

Turkey-Headed Chickens

Poultry raisers the country over will give this picture a startled second glance when they notice that the chickens held by these two winsome lads in Chicago have heads strangely reminiscent of turkeys. Julian Kanter and his brother, Allen, are shown holding two of the new breed of chickens called "Turkens," which were received at the Lincoln Park Zoo, Chicago, from a poultry farm at Wallace, Mich.

At The Theatres

One real husband and three real husbands is the matrimonial score chalked up to Helen Twelvetimes in the last few months. But her wedding to John Garrity in her new picture, "Bad Company" is most lavish of them all. It is the kind that even a millionaire girl would dream about. "Bad Company" is an adaptation from the play "On the Spot." Ricardo Cortez is the featured man. Playing today and Thursday at the Carolina theatre.

"I Like Your Nerve." Douglas Fairbanks' second starring vehicle, will be seen at the Webb theatre today and Thursday. The personable screen favorite appears as a happy-go-lucky American in Central America—supposedly on business—but in reality on love and adventure bent. Loretta Young is the vivacious senorita who captivates the irresponsible youth. "I Like Your Nerve" is a rollicking romance.

The Law was on her husband's side—that Latin "Judas" who claimed her child. She came to plead for mercy—armed—prepared to kill, but then—FATE stepped in to play an amazing role in this great true-life story of war, infidelity, and mother love!

I LOVED that man, Paul-Louis," this confessing woman writes. "I loved him with all the yielding devotion of a country girl from Illinois. We met and married in France during the war, and gladly did I sacrifice all my citizenship and property—to let him possess me.

"But Paul-Louis was French—a gentleman of a foreign land with a origin code of morals—and soon his sithless kisses fouled my lips, his toneyed phrases sickened my soul.

"How could I—how could any woman endure such torture and still go on? I had to smuggle our child out of France, because The Law gave it to him. We sailed to New York. He followed and had The Law take my baby from me!

"Frantic—I had almost given up the battle—WHEN—a murderous thought slazed through my mind. At any cost, I'd save my precious baby boy from being brought up to the degrading
