Your Child's Diarrhea

Need not be at all dangerous if treated upon first symptoms. Mothers for more than a generation have put an end to stomach and bowel disturbances of their children by keeping handy a bottle of Ante-Ferment, formerly called Anti-Ferment. It settles the stomach, soothes the pains, prevents violent paroxysms, tends to regulate the bowels and in the end may avoid Colitis and more serious troubles. It is harmless and non-narcotic but a relief for Dysentery, and Diarrhea and digestive disorders due to upset stomach and bowels. An old standby under a slightly changed name. It may be obtained in separate formulae, for adults 75c or for children 50c at all drug stores. Keep it ready for emergencies.

At The Change Critical Time In Every Woman's Life. "During a critical time in my life I took Cardui for several months. I had hot flashes, I would suddenly get dizzy and seem blind. I recommend it to all women who are passing through the critical period of change. I have found it a fine medicine."—Mrs. Hattie Murphy, Poplar Bluff, Mo. EATS AND VOTES, GOSSIP NOTES. It's the season of the year for memorial services at the various churches over the county, and are the political candidates attending! Some of them go to shake hands and get votes with the idea of being elected; others, having little hope of winning, go for their dinner—and the latter group may be the best off, who knows? . . . The manager of a Shelby business office has a blotter made out of a rolling pin. Meaning, among other things, that she's married. . . . John Honeycutt is wearing glasses. . . . Shelby's stately court square is in the height of dark green beauty. . . . School teachers with pink slips (not undies but you're-through-here notices) wondering about next year's job. . . . The Harry Specks have an intelligent dog that is an expert at playing lame when seeking a favor. . . . The collector of a Shelby firm has been sending out a notice reading like this: "Pay Your Bill. The World is Coming to an End! And darned if I want to look all over H— for you!" . . . Wilton Garrison, the Spartanburg sport writer who married a Shelby girl, won $500 in a national contest recently. . . . Operators of two Shelby dry cleaning plants now live in the same block, due west of and facing the Catholic grove. . . . The date in the step leading into The Star building is 1901. . . . Pathos of 1932: A middle-aged man standing in the corridor of the county court house shedding tears because for the first time in his life he cannot pay his taxes. . . . A young Shelby man has submitted an article to a well known magazine and it stands, we hear, a good chance of being accepted. . . . Two of Shelby's best known and best paid young textile mill officials take a cold shower every morning of the year at around 6 o'clock. Doing that instead of snoozing is one reason, perhaps, they got where they are. . . . Wit from a Shelby clothing salesman: "Just think how much better off you'd be had you purchased two pairs of pants with that suit bought in prosperous days" . . . Some people have very little regard for the bronze slab on the court house wall which bears the names of the county's World War dead. Matches are scratched there and other signs of disrespect can be seen. . . . Bandana handkerchiefs, worn as scarfs, add a gay splash of color to many of the Spring outfits being worn about town by the sweet young things. . . . In Shelby there lives a Dorothy King and a Dorothy Queen. . . . Philosophy, maybe: A depression and a political campaign are two things that will show what a man has or does not have in him. . . . At how many places in Shelby does the United States flag fly every day?

A RIDDLE. From "Bad Boy" this teaser: "A fellow got in jail and another fellow came along to see him. The jailer told the second comer that it was against the rules for anyone to see the prisoner except a relative. The visitor then said 'Brothers and sisters have I none, but this man's father is my father's son.' What relation was the visitor to the prisoner?" Think it over, for "Bad Boy's" benefit, while we toddle on to something else.

IT MUST HAVE BEEN A LITTLE CHILLY. A couple of Shelby men were seated on a bench in front of the Cleveland drug store this week telling tales of places they'd been and things they'd seen. One told about a time he was in Chicago during a cold snap when the bitter wind off the lake froze the gasoline in his cigarette lighter. "Tollable cold," said the other, not to be outdone. "But I spent a night once in a boarding house on the coast of Maine and, speaking of cold weather, what a night it was! Along about two in the morning a noise awoke me. For a minute or two I couldn't figure it out, then I realized that what I heard was the chattering of my store teeth, which I had laid over on the dresser, a full six feet from the bed."

