

Jolley's Bat Leads Shelby Team To Win

Bangs Out Four Hits As Morrisism Beat Lowell 13 to 8. Newton Hits Hard.

The heavy hitting of "Red" Jolley shortstop, set the pace as the Shelby High defeated Lowell at Lowell yesterday 13 to 8.

In five trips to the plate Jolley banged out four hits and scored three runs. Dick Newton, husky outfielder and pitcher, secured two hits in three trips up, while Clyde Williams, secured two hits and one run in two trips up.

Williams started the game on the mound, but was relieved in the closing frames by Newton. Only one Lowell player, Donaldson, third-sacker, secured as many as two hits. Lowell secured a total of five hits, three Shelby errors aiding them in scoring while Shelby rapped out an even dozen bingles.

The regular Shelby line-up with the exception of B. J. Harrill, still out with the flu, was used.

Two More Games.
Friday the Shelby team plays Cherryville at Cherryville. And on Saturday the local outfit goes to Blackburn for a return game that will feature the commencement there.

original bonus plus 25 per cent plus Hines estimated present veteran unemployment of 600,000, or approximately the same number as when the bonus plan became law in 1924.

"I say this though the American Legion says its government campaign has placed 610,000 veterans," he said. "Then in addition, there are probably 500,000 to 700,000 veterans on part time employment."

Hines said that on March 31, total outstanding loans on certificates aggregated $1,396,828,000. This figure included 964,384,000 loaned out of the certificate fund, $362,444,000 loaned from the government's insurance fund and $60,000,000 of unredeemed bank loans.

Waver Forest Men Have Banquet

former students from Cleveland county. The number of departments in the school has been increased and Prof. Timberlake outlined the varied courses of study which the school offers. He placed much emphasis on a wide-awake organization of the alumni and pointed out the benefit such organizations can be to the school in its ambition to serve the state.

Higher Scholastic Record

Coach Miller of the athletic department spoke briefly on the work under his direction and stated that an effort is being made to have all students take part in some form of athletics. He urged the alumni to be on look-out for prospective students and direct them to enter Wake Forest.

This was the most enthusiastic meeting of Wake Forest alumni that has been held in the state this season, in the opinion of the alumni secretary, Mr. Bowler, who spoke briefly. A better prepared and a higher type of students is now entering Wake Forest than ever before and their general scholastic record is better. He pointed out that the student body is the largest in the history of the institution.

Special music was furnished by a stringed trio composed of Lummie Hendrick, B. B. Brady and J. M. Honeycutt, while a quartet composed of Owen Paquet first tenor, Butler Pruett second tenor, Jack Mullinax first bass and Lindsay Hicks second bass came over from Bowling Springs Junior college to render several vocal selections.

At The Theatres

At the Webb today and Thursday: "Beauty and the Boss," an enjoyable comedy-satire starring Warren William and Marian Marsh who were last seen together in "Under Eighteen." Drv-faced Charles Butterworth does the comedy lead. Besides these, there is a strong supporting cast, including David Manners, Lillian Bond, Frederick Kerr, Mary Moran and Polly Waters.

At the Carolina today only: Roland West's Liberty magazine story, "Corsair," with Chester Morris and Alison Lloyd. It's a modern drama dealing with modern pirates on high seas. Thursday: Tom Mix and a great cast in "Destry Rides Again." Claudia Dell and Zasu Pitts are included in the supporting cast. "Destry Rides Again" is Mix's first talking picture.

Says Purchase Of Property Is Wise Move Now

Johnson Expresses Belief Plan Of Selling Personal Property Unwise At Present Time.

Raleigh, April 27.—While the law clearly stipulates that the sheriff or tax collector may seize the personal property of delinquent taxpayers and sell their personal property for taxes before advertising the real property of the taxpayers for sale, this portion of the law is generally disregarded because in a great many instances the sale of personal property would work a much greater hardship than the sale of the real property, according to Charles M. Johnson, director of local government.

"In some cases it is probably true that the sheriff or tax collector might be able to collect much sooner by seizing and selling personal property instead of waiting to advertise real property," Johnson said. "It might be true that if sheriffs would seize automobiles, radios or other personal property that some delinquent taxpayers would pay rather than lose these articles of personal property." On the other hand, this would tend to put the sheriffs in the second-hand business, when there is very little demand for new articles and virtually none for used goods, especially used automobiles, household furniture and the like. So the chances are that the sheriffs would not be able to realize much cash even if they did seize personal property first before advertising real property.

"Another consideration is that if sheriffs were to seize the livestock of farmers, such as their mules, horses or cows, and sell them, they would leave many of these without any means to carry on their farming. This would be much greater hardship than if their land were advertised and sold, since the property owner has two years after the sale in which he may redeem it, upon payment of the taxes and penalty. But the sale of personal property is immediate and final with no opportunity to redeem it. "So at times like these, I think it is much better for sheriffs to sell only real property for taxes, rather than personal since these sales are not final and leave plenty of time for the redemption of the property."

Tragic End to Marital Drama

Above are the principals in a gruesome drama of marital hatred that recently came to a tragic climax in Venice, Cal. Ennity that burned in the heart of Mrs. Rebecca Greenberg, 60, for 32 years, flamed into sudden action and as her husband, Morris, lay sleeping she calmly poured lye into his eyes. Today, Greenberg, totally blind, fights for life while his wife sits in a prison cell, a strange look of peace on her face. Photo shows the couple with one of their six children. The woman told police she had planned her vengeance for years.

