deposit in the Citizens Bank and Trust company of Blackstone; and $5,300 for another interest bearing certificate from the Bank of Crewe, Virginia.

Jameson said Siemp introduced him to Bishop Cannon, but he insistently denied the statements made by Senator Wagner, Democrat, New York, that the evidence showed the Republicans financed the anti-Smith Democratic campaign of 1928. He said:

"I suppose they didn't consider it ethical or good politics."

Earlier in the day the committee learned that Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, former Republican senator from New Jersey, had contributed $10,000 to Bishop Cannon. This, it was said by Manly, was never reported by Bishop Cannon or by Frelinghuysen in reports to the house of representatives.

Jameson shouted "that's news to me" when he listened to a letter written by Bishop Cannon to "fellow workers" asking them to make up a deficit after the campaign. This letter was dated January 26, 1929. Jameson said at Bishop Cannon's request he had given him $7,300 after the campaign to meet the deficit.

Governor Gardner On Mountain Trip

Max Gardner, who is spending the major portion of his vacation at his home here, will leave this afternoon for Asheville, where tonight he will be the chief speaker at a Great Smoky Mountain park banquet. Tomorrow, Saturday, the governor will go to Boone where he speaks at a highway road celebration centering about the opening of a new bridge on the Boone trail named for Col. Wade H. Harris, editor of the Charlotte Observer.

Governor Gardner expects to return to his office at Raleigh Tuesday or Wednesday of next week.

Ring Lost For 17 Years Found In Pen

Rutherfordton, Aug. 26.—A ring lost 17 years was found recently near town. It was lost in 1914 by Mrs. Tressie Hogan, now Mrs. B. C. Green of the New House section. It was found under a hog pen, which had been moved and was in good condition. It was made of gold and belonged to Mrs. J. M. Taylor, mother of Mrs. Green. It is thought that Mrs. Hogan lost it while feeding the hogs when she lived near the Seaboard depot here, 17 years ago.

A large crowd of golfers is expected to participate in the "blind bogey" golf tournament on the Cleveland Springs course tomorrow, Saturday, afternoon at 2:30.

The tourney, in which a dub has as much chance to carry home prizes as does the crack golfer, has attracted much interest among local golfers, and the tournament committee hopes to stage a big afternoon if the weather remains favorable.

Another All-Star Team Is Selected

Would Meet All-Star Team From Anywhere, Desire Kings Mtn. Game.

Still another all-star baseball club has been picked of Shelby players, and the club, it is said, will be glad to play a series of games with any neighboring club, being particularly desirous of games with Kings Mountain.

The all-star outfit, differing very little from the one published Wednesday, follows:

be given to our own people and when outsiders come in asking for help, they should be sent back to their homes where they are known and have friends.

"Any effort on the part of communists to get a foothold locally and prey upon the prejudices of the people should be discouraged by this committee. Employment would be encouraged and the committee would do what it could to keep up the morale of our citizenship," said Mr. Weathers.

He commended the Lion's club for collecting used school books for distribution among children unable to buy and expressed the opinion that many other things for community betterment would occur to a committee when once organized.

Mr. Mull Approves.

Mr. O. M. Mull thought the committee should be appointed by the mayor, county accountant, ministers, civic club presidents and county agents, in order that it might be representative of the entire community and be composed of the best brains obtainable. His motion carried and a meeting will be held shortly to select the steering committee to direct the thrift and economy program.

The club was treated to two beautiful solos by Mrs. James Yarbrough of Orlando, Florida, who is here on a visit and has charmed several audiences with her sweet voice.

Pulls A Big Carp From Broad River

point that a big portion of cotton bagging will be made from waste.

A goodly percentage of the farmers present at the meeting seemed to favor the use of cotton bagging, although it might cost a little more, pointing out that the only way they could hope for better cotton prices would be by increased consumption.

The resolution adopted, which will be sent to all cotton growing states asking cooperation, follows: At Shelby, N. C., Cleveland county:

Resolved, that the following be adopted by this convention of citizens and farmers of North Carolina: That every effort be made to bring about or create a larger consumption and demand for cotton staple grown in our southern belt; and hereby insist that cotton material be used wherever it is possible, and especially in wrapping, sacking and bagging of all our commodities or outputs of our manufacturers, instead of other foreign materials, that would come in competition with the product of our cotton such as jute, burlap, and etc.

Therefore, we recommend the following cooperation: That all cotton be wrapped with cotton bagging; that all fertilizer be put up in cotton sacks, and such as cotton seed meal, hulls, sweet feed, cow feed, oats, chicken feed, rice, beans, onion, potatoes and such, all of which should be put in cotton bags, that is shipped and sold to the consumer.

We heartily recommend that all cotton mills cooperate with us, and wrap all yarn and products manufactured and sold by them, in cotton material or wrappings.

We, furthermore, insist that our exporters and importers cooperate with us in such a way as to use more cotton wraps, in such as sacking and bagging of home and foreign products.

Furthermore, we recommend the use of cotton bags for such as lime, cement and all other like materials be packed in cotton sacks, instead of paper.

In fact, all commodities sold or packed for sale be wrapped or sacked with cotton materials.

It was adopted and voted by this representative body of farmers that a copy of this approved minutes be sent to every cotton state in this belt.

Fifty Two Profess At Missionary Meet

Rev. H. C. Sisk of the Missionary Methodist church has closed a three weeks revival in a revival tent meeting held at the Lily mill. Mr. Sisk says the success of the revival was wonderful with 52 professions. Each night the tent was crowded to capacity. Several were added to the church membership. The baptizing will be held next Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Shelby mill swimming pool.

Rev. Mr. Sisk has moved his tent to Eastside near Crowder's store where he will begin a meeting next Saturday night. He invites the public.

Smart Says He Cannot Remember Killing Officer

as Judge Cameron F. MacRae, of Asheville, took his seat. At least a thousand others were turned away.

M. N. Henderson, of Forest City, followed Dr. Bostic to the stand and testified he heard Smart say "He'd been run over long enough in Forest City" a short time before the slaying. Walter Brady, the third state witness, corroborated Henderson's testimony and testified further that he heard Smart remark "I'll die before I go home," when told by Price to get off the streets.

R. L. Taylor, Forest City cafe employe, testified he heard Smart curse Price a short time before the tragedy.

Dramatic Story.

Durham Philbeck of Caroleen, who was in Forest City on a visit told the most dramatic story of it. He related that Price passed him on the street leading Smart to jail and then he heard the officer call for help. An instant later, he said, the report of a pistol shot sounded and he saw the flash of fire from the gun held by Smart.

Smart was stooping over, Philbeck said, when the first shot was fired and then stepped back.

"Don't do that," Philbeck quoted Price as saying.

Smart then fired four more shots, Philbeck said, and the officer slumped in the street.

Philbeck was not cross-examined. A similar story was told by his father, Lester Philbeck, who was with him.

Charles Brackett, who was at the scene, related that Smart turned the pistol toward Officer Troy Green, who came up a moment after Price was shot. Green, taking the stand, related that he shot once at Smart, but missed, and withheld further fire when Smart held up his hands.
