Hollywood Speculates on Bow Bells

Film Capital Wonders if the "Tie That Binds" Is Just a Bow Knot, Likely to Become Untied—Recalls Previous Romances of Flaming Haired "It" Girl.

The question one hears on all sides in Hollywood these days is "Will it last?" alluding, of course, to the marriage of Clara Bow, tempestuous star of the screen, and Rex Bell, her movie cowboy. When the film capital heard the news of the secret ceremony at Las Vegas, N. M., it at once began to speculate on how long the "tie that binds" would remain tied, recalling that the famous "It" girl is quick to begin, and as quick to end, a romance. The Brooklyn girl, who rose to stardom and one of the biggest salaries in the movie industry, has been near the altar on many occasions, but this is the first time she went through with the journey. Her first romance—with Donald Keith, film hero—she broke off after setting a wedding date, because her father warned her that marriage would interfere with her career. Then came Gilbert Roland, whom she discarded because he was jealous and resented other men's attentions to the beautiful red-head. Victor Fleming, famous director, next found a place in Clara's heart, but not for long, being supplanted by Robert Savage, son of wealthy steel man, who attempted suicide when his adored one cooled towards him. Gary Cooper, big, silent he-man, was the next to fall victim to Cupid's Bow, but Clara ditched Gary when she took a yen for Morley Drury, captain of the Southern California grid squad. That romance never flowered. Dr. William Earl Pearson fell under the "It" spell while Clara was a patient in a Los Angeles hospital, but he already had a wife—so finis. Then came Harry Richman, Broadway entertainer, whom La Bow almost married and finally broke with. Bell came prominently into the Bow saga when he aided her during the Daisy De Voe trial.

Says Farm Machinery Priced At Low Level

Such equipment as corn planters, cultivators, harrows, sulky plows, rakes and wagons are selling at a much lower price level than washing machines, ranges, milk cans, lawn mowers and the like. "It would be desirable if prices for farm machinery and other commodities could be maintained at a price level fixed according to the price paid for farm products but this is impossible, says Mr. Weaver. "True it is that farm products prices have some effect on the wages paid to manufacturing farm machinery; such efforts are always slow. Wholesale prices are slow in affecting retail prices and retail prices are slow in affecting wages."

Sin Is Cause Of Depression, Says This Contributor

Modern Dance and Different Sexes Bathing Together Are the Worst, Says He.

(By A. H. Humphries, R-2, Shelby)
As quite a large number of people have within the last few months expressed their views in various ways, in regard to the depression, please give me space in your paper to tell its readers what I believe to be the cause and also a remedy.
And to start with, I wish to state I have no desire whatever to go on record as a pessimist. I believe in looking at the bright side of everything, that has a bright side to look at. I believe in progress in moving on, so long as we are going in the right direction.
Now for the cause. We as a nation are forgetting God. If the depression is world-wide, then this statement may be applied to the world. But I shall try to confine myself principally to the United States.
There is more murder, more suicide, more robbing in different ways, more divorces, more meanness in practically every way, with the possible exception of the whiskey evil going on in the United States to day than ever before in its history. And the Bible tells us "where sin prevails, righteousness decays."
Here are what I consider a couple of the outstanding evils of our day and time. The modern dance, and the swimming pool, both working in harmony to the same end there has never been anything in the world to equal them, when it comes to inflaming the passion of men and women to lust after the opposite sex. Now, no doubt, some-one will say

I don't believe in dancing, but if it is done in the right spirit. I do. It is mentioned several times in the Bible, especially do I remember in the 149th and 150th Psalms it says "praise Jehovah with the dance." No doubt, someone will say I do not believe in bathing, but I do. "cleanliness is next to Godliness," and we all know swimming is fine exercise. But I believe men and women should have separate swimming pools. We see male and female in bathing together, loitering around on the grass together, practically naked with a boldness and brazenness that would have blushed the cheek of Sodom.

It isn't any wonder we have so many divorces now. In 1895 there were only 25,000 divorces in the United States in 1910, there were 50,000. An increase of only 25,000 in 15 years. But in 1920 there were one hundred sixty-five thousand, an increase that far surpassed the increase in population. I haven't noticed any statistics for several years. But would guess it is still on the rise. And there isn't any doubt in my mind but what the divorce evil is one of the main factors that is leading to national ruin. It is undermining the morals of the people. It is destroying our homes, and when we destroy the home, we destroy the nation.

It seems we are traveling the same road that Rome traveled, and without a change, are inevitably coming to the same end. We are headed for the breakers, they are in sight and without a change in the near future it is only a short while until we shall have reached our destination.

Now for the remedy. The same Bible that tells us in no uncertain terms, about sin and its awful consequences, gives the remedy. It points us to one, whose birthday we are hoping to celebrate the 25th day of this month. And there is the only solution to our trouble. Pure and undefiled religion. But special sessions of all the legislatures in the United States, combined with the entire Federal government, could not funnel it into us, we must willingly go back where we laid down the Cross, shoulder it again and follow as near as we can in the footsteps of Jesus. Then shall this financial depression that is hovering over the world today be lifted. The unemployment problem solved, prosperity return, and the wheels of agriculture, industry and commerce, once again roll peacefully onward. Then, but not until then.
