Double Shoals News Of Week

Last Methodist Service Before Conference. Mr. and Mrs. Spangler Have Daughter.

(Special To The Star.)

Double Shoals, Nov. 5.—Sunday night was the last preaching service at the Methodist church before conference, the pastor, Rev. E. E. Snow preached. Rev. Snow has been on this field one year and has made for himself many friends among all denominations. The community is expecting him to be sent back his full limited time.

The study on stewardship in preparatory for the every-member canvass Nov. 29-Dec. 6 at the Baptist church is being very well attended. Thursday night will close the class. On last Friday morning old Mr. Stork visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ab Spangler and left a dainty daughter, Mrs. Spangler. Mother and baby are getting on fine.

Mrs. A. L. Spangler has been very sick for the past few days but is much better now.

Miss Fay Toney has been very sick with an abscess tooth, but is better at this writing.

Miss Grace Toney, student nurse of Gastonia, made a short visit at home the latter part of October, to see her mother, Mrs. A. A. Toney.

Mrs. Carl Spangler spent last Thursday with Mrs. J. W. Costner. The corn shucking season is on in this community. Mr. Eubert Spangler shucked Wednesday night, Ab Spangler is shucking Thursday night. The people have a good time at the shuckings but it's just too bad on old Mr. Chicken at this time of year.

Mr. Lark Towery moved his family from Double Shoals to Shelby last week. He is working for the Belmont mill.

Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Cook visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Cook of Carpenters Grove community last Sunday p. m.

The cotton picking is just about over, the children have gone back to school and the gin after this week will run only on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday.

Hard-boiled citizens wonder what Thanksgiving means.
