

Shooting Of Song Birds Objected To By Local Citizens

Request Game Warden to Urge Parents That They Advise Boys Against Shooting.

Quite a number of Shelby citizens are offering objection to a boyhood habit, that of shooting song birds. In the last week or two numerous citizens have asked Game Warden H. C. Long to make some move to stop the increasing slaughter of song birds about the city, a number reporting that boys with slingshots and air rifles have been killing mocking birds and other song birds. The game law, the warden says, protects practically all of what are known here as song birds, but the protection does not cover blackbirds and English sparrows. It is difficult, in his opinion to be harsh in enforcing the law with small boys, but he urges parents that they request their boys not to kill song birds and those which feed upon destructive insects.

Local Vets May Join "Bonus Army"

that the local delegation may get 25 or 30 together and secure a truck for the trip. The beginning of the trip has been unofficially set for next week.

'Bonus Army' Settles
Washington, June 1.—In drab, abandoned buildings, the "bonus expeditionary force," composed of World War veterans from the four corners of the nation, settled down this week to see what congress will do about their demands for cash payment.

As the rest of the country joined in honoring the soldier dead on Memorial day, these veterans of '17 and '18 ate, bathed and shaved and then moved to consolidate their scattered groups under one leader—Walter W. Waters, blond young Oregonian.

Meanwhile, police officials argued over the responsibility of their care. Brigadier General Pelham D. Glassford, superintendent of police, held that the federal government should defray their expenses while here. As a result, Senator Costigan (D), Colorado, introduced a bill to appropriate $75,000 for that purpose.

Police estimated that 1,300 former soldiers are here—here to stay, they vow, until their bonus is paid. They have been quartered in two buildings in different parts of this city, 300 from the Pacific coast in one and 225 from many states in another. The remainder have not asked for billets.

More are enroute. Three hundred from New Orleans reached Bay St. Louis, Miss., Monday after a 50-mile march afoot while 200 started across the Nevada desert in box cars. Another group of 300 is preparing to leave Cleveland.

As they arrive, police plan to concentrate them at Camp Meigs, near by. In the meantime, Glassford has called upon the war department for field kitchens and bed sacks. The Pacific coast contingent slept on bare floors.

Record Vote For State Predicted

1,000,000 Ballots Sent To 100 Counties In State, More Requested.

Raleigh, June 1.—With candidates busily engaged in last minute campaigns, Raleigh political prognosticators today predicted the heaviest vote in the history of a Democratic primary in North Carolina will be cast Saturday.

Raymond C. Maxwell, secretary of the state board of elections, who has sent out 1,000,000 ballots to the 100 counties and has requests for "more," said he believed the vote will be "much heavier" than in 1930, when J. W. Bailey, Furnifold M. Simmons and T. L. Estep garnered a grand total of more than 300,000, a new high record.

Based on the registration reports and the immense number of local office seekers—estimated at 2,500—Maxwell said he felt confident the vote would approximate 350,000 or more.

Tyre C. Taylor, whose Young Democrat organization is devoted to "getting the young people to the polls," expressed the belief the vote will easily reach this figure.

In Piedmont.
Last night the three gubernatorial candidates, who have held the campaign spotlight were in the heavy voting piedmont section of the state, but their paths will lead to Raleigh where on Friday night—the eve of the primary—they will close their battle from the same radio station. Each has been allotted the same number of minutes.

The bitterly contested Democratic gubernatorial and senatorial races have completely overshadowed the one Republican contest between Jake Newell, convention choice, and George DePriest, wet candidate of Shelby, for the Republican senatorial nomination.

Reports from many counties list the heaviest registration ever recorded and also the largest number of candidates seeking office.

Expect Over 6,000 Votes For County

a second primary. There are four candidates for sheriff and that may herald another run. Three are in for solicitor and four for recorder. Eight men are candidates for the county board, and these four races may be close enough when the votes are counted Saturday for the runner-up candidates to ask for a second race.

Taking either estimate, six and seven thousand, for the total vote Saturday, any candidate in a race where there are more than two candidates will have to poll 3,000 votes, or thereabouts, to be assured of a majority in the first primary. Some of the campaigners say this will be done in one or two races, but as many believe otherwise.

Working Hard
With only two campaigning days after today, the candidates, their supporters and workers are now "bearing down." Every section in the city and county has been visited or will be visited by Saturday morning. Scores of primary day workers have already been employed, according to reports. The Australian ballot method will not permit much intruding around the ballot boxes, but the workers will be centered nearby or will be in cars working to and from the precinct booths.

Election officials have practically completed all preparations for handling the voters and the votes with the exception of placing the boxes, booths and tickets at the respective polling places.

Nicholas Murray Butler says the United States needs a third political party. Gosh, isn't it bad enough with two?

Cotton Stalks Live Through The Winter

Previous reports have been made in this county of cotton stalks living through the winter, but S. J. Crawley of the Lattimore section has found stalks in his field that not only lived through the mild winter but have put on branches and foliage and shapes are forming for blooms. The stalks were missed by the plow this spring and Mr. Crawley is leaving them to see if the cotton will mature.

Cline Promises Economy, Service And A Square Deal

I have tried to see all the voters of Cleveland County, and if I have missed seeing you, it was not intentional by any means.

I have had lots of experience in dealing with the public, have tried to give everybody a square deal, having served four years on the town board of Kings Mountain, the last two, serving as police commissioner.

I do hope and trust that you, who don't know me—my ability and disposition—will honestly check up on it before casting your vote.

Of course, I know none of us can expect all the votes and I realize because a voter votes against a candidate, in many cases, is not because he or she has anything against said candidate. I believe each one of my opponents will appreciate your support, BUT I KNOW AND ASSURE YOU THAT NO ONE WILL APPRECIATE YOUR VOTE AND SUPPORT ANY MORE THAN I WILL. IF ELECTED, I WILL DO ALL IN MY POWER TO KEEP DOWN THE EXPENSES OF THE COUNTY AND DO MY DUTY. I want to thank the people of our good county for the courtesy shown me in this campaign, and—if you see fit to nominate me I WILL CONDUCT THE OFFICE AND DUTIES THAT FALL TO ME SO THAT YOU WILL NOT REGRET HAVING ELECTED ME AS THE HIGH SHERIFF OF CLEVELAND COUNTY.