To Get Rid of Your Asthma, Find and Remove the Cause

This Distressing Malady, Marked by Shortness of Breath, May Be Due to Pollen, Food Poisoning, Some Infection, or Contact with Various Substances.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

ASTHMA is an uncomfortable disease, characterized by periodic attacks of shortness of breath. These attacks are accompanied by signs of irritation of the bronchial tubes, with expectoration of mucus.

The accepted theory is that the symptoms are produced by a spasm which involves the muscles of the smaller bronchial tubes. To be frank about it, the causes of this spasm has furnished a real problem to the medical profession.

Asthmatic attacks may occur at any time from infancy to old age, but children and young adults furnish the largest number of cases. In certain families asthma may occur in each of several generations. A neurotic tendency is supposed to favor the development of the disease. The exciting causes of asthma are many. Some cases, usually traced to pollen, may occur only in the summer months. Others, perhaps due to hidden infections in the throat or nasal sinuses, may occur only in winter. Sudden changes of temperature, cold winds, indigestion or some emotion may be followed by attacks.

You know that certain foods appear to be more or less poisonous to some persons. Such poisonous effects include asthmatic symptoms, but in a recent survey less than fifty per cent of cases were traced to such causes. Contacts with horse dandruff, feathers, cat hair, sachet powder,orris root or rice powder were found responsible for attacks in certain patients. In children articles of food, such as eggs, cereals and, in rare cases, cow's milk, have been found to be responsible in some cases.

In all cases of asthma, the first requisite for successful treatment lies in discovering and removing abnormal conditions of the nose and throat. Centers of infection in the teeth must be found and eliminated. Brilliant results in children have followed the removal of diseased tonsils and adenoids.

Before the actual attack comes on there may be warning symptoms, such as indigestion, mental depression, chilliness or bronchitis, but sometimes the attack comes on without warning. During an attack there is great difficulty in breathing, with fear of suffocation, and the victim dare not lie down.

The attack may pass off in a short time, but it is likely to recur within a few hours; or there may be only a single attack, with no further trouble for several weeks or months. In the treatment, as I have said, the cause must be sought and removed if possible. Certain tests, about which your doctor will tell you, will make it possible to find what particular article of food produces the attack, if it is due to food poisoning. This, of course, will be eliminated from the patient's diet.

The evening meal of any sufferer from asthma should be light and easily digested. Nasal catarrh and bronchitis should be treated, and undue nervous excitement, undue emotional experiences and over-fatigue must be avoided. Treatment with certain medicines and vaccines will do a lot in favorable cases.

During the violent stages of the attack, the burning of one of the various "asthma powders" may be remarkably helpful; but usually the services of a physician must be sought in order to cut short an attack.

Gang At Forest City, Believed Broken Up

Forest City, April 27.—The "Greasy Corner Roughnecks," a gang of notorious thieves, who have tried to run things in a dictatorial manner in the neighborhood around an overhead bridge on Broadway street here, are no more, states the chief of police, R. F. Austin.

Two, suspected of being members of the gang, have already been arrested, state Chief Austin, who with City Patrolman W. F. Toney and Capt. J. B. Childress, Southern railway detective, made the arrests. Warrants have been issued for three others. The two arrested are Lawton Scruggs and Walter Harris, alias Troub Harris. Both are charged with car-breaking, larceny and receiving.

Mr. D. G. Washburn Jr., manager of the local Blue Bird Ice Cream Co., spent last Wednesday in Spartanburg, S. C., attending the fifth anniversary meeting of that company.

WHEN YOU HAVE A loved one to die, you should acknowledge the flowers sent by friends and show your appreciation of the sympathy extended. Use sympathy acknowledgement cards, plain white or with mourning edges. New samples and reduced prices at The Star office.

Slain in Nicaragua

Above are two of the Americans slain in the recent battle between Nicaraguan rebels, said to have been followers of Augustino Sandino, and government troops. Top is Lawrence C. Burton, second lieutenant in the U. S. Marine Corps, and lower is Corporal L. T. Covington, of Spartanburg, S. C. The men were attached to a patrol of native National Guards when the rebels attacked in the Nueva Segovia district. Fifteen native guards were killed.

LEISURE HOURS are READING HOURS

The condition of the times has stimulated rather than curtailed reading. Statistics show that leisure hours are reading hours and the circulation of newspapers is holding up well, because newspapers are the "poor man's university."

Our subscription price of only one and six tenths cents per copy is the cheapest any newspaper has ever sold for in Cleveland County since the county was founded.

20,000 people look forward to The Star on publication day because it is a local newspaper that has information and appeal. Its patrons feel disappointed if it fails for any reason. There is something missing in the home and in the daily routine of its readers if there is an up-set in its regular delivery.

To avoid irregularity in its delivery, to prevent our readers from being disappointed, The Star makes every possible effort to "make the mails" and go out on time through its other distributing system of 22 carrier boys who make house-to-house delivery in Shelby and suburbs, Kings Mountain, Fallston, Etc.

— CERTIFIED CIRCULATION —

The Star's claim of having more circulation than any of the 165 weekly newspapers in North Carolina and a circulation larger than 20 of the 35 daily newspapers in North Carolina is not just a claim, but a proven and established fact.

Wolfe and Co., certified public accountants of national reputation have made an audit of our circulation books and the certified circulation report of this firm is available to interested advertisers. This report substantiates our claim that

"THE STAR RANKS 16TH IN CIRCULATION AMONG THE 200 NEWSPAPERS IN NORTH CAROLINA."

Yes, leisure hours are reading hours and Star readers are not stinting themselves on their literature. The quality of the paper is maintained in the face of curtailed income—that's why the paper has the "reader appeal" which every paper covets.