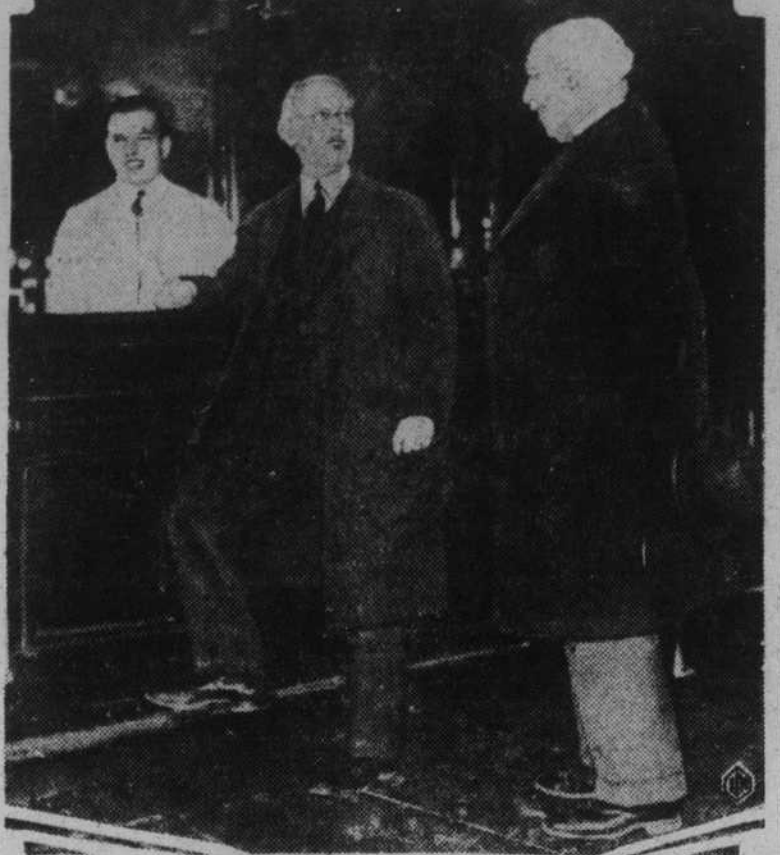

SPACED UP WITH SCISSORS. A borrowed item from "Ambling Along the Avenue" in The Gastonia Gazette: "If I had that chorus of negro school teachers from Cleveland county under the direction of some professional stage director or musician, like Prof. Koch down at Chapel Hill, or even our Carl McCartha," said a man today, "I could take 'em on the road, and make a killing." "That stuff they give, negro spirituals, melodies and quaint old negro folk songs would go over big anywhere. A man ought to be able to make a good thing out of it. Of course it would have to be touched up here and there, more elaborate costumes, better timing, better training, etc., and many other changes made, but the basic idea of those negro spirituals would remain the same. That is what makes it go over."

YEAH! YOU CAN WE DARE YOU! HOW many states are there in the Union? Righto, 48! Now name them. Of course you can, but just sit down, get a piece of paper and write them. A visitor dared us to do it recently. In a box-car or otherwise we've been in more than 40 of them and it seemed easy, but was it! The next time company comes it may prove to be good entertainment. Get three or four together and try it. It is easy to jot down 30 or so, then it's another matter. You can do it in five minutes, you say, without reference? Maybe so, but try it and you'll see.

PAPA AND SON. Harking back to "Bad Boy's" riddle a couple rungs up the page: The visitor was the father of the man in jail. THE STARS AND STRIPES FOREVER! WHOOPS! Speaking of system, the Federal government and its method of distributing surplus flour and wheat to the needy takes the booby prize. Listen in: Just a few days ago a shipment of government flour was sent to Shelby for distribution among the needy. The flour was milled at Charlotte from wheat sent there from the big surplus in the Western grain states. The same week the Eagle Roller mill in Shelby made some flour out of the same wheat and it was shipped to South Carolina points for distribution among the needy there. What a clever method of saving time and shipping costs!

OH, WELL, THEN TAKE THAT! Yesterday morning Shelby cops arrested a young girl for some offense and started with her to the jail. As she was being placed in the police car in front of the city hall a group of men gathered in front of the building and stared at her as men will stare at one of the opposite sex who is believed to have strolled along the primrose path. The girl, not the least abashed, coyly waved her hand at them. The men turned and looked sheepishly at each other and not a one waved back. Whereupon the girl, seated between two husky officers, used the same hand to thumb her nose at the group—and the car moved on to the dull red building where people sit on the inside, look at the outside and wait for the evening mail, if any.

Daniel in the Lions' Den

"It's always fair weather—when good fellows get together," and here are Bishop James Cannon (left) and Canon William Chase, two of the country's driest "drys," snapped amidst surroundings that smacked lustily of "wetness." There is no cause for finger pointing, however. The bottles are empty and the old-time bar is merely one of the relics on exhibition at the prohibition fair at Washington, D. C. The "Sweet Adelines" environment was produced to illustrate the evils of drink.

