LOSS

My dear—my dear—if you were dead tonight I could not know this utter loneliness: Then would the thought of every care Shine through the shadow like a star's brave light— Then would the knowledge of your love reveal That death is but a hand that points the way— And I should find you waiting when the grey Ghosts of the night departed—I should feel Your lips on mine. But now I see The scars That mark the road I may no longer share With you who found another love more fair— Who woke with your own smile another's stars. I will not hurt your gay, new laughter—only My stars are lost. . . and I—I am so lonely! —Catherine Parmenter.

From this side of the ocean it looks like Japan doesn't want any American interference with her decision as to what she wants in Manchuria.

The Chinese army was estimated in 1929, at 1,800,000 men and the Japanese army at 210,880. However in the present clash you will see how much good the Chinese army is against Japan's modern navy.

Mr. and Mrs. James Shearer were the dinner guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Ramsey of Pleasant Ridge.

Mr. Clay Writes Tales On His Brazilian Trip

John W. Clay, former Hickory printer, has produced a most interesting book entitled "Fishing For Men in Brazil and Other Stories," which has just come from the Children's home press at Winston-Salem and sells for $1.00. Mr. Clay established a publishing house in Brazil and there he fished for fish and for men, doing a wonderful work in the cause of Christ. His stories are narrative experiences he had in the interior of the coffee country and stories related to him on good authority, bearing on the habits and customs of a people about which most of us know little. Mr. Clay spent many years in Brazil, operating a publishing house selling religious books which will no doubt accomplish as much good in telling the story of the Savior as any foreign missionary.

Mr. Clay is a personal friend of S. E. Hoey of Shelby and while on a visit to him this summer, was heard with a great deal of interest in Central Methodist church.

Just Ten Years Ago

(From Issue of The Star October 28, 1921.)

At her hospitable home on East Graham street, Mrs. Ceph Blanton entertained in a most royal manner on yesterday afternoon the membership of the Tongues and Needles and the Thursday afternoon clubs, jointly, with Miss Frances McBrayer, Shelby's newest and most charming bride-elect as the guest of honor.

A term of court convenes in Shelby, Monday, October 31 with Judge Bryson presiding. Monday and Tuesday will be given over to the trial of the criminal docket, while the civil docket will be taken up Wednesday.

Mr. Robert Crowder has plans drawn and is placing material for the erection of a handsome new bungalow home on the Cleveland Springs road just at the edge of town.

Contract for the hard surface road from Shelby to Cleveland Springs will be let in the next 30 days. The state highway commission also promised that a concrete bridge will be erected at the Spake place. This bridge will cost $35,000 or more.

The first meeting of the Cleveland County High School association was held in the court house Saturday morning, October 22. Representatives from Piedmont, Boiling Springs, Shelby, Kings Mountain, Waco and Patterson Springs were present.

Sheriff Hugh Logan received a telephone message yesterday from Mr. Ben Logan saying he had located and cut down a big copper still between Kings Mountain and Grover.

The Cleveland county alumni association of the N. C. College for Women held its regular meeting in the court house Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

One reason why peace is hard to get in this world is that any time you get five or six "leaders" into a conference you can take your choice of five or six different "solutions" of the same problem.

Seriously Ill

Earl Jellicoe, of Seapa (above), commander of the British fleet at the Battle of Jutland, in the World War, back at his home at Cowes, in the Isle of Wight, after a trip to Canada, is reported to be seriously ill. The gallant old sea dog is 72 years old.

As the little boy told him dad, "this is different," and we see the U. S. collaborating with the league of nations in an effort to promote peace in the Far East.

Judging from the advertisements we read all that a young man has to do is to take a correspondence course and then pick out the business he wants to run.
