

Little Comment Here On Governor's Race

senate isn't even being talked. Senator Morrison and Messrs. Grist, Reynolds and Bowie haven't managed to get the junior capital excited. But there isn't any doubt but what they will.

The best explanation of the local silence about the senate race is Clyde Hoey. No one about Shelby and Cleveland county intends to express himself or herself until they know what their home-county idol is going to do. If he should enter the race, and no one unless it be his wife seems to have an idea about it, then Cleveland county would come pretty near voting a straight ticket for Clyde Hoey as they did when he ran for congress. When Mr. Hoey says he will not run, if he does, then the lid will be pried off the senatorial campaign here. Senator Cam has many loyal friends in the county and it is not so very difficult to find a few who are what The Greensboro News calls "un-friends" to him, Reynolds, because of his frank statement about prohibition, will get some support. All Cleveland county people, if it does not sound like a cross-word puzzle, do not vote dry and drink wet, neither do all the wet drinkers vote dry. Grist will get a scattering vote and so will Bowie, but the opinion here is that Bowie has been too ardent in his courtship of the eastern Carolina voters.

But anything may happen locally in politics in ten months time. There's even a whisper or two to be heard about county races.

150 Farmers On Tour Of County Crops Inspected

demonstration tests are shown, one of cotton and the other of the various varieties of soy beans.

Soy Bean Varieties

Mr. Shoffner here pointed out the differences in the eleven varieties of soy beans: the Harbison, Illinois, Mammoth Brown and Mammoth Yellow, Black Beauty, Tar Heel, Virginia, Laredo, Otootan, Tokio Biloxi. Each was studied from the standpoint of hay and the length of time they require to mature.

On the demonstration cotton plot are shown the Mexican Big Boll, Farm Relief, Carolina Foster, Coker 884, Cleveland 5 and 3 in comparison with Wilson's check rows. In this field some stalks stand the height of a man's head. Forming a beautiful picture in the background is late corn, the two and three eared variety, interspersed with soy beans.

Visit Hamrick Dairy

Leaving here the party visited the Glenn Adams farm which has many virtues as pointed out in a recent article in The Star. Lespedeza and other legume crops were inspected together with his cattle, corn, cotton and his system of lights and water. Mr. Adams ripped open large melons until the party was full and cried stop.

Closing the day, the party visited the Geo. Hamrick Dairy farm near Lattimore, one of the largest dairy farms in the county. From this dairy, grade A milk is supplied from his herd of 35 pure bred and grade Jerseys. It was declared a day profitably spent by the 150 who composed the party and they went home determined to utilize the inspiration and information which they received. A number of ladies were along as well as M. P. Coley and his class in agriculture from the Lattimore high school.

Babe Carr Booked For 4 Ring Bout

Babe Carr, Shelby lightweight, has a strenuous boxing schedule ahead of him.

Friday night of this week he fights in Chesnee. On Monday night he goes to Roanoke for a bout. On Friday night, Sept. 11, he has a bout in Gastonia, and on Tuesday night, Sept. 15, he meets Tommy McGovern in Charlotte.

NO. 3 DEFEATS BELWOOD

(By Raeford Davis)

Playing in ideal baseball weather No. 3 high school downed Belwood 8-5.

Byers limited Belwood to 7 hits and 5 runs. He was seldom in trouble and seemed easy for him to get out of the tight places.

"Runt" Ellis playing a happy-go-lucky game turned five trips at bat into four runs. He was stealing everything.

Others featuring were: Wall receiving, Capt. Mayhue playing his usual game at shortstop and McMurry on first base.

Mrs. Edwards Post Honors Visitors.

Mrs. E. E. Post was a cordial hostess to a number of friends at a pretty party on Tuesday afternoon when she entertained in honor of her visitor, Miss Emma Post, of Fairmont, W. Va., and Mrs. Guy Eskridge, of New York City who is visiting Mrs. Herman Eskridge, Mrs. Charles R. Eskridge, a recent bride, also shared honors. The rooms were arranged with summer flowers and five tables were placed for play. Bridge was played at four tables and took at one table. When scores were added Mrs. Willis McMurry was winner of the high score award in bridge and Mrs. Lawrence Lackey of the prize in rook. Mrs. Post gave each of the honorees a pretty guest prize.

Prétty Luncheon For Mrs. Horne.

Mrs. J. P. Cunningham was hostess at a beautiful bridge luncheon at 12:30 at the Hotel Charles yesterday, complimenting Mrs. H. Foxworth Horne, of Jacksonville, Fla., who is visiting Mrs. J. C. Smith, Mrs. Cunningham received her guests in a becoming jacket costume of green lace, trimmed with bands of white fur. Mrs. Horne had selected for the occasion a lovely gown of peach crepe with which she wore a small black hat.

The long table in the dining room at which the luncheon was served was arranged with pink roses and clematis, a large bowl in the center flanked by two smaller bowls between which pink candlesticks holding tall pink candles were placed formed an effective decoration. The place cards were handpainted flowers to each of which was attached a pretty bracelet, in color, which were given the guests as favors.

After luncheon bridge was played at three tables. The high score award, a pretty necklace, went to Mrs. C. C. McBrayer; the low score prize, a double deck of cards, went to Mrs. Draper Wood; and Mrs. Cunningham presented Mrs. Horne with a double deck of cards as an honor gift.

Covers were laid for Mrs. Horne, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Wood, Mrs. McBrayer, Mrs. Luther Thompson, Mrs. Jap Suttle, Mrs. Paul Webb, Sr., Mrs. D. A. Brabble, Mrs. W. L. McCord, Mrs. A. W. McMurry, Mrs. S. S. Royster, and Mrs. Cunningham.

Urges Session Of Congress To Work Solution

dy will already have been enacted. "I can think of nothing more unsound than state legislation compelling the abandonment of cotton growing in the south without some binding agreement with foreign growers to put into effect the same drastic limitations. The several cotton states can make no treaty with a foreign government. That is solely the function of the federal government. In my judgment this movement should begin with a unified policy adopted by the national government and come down to the producing states instead of beginning in confusion with the several state legislatures and finally heading up in congress, as it inevitably would.

"What the cotton states demand at this critical hour is national leadership. We are not dealing with a state issue. If the twelve governors of the cotton producing states were to call special sessions of the legislature without knowledge from Washington of the national policy, and international cooperation, we would probably enact a different statute in each state, based upon local conditions and the whole business would wind up in chaos worse confused.

"I, therefore, urge President Hoover to call an immediate session of congress, in order that we may formulate a sound national cotton policy with respect to overproduction, reduction in acreage, price stabilization, marketing and warehousing, and such reciprocal agreements with other countries as may be practical. To such a policy I feel confident every southern governor, and every cotton producing section, will give wholehearted support and cooperation."