Property Sold For Taxes Can Be Redeemed After Two Years, Seven Months; Collectors Forced By Law

Sheriff Or Tax Collector Has No Other Choice If Taxes Unpaid Unless Change Made. Gastonia Gazette. Chairman Joe A. Sherrill, of the Mecklenburg board of county commissioners has brought to official notice a matter that is puzzling the county officials in North Carolina. It is with reference to the sale of land on June 1st for unpaid 1931 taxes. Mr. Sherrill, as has been noted in news columns, wrote to the local government commission asking permission to defer the sale of property for taxes from the June date to a later date in the fall. The reply of Charles M. Johnson, of the local government commission, is contained in a news story elsewhere in The Gazette. As he explains, the commission is powerless in the matter because the decree is of legislative enactment. The law was passed by the 1929 legislature. Last year, by special act, the sales were deferred until August or September. As can be well sensed, this is a matter that is giving grave concern to county officials over the state. There will be thousands of homes and farms advertised for sale for non-payment of taxes the first of May. If the legislature were in session, there would probably be some emergency legislation passed for the benefit of the distressed property holders. Many people believe that, if and when their property is advertised, it is gone forever. This is not the case. There is a period of three years and seven months during which it may be redeemed by the owner. Here is the procedure with regard to the collection of taxes and the sale of land for taxes made mandatory upon sheriffs and county commissioners in the laws bearing on this subject enacted by the general assembly. Taxes become due the first Monday in October for that year. No penalty is assessed on these taxes until February, when the penalty starts at 1 per cent in February, 2 per cent in March, 5 per cent in April and 4 per cent in May. The first Monday in May, the sheriff or tax collector must report to the board of county commissioners the list of all taxpayers who have not yet paid their taxes to date, and the names of these property holders must be advertised each week for four weeks, together with the amount of taxes due, to notify them that their property will be sold for taxes the first Monday in June. Any of these property holders may, of course, pay the amount of the taxes due plus the cost of advertising, before the first Monday in June and thus save their property from being sold. If these taxes, penalties and costs are not paid by the first Monday in June, the sheriff or tax collector has no other choice but to sell the property. However, the original owner has twelve months within which he may redeem the property upon payment of the taxes and costs shown on the certificate of sale. If the purchaser of the property is a county or municipality, the original owner has from 16 to 24 months in which to redeem it, before a foreclosure suit can be started. If the purchaser of the property is a county or municipality, as is usually the case, the law requires that a summons must be served on the original owner within six months after the sale of property, and that a foreclosure suit must be instituted within 24 months. During this period the certificate of sale bears 10 per cent interest for the first twelve months and 8 per cent thereafter, until redeemed or until foreclosure deed is obtained. After the foreclosure suit has been brought, another period of six months is allowed in which to give notice of the suit to any interested parties, so that the suit cannot be tried until at least six months after it has been brought. After the suit has been tried and judgment rendered, another 30 days must intervene before the judgment can be made final, to permit the advertising of the commission's sale. The law then requires that the bid shall be held open for another fifteen days to permit any other higher bids to be offered. If no other bids are received and the property not redeemed by the owner, the judgment then becomes final and foreclosure deed and title goes to the county, municipality or individual who bid it in at the sale two years, seven months and fifteen days before, and almost three and a half years after the taxes were first due.

Hiss Minister For Opposition To Bonus Action. Washington, April 27.—Resentful hissing of a former army chaplain punctuated with cries of "throw him out" created disorder in the house ways and means committee Monday for the second time since it began consideration of the $2,000,000,000 soldier bonus bill. Soft-spoken and mild-mannered, the Rev. F. C. Reynolds of Baltimore, who opposed the bonus, provoked the sudden flare up from the crowd of veterans who attend every session, some of them plainly in indignant circumstances. Sharply rapping his gavel, the white-haired Democratic floor leader, Representative Henry T. Rainey of Illinois, who was presiding said: "Nothing like this has occurred at these meetings before and must not occur again." The committee received two bonus plans today from members of congress and an unemployment relief plan from George D. Dawes of Philadelphia, self-styled "man without a party." When asked to which party he belonged, Evans surprised committee members by this crisp retort: "Only ignorant jackasses belong to any party." Evans, who said he represented the 10,000,000 unemployed, proposed the "Evans" unemployment relief plan whereby all jobs would be hired by the government at wages ranging from $18 to $58 a week. Suggests Coupon Bonds. Representative Samuel B. Pettengill, Democrat, of Indiana, proposed issuance of coupon bonds, to mature in 1945, to veterans in exchange for their adjusted service certificates. Representative Thomas McKeown, Democrat of Oklahoma, recommended a plan whereby the government would take over veterans' certificates from banks issue currency against them for payment of the bonus and retire the obligation from the sinking fund for the certificates which is being built up gradually at the rate of $112,000,000 annually.
