Smith Urges Aid For Southern Cotton Crop

Washington, June 13.—Colleagues from the cotton states were appealed to on the senate floor by Senator Smith, democrat of South Carolina, to support his proposal that the government buy up cotton and sell it back to the farmer to cut production. Smith's plan, which he outlined on the floor, is carried in a bill he introduced some time ago and on which the agriculture committee so far has failed to act.

Lina Basquette, Screen Queen, Dempsey's New Heart Attack

Identity of Manassa Mauler's Lovely Companion Hidden Under Cognomen of "Rosita Gonzales." Both in Reno, but Deny Romance.

ESTELLE TAYLOR JACK DEMPSEY LINA BASQUETTE

Rumors of a romance between Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion of the world, and a beautiful Spaniard, with whom he has been seen frequently in Reno, received added impetus with the discovery that Lina Basquette, glamorous ornament of the silver screen, is none other than Lina Basquette, glamorous ornament of the silver screen. Lina, according to her mother, changed her name for business reasons and is not in Reno for any other purpose than that she needs a long rest. Apparently Lina finds Dempsey's company restful, for she spends most of her time with the ex-champion. The screen queen was going about with Teddy Hayes, Dempsey's former trainer, until Jack happened upon the scene and began to pay attentions to Lina, whereupon Teddy smacked Mr. Dempsey, who strangely did not retaliate. However, Lina fired Teddy, who had been her manager, the next day. Meanwhile, Jack's former wife, Estelle Taylor, though reported engaged many times since her divorce from Dempsey, is apparently heart whole and fancy free. She is finding a lot of fun in decorating her new home in Santa Monica, Calif. Lina Basquette has been married twice. Her first marriage was with Sam Warner, film magnate, who died and left her a fortune. Her second venture, with Peverly Marley, cameraman, ended in the divorce courts.

Fire Loss Low At Kings Mtn.

Twenty-Five Calls Are Answered One To Grover. Banquet Is Served During Year.

(By E. R. GAMBLE)

Kings Mountain, June 13.—Kings Mountain's fire loss for the first year since the organization of a volunteer fire department was only $3,288. The town council on June 1, 1932, purchased new and modern fire fighting equipment and organized a volunteer fire department with Grady W. King as fire chief. He has sixteen volunteer assistants. During the year ending June 1 the department has answered 25 calls and received only one false alarm. Two trips were made to Grover, eight miles away, to lend assistance to the citizens of that town who do not have any fire fighting facilities. Twenty of the calls occurred during the day and five were night calls. Only one house was completely destroyed by fire during the year. The fire at this place started in the early morning and was not discovered until the roof was falling in. The department answered the call but could render little assistance. The loss on this occasion was $1,500 or almost one half the loss for the entire year. The department has had regular weekly drills during the year. Several of the members attended the fire school in Asheville which was conducted by State Fire Marshal Brockwell. The knowledge gained at this school was relayed to other members of the department. The department was hosts at a banquet and get together meeting at the Woman's club rooms here during the winter at which time members of the fire departments of Charlotte, Shelby, Gastonia, Bessemer City, Cherryville and Lincolnton attended. Sherwood Brockwell of Raleigh was the principle speaker.

Since the organization of this department the fire insurance rates for the entire town has been re-adjusted and decreased in most cases. The average decrease is estimated at about 20 per cent and it was thought that the decrease in insurance rates would be more than enough to offset the increase in taxes necessary to equip and maintain the fire department.

Lesson For Hartness In Loyalty To Party

Lenoir News-Topic.

The defeat of J. A. Hartness for secretary of state might form the basis of some interesting speculation. There was no suggestion of a fight on Mr. Hartness. It was assumed that he would be re-elected, just as all the other incumbent officials were re-elected. Although it was common knowledge that he had angered the "regulars" by training with the "irregulars" back in a day which had better be forgotten, the general opinion was that his "stint" had been forgiven. Yet the party ritz up and spanked him at the very first opportunity. Many rank and file Democrats will resent that attitude strongly, and they may have the right to resent it, but the fact remains that the Democratic party in North Carolina has given its aspiring candidates the most profound object lesson in party regularity ever witnessed. Things are changing, and the Aus Watts school of politics will realize, if it has not already done so, that the voices which used to control the winds in this state control them no longer. There is a younger element, reared in the same environment, which strangely enough has an uncanny way of thinking right much in unison. The politicians who fall to recognize that will have other surprises before the process of weeding out the old order is finally completed.

Miss Earhart Talks In Sensible Manner

(New York World-Telegram)

Amelia Earhart, one-time social worker in Boston, said to the French senate on Tuesday:—"It is more difficult to make a good law than a good Atlantic flight." "Madame, what you did imperilled only yourself, whereas what we do carries danger to many others." Another difference between Miss Earhart in her Lockheed plane and our own congressional aeronauts in the good Ship of State is that she consulted only her compass, her weather charts and her courage. She had no lobbyists and moral crusaders on board to advise with. She was not always thinking how she could get her kinsfolk and other people's kinsfolk and friends on a pay roll. And she did not have to keep her "ear to the ground." She just flew her ship. She got where she was going, and nobody got hurt. If our own legislative aviators were just sure where they were going, that would help. Come back, Miss Earhart, with your compass, your maps and your courage, and show congress how to navigate!

