

Nobody's Business

By GEE McGEE

A True Story.

I was a telegraph operator for a number of years after I got out of my teens. I enjoyed that kind of work and still like to hang around a telegraph office and listen at the click of the instruments—but most of them have been discarded and teletype machines have taken their place. And by the way, that's reason No. 89,654,444 why so many are out of jobs.

When I left home to take my first "wire" position, I was so green that strange cows would chase me if I crossed a pasture. I had never been 10 miles away from home, had attended school but very little, and knew nothing about underwear, 3-course meals, and table napkins, but I knew which moon to plant corn and oats in, how to "lay off" a straight row, which side to milk a cow on, and which end of a hog the hams were cut from.

I found my new place to be a nice little town that had a "reading club," 3 churches, 7 stores, 3 graveyards, and 8 or 10 of the most prominent families owned pianos and folks—I had never seen a piano till I carried a message up to Col. Brown's house and walked into the parlor-room where his daughter, Sude Mae, was pecking on the ivory. I first thought it was an organ, but later found out that it "picked" instead of "blowed" as music, Sude Mae and I became good friends later on and she often played for me.

I was not only telegraph operator at "KD," but was depot agent, baggage master, cotton weigher, mail letter, warehouseman, express agent, chamber-maid to the waiting rooms, check clerk, billing clerk, night operator as well as day operator, and messenger boy. It was indeed a pleasure to be called out of bed by a railroad wood-train conductor to get a train order for him so he would be protected against No. 17 or No. 23. But nowadays, a railroad man is an 8-hour man and no more. I drew $30.00 per month, but never felt that I earned it, and I had more money on that menial first pay-day than I ever had had since. My board was $7.00 per month—which seemed to be a leetle bit steep to me.

I continued to telegraph and railroad for 7 years. I was shrewd enough not to let folks ketch up with my ignorance. I went slow, observed closely, looked wise, kept clean, parted my hair in the middle, felt like everybody was better than I was (attended church and Sunday school), wore shoes too small for me to reduce the size of my corn-field feet, rubbed sweet-smelling petroleum jelly (a new product) on my hair, kept Hoyt's German cologne on my clothes all the time, and gradually melted into the crowd. An old-time telegraph job gave a fellow some wonderful training, and I ain't sorry that I started that-a-way.

I have been asked to rite up the first meeting of our taxpayers league which was held in the scholl auy torium last night, and i will do as follows:

the meeting was called to order by the president, and mr. mike Clark, rfd., was chose acting secker or terry for same, as he was the only man there that could tell the president what to do ansorfther, as he had never learnt anything about parley mentary rules.

it was decided to ask the next legislature to turn off every other man and put the balance of same to work at what they could make in any other job not supported by the taxpayers, and that would mean about a 60 per cent cut.

mr. brown got hot under the collar about taxes, but the secker terry remindd him that he was out of order, as he diddnt pay no taxes excepp on his poll, so he got madder than ever and set down mr. jones wanted the dog tax killed, and free scholl books and light wines and beers, but he was voted down.

mr. siken paine said that she wants rat estate taxes done away with so's she can save the farm her husband left with a big mortgage, as she can't pay both interest and taxes, her motion was tabled for the time being onner count of everybody else being in the same fx.

mr. hook wirm from cedar grove community said he believes that the law ought to give our present highways to the big trucks and busses, and bild new ones for our cars, but he was told by the secker terry that all the bond money in the world had been spent and there will never be no more bonds, and consequently—no new roads.

there being no further bizness, we adjourned and a new meeting will be called as soon as the president can think of anything else to meet about.

respectively submitted. mike Clark, rfd. acting secker terry

FAMOUS COUGH PRESCRIPTION

Almost instant relief from cough is now guaranteed in the use of the physician's famous prescription called Thoxine. It works on an entirely different principle; having a double action, it relieves the throat irritation and goes direct to the internal cause not reached by cough syrups and patent medicines and the cough stops like magic, usually with the very first swallow.

Taken before retiring, Thoxine, absolutely prevents night coughing and insures a good night's sleep. It gives the same speedy relief for sore throat too. Contains no chloroform or harmful drugs. Children like it. Remember—relief within 15 minutes from coughs or sore throat, or your money back. 35c, 60c, $1.00 bottles. Sold by Suttle's Drug store and all other good drug stores.
