack of appendicitis; this morning Lawrence Howell cut a deep gash in his forehead with a clawhammer while putting up a clothes line, and Mr. Stanell, whose little boy hurt his head on a nail, got his finger cut off in some work for the city, and Gurney Wiggins is still on crutches with his rheumatism."
