Thirty Thousand At Rhododendron Show

Baby Parade, Terrapin Derby And Outdoor Motor Races To Feature Program.

Asheville, June 25—Festivity prevailed today among the thousands here to pay tribute to the rhododendron, a mountain flower that blooms with rare beauty in Western North Carolina.

Sponsors of the event said attendance was the largest in the four years' history of the annual rhododendron festival. They estimated that 30,000 persons witnessed the large parade which yesterday opened the three-day fete.

A baby parade and outdoor motor boat races at Beaver Lake were the features of today's program. The annual rhododendron ball, a gala event, will be held tonight.

The festival pageant, scheduled for last night, was postponed because of rain. It may be held tonight.

A terrapin derby, a street carnival and the sponsors ball will take place tomorrow, the closing day of the festival.

Business On Upgrade In Rutherford County

Rutherford, June 24—Business is picking up generally in this section, is the general belief. Officials of the Doncaster Collar and Shirt company announce they have just received a large order from a city in Texas. They report steady influx of orders from many cities in the state.

Officials of the Rutherford-Spindale branch of the Southern Public Utilities company report large sales of electric ranges and other products of the company.

While at present the county crops are threatened with a drought, farmers say with slight relief in the near future, bumper crops will be produced.

However, at least this much can be said in the matter of Hoover and the depression: It hasn't the President's approval.—Judge.
