Roosevelt, Hoover Personal Contrasts

One Colorful, Other Is Colorless

Democratic Nominee Has More "It" Than Any Candidate Within Decade.

(By Rodney Dutcher)

Washington, June 11.—Franklin D. Roosevelt and Herbert Hoover will present a fascinating conflict in personalities to the voters during the 1932 presidential campaign.

There is little comparison between them and if the presidency were to be awarded on the basis of vibrant platform manner, aggressive charms, happy and disarming smiles, sympathetic appeal, splendidly handsome features and crusading fervor, it would be just too bad for Mr. Hoover.

Roosevelt has all those things He has more "It" than any nominee who has appeared on the scene in at least a couple of decades. He is such a handsome cuss that one of his main tasks in this campaign may be to prove that he is not "beautiful but dumb."

Serious Hoover Hoover is colorless. He stirs few warm emotions in the human breast. His smiles are few, fleeting and often a bit sour. His platform manner is heavy and dull. His voice leaves most things to be desired. His methods usually are those of the stodgy conservative. And he does not, to be gracious about it, wear the mantle of Rudolph Valentino.

Unfortunately for Roosevelt, perhaps, and most assuredly to Hoover's benefit, this is not a campaign in which many voters are going to toss their ballots to a candidate be-

Political Parties Planning New Type Of Appeals To U. S. Voters This Fall

G. O. P. Idea Is To Urge No Rerolling Of Boat, Democrats To Plead For Change.

Washington, July 11.—Whatever turn it may take in the more decisive days to come, the presidential campaign is beginning with the two major parties preparing an entirely different approach, for once, to the affections of the American voter.

The Republicans, putting their faith in a don't-rock-the-boat appeal, are making their plans on the theory that the public, in times of stress, is inclined to swing toward conservatism and try no experiments.

Following an entirely different line of reason, the Democrats are banking on the nation's readiness to reject precedents and seek a new pathway out of trouble.

It is a matter of dispute among politicians how far this situation will advance the long-awaited realignment of political groups into

"Conservatives" and "Liberals" in place of Republicans and Democrats. Developments since the Chicago conventions have deepened the belief of many leaders that such a division may be in the making. Only after days of hesitation have Al Smith and his principal supporters in the usually Conservative eastern centers announced they will support Gov. Roosevelt. How many of the rank and file of Smith followers will do likewise remains conjectural. Mr. Roosevelt's friends believe he will give his major attention to the Republican west, travelling all the way to California to attend the Olympic games and speak and confer enroute.

Conversely, the Republicans are preparing to strike first at the East. Secretary Ogden Mills, a New Yorker, will open the campaign next Monday night, speaking in Boston. In the West, Senator Norris has gone completely over to the

Slated for Film Stardom

With rumors going the rounds in Hollywood that Greta Garbo, famous Swedish movie star, may quit the American films and return to her native land, the eyes of the movie magnates are on Gwili Andre (above), whom many critics favor as the logical successor to the glamorous Garbo. Miss Andre is a Norse girl of exceptional beauty and talent. She has already demonstrated her ability to the satisfaction of producers and fans and is well on the road to stardom.

Reynolds Winner By 107,000 Ehringhaus Majority Is 13,138

Official Figures Declare Reynolds And Ehringhaus As Nominees. Strife Is Over.

M. R. DUNNAGAN

Raleigh, July 11.—John Christopher Blucher Ehringhaus was declared the Democratic nominee for governor, Robert Rice Reynolds for United States senator, and Arthur L. Fletcher for commissioner of labor, in session for that purpose here today.

The official vote for the second primary, July 2, for senate follows:
Short Term:
Reynolds	227,864
Morrison	120,426
Reynolds' majority	107,438
Total vote	348,292
Long Term:
Reynolds	221,869
Morrison	116,012
Reynolds' majority	105,857
Total vote	337,881
Governor:
Ehringhaus	182,055
Fountain	168,917
Ehringhaus' majority	13,138
Total vote	350,972
Commissioner of Labor:
Fletcher	184,203
Mitchell	114,072
Fletcher's majority	70,131
Total vote	298,275

These figures tell the story of two of the hardest state-wide intra-party simultaneous fights in the history of politics in North Carolina. They show that Reynolds won over Cameron Morrison by the largest vote ever cast in a Democratic primary, which vote surprised even the most hopeful Reynolds followers. Reynolds himself, in his most sanguine moments, would not have claimed half the 107,438 majority he received. They also show that Richard T. Fountain came up from under 47,000 lead in the first primary to within 13,000 of Ehringhaus, also a surprise. A majority for Major Fletcher over Clarence E. Mitchell was expected, the extent uncertain.