Elliott Discusses Science, Religion, Fundamental Laws

(By JAMES ELLIOTT)

Science, is systemized knowledge of any one department of mind or matter, acknowledged truths and laws, especially as demonstrated by induction experiment or observation. While science is as old as natural law, it only lately came into common use to prove truths and to combat superstition that has held mankind in its thrall through the ages. Disputed questions now appeal to scientific research for facts. Science has become the supreme arbiter in education, politics and religion. Any thing that cannot stand the scientific test must go. Science helps religion by divesting it of superstition that has retarded its growth. That may be called materialism. Science unites the material and spiritual. It is not dogmatic, but proves what it claims. About 1890-1870 three English scientists, Spencer, Huxley and Darwin, promulgated the theory of evolution in life growth and development which was accepted by the intelligent world. They ignored mysticism and old beliefs and followed the laws of nature, tracing all life back to its original beginning, the animal to the eggs and the plant to the seed wherein life started in a tiny cell and grew by adding cell to cell. Their object was to show how nature works now. The religious press raised the cry of alarm that infidel scientists would destroy our religion. The church brought that charge against Galileo with his telescope. He said instead of the sun running around the world the world ran around the sun and turning over made day and night. Sir Isaac Newton discovered gravitation that holds every thing in its place by attraction. The moon runs around the earth every 28 days and follows and keeps it up regularly without coming into close contact. While the sun keeps its place, the world in its 365 revolutions, leaning to and fro making our four climatic seasons, with one season on the equator and one at the poles. The Mississippi river runs south towards the equator runs up hill by centrifugal force in gravitation. I have heard men say this world had not turned over since they had been here. One said he was not convinced because the North star was visible in the same place all the time. I told him it was so far off that the turn of the world did not obscure it. The great Dipper of six stars, seems to run around it every 24 hours. We cannot contemplate the beginning or end of time, nor limit the universe.

Loans To States To Be Authorized

Approval Of $300,000,000 Fund For Unemployment Relief Seems Assured.

Washington, June 9.—Congress moved today to make a $300,000,000 loan available immediately to the states to combat hunger and distress at the nation's critical unemployment situation was brought strikingly to their attention by the passing of bonus armies here. The loan was one provision of the Wagner relief bill sponsored by Democrat and which was reported favorably today by the senate banking and currency committee in preference to an administration proposal offered by Senator Barbour, Republican, New Jersey. It was reported separately as an emergency measure of action on it could be expedited. A vote was expected on this provision in the senate and Representative Bertrand Snell, minority leader of the house, indicated there would be bi-partisan support for the measure there. The proposal would authorize the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to apportion the $300,000,000 among states according to their population. Governors would apply for the money and certify the necessity for such aid. Further Measures Another method of immediately relieving distress feared action in congress. Leaders predicted resolutions authorizing the Federal Farm Board to turn over between 40,000 and 100,000,000 bushels of wheat in the form of food and 500,000 bales of cotton in the form of clothing to the Red Cross for distribution to the destitute, would be approved before the end of the week. Meantime, some delay became apparent in the fight for passage of a complete relief program.

Five Dairy Cows On Every Farm Would Restore Prosperity

Raleigh.—Five dairy cows on every farm in North Carolina would make the state prosperous, A. C. Kimrey dairy extension specialist of N. C. State college, estimated last week. "If every farm in the state had five dairy cows which would produce an average of one pound of butterfat each day which could be sold for buttermaking at an average price of 20 cents a pound," Kimrey said, "the returns would pay all the taxes levied in the state in 1931 for state, county and municipal purposes." Kimrey said the production of one pound of butterfat is not an unreasonable expectation, nor is the price of 20 cents a pound too high for this fat to sell. The sum realized from the five dairy cows on every farm producing as outlined would make a down payment of a little over $225 on the purchase price of every automobile owned in the state, he continued. Or, the returns would buy and pay for two cities the size of Raleigh, including their real and personal property.

DR. JARRETT RESTORES AN AFFLICTED MAN

Howard Griffin makes the following statement under oath: "I, Howard Griffin, have been suffering with a muscular trouble since Nov. 1931, that caused the muscles to contract and jerk to the extent that at times I was unable to use my hand to work. For the last four years I had been unable to feed myself or walk only by shuffling and jerking my legs and feet. My right hand was completely paralyzed. On May 26th I went to Dr. B. M. Jarrett, Chiropractor of Shelby, N. C., and after the second day's treatment I could freely use the muscles of my legs to walk and could feed myself with my left hand. After the fourth day's treatment the swelling in my right hand had disappeared and the muscle action and feeling returned to the muscles in my entire body." (Signed) HOWARD GRIFFIN. Subscribed and sworn to before me. Howard Griffin being duly sworn says that the above statements are true to the best of his knowledge and belief. This June 10th, 1932. JOYCE WILSON, Notary Public.

PROMINENT MEN MAKE STATEMENT

To Whom It May Concern: For the benefit of suffering humanity, we the undersigned freely make the following statement: That we saw Howard Griffin when he was suffering with a muscular trouble to the extent that he could not use his right arm or hand to feed himself or the muscles of his legs to walk only by twitching and jerking his feet and legs. We also saw him after he had had Chiropractic adjustments from Dr. B. M. Jarrett and after the second day's treatment he could walk normal and could feed himself with his left hand. After the fourth day's treatment, all the swelling in the right hand had disappeared and normal action of the muscles of the right arm and hand as well as the muscles of the entire body, had returned to normal.