The total vote for governor or fell about 41,000 behind the nearly 390,000 cast in the first primary, but held up better than was expected. But the hatchet has been buried and the winners and losers have established friendly relations. Senator Cameron Morrison early saw his defeat and wired congratulations to Reynolds, assuring him of his support and work this fall. Fountain, delayed because of the closer vote, has congratulated Ehringhaus and given assurance of hearty support of the entire ticket. Mitchell extended congratulations to Fletcher when he found the results. All of the three successful candidates have replied in suitable terms. With the party candidates selected, all promise to unite against "the common enemy."

Crop Of Wheat Off; Corn Crop Good In County

Irish Potatoes And Cotton Short

General Food Crops Good In County. Sweet Potatoes, Cabbage, Tomatoes Lead.

With corn being "laid by" and wheat threshing about half over in Cleveland county, the farm outlook is just so-so.

Farmers in the city Saturday made the following estimates on county crops for the year:

The cotton crop is not looking so good and will be considerably shy of last year's record mark, some estimating the decrease as high as 40 per cent.

The wheat crop, due to several causes, will be only about three-fourths of last year's crop, but plans are being made for a good winter crop.

The corn crop is about the same as last year, and perhaps some better, and last year's corn crop was above the average of recent years. Just now corn is said to be in better than normal condition.

In the food crop line the Irish potato crop is to be very much off, perhaps about half. The sweet potato crop is good as last year, if not better. And the cabbage and tomato crops were considered very good.

The fruit crop, generally speaking is not very large, but food crops as a whole are considered an improvement over the county production of bygone years.

Death Mystery Is Still Not Solved; Hunt Is Continued

No New Clues To Identify Slayer Of Woman Killed More Than A Week Ago.

A murder committed in Shelby a week ago Saturday night continues to remain a mystery. Officers after a week of investigation were today without any definite clues that might give them worthwhile knowledge in their search for the slayer of Geneva, or Rena, Wilson, colored woman who was murdered some time Saturday night week ago.

The battered body of the woman was found a week ago yesterday afternoon near an alley on the east side of the Central high school campus. In the week that has elapsed officers have questioned and talked with scores of colored people. Several times they have picked up what seemed to be promising clues only to have them flicker under further investigation. One colored man was jailed last week, but was later released.

Jealousy on the part of some colored man or woman is still considered the motive of the crime, as it is believed that the woman was killed near the spot where she had gone to meet a man.

Cleveland Gives Over $6,000 For Inheritance Tax

Eighteen County Estates Paid That Amount Of Tax During Last Year.

(Special To The Star.)

Raleigh, July 11.—Estates of 940 citizens of North Carolina contributed $482,545.27, with a slight addition as bad check penalties, in inheritance tax to the State's fund for the fiscal year ended June 30, as compared with 1130 estates contributing $1,006,068.70 the year before, and inheritance tax collections of $1,385,525.45 for the year 1929-30, figures in the office of commissioner of Revenue A. J. Maxwell show.

The 1931-21 collections of less than half a million dollars from inheritance taxes were far below the $1,000,000 estimate. This tax is dependent upon deaths of residents with property, of course.

Burke High Burke with only four deaths, paid the largest amount, above $120,000 while payments from Forsyth and Guilford, with Burke's account for almost half the entire amount. Their payments with those of 10 other counties, Buncombe, Mecklenburg, Durham, Alamance, Cleveland, Rowan, Union, Catawba, Iredell and Davidson these 13 counties, paid two-thirds of the total.

Last year Durham and Forsyth paid more than half the inheritance tax, and with four other counties, Scotland, Stanly, Mecklenburg and Buncombe, paid more than two-thirds of the $1,006,068.70 collected. In 1929-30, two years ago, Forsyth, Guilford and Mecklenburg paid nearly one-half of the $1,385,525.45 in inheritance taxes, while they and five others, Buncombe, Scotland, Union, Surry and Henderson, paid two-thirds of the collections.

In Cleveland County Cleveland county had 18 estates which paid $6,270.45 in inheritance taxes for the year just ended. For the year before this county had seven estates which paid $2,786.47, and for 1929-30 estates in the county paid $3,136.17 in inheritance taxes.

These taxes are collected from one to three years after the death of the owner of the estate. The tax is due at death, with a discount of 3 percent if paid within six months, a charge of 6 percent interested after one year and a penalty of 5 percent on any part not paid in two years, but the commissioner of revenue has authority to waive penalties for cause, such as if the estate is in litigation.

Cleveland county had 18 estates which paid $6,270.45 in inheritance taxes for the year just ended. For the year before this county had seven estates which paid $2,786.47, and for 1929-30 estates in the county paid $3,136.17 in inheritance taxes.

Canning Plant And Car Of Cans Planned By Club

Equipment Coming This Week

Committee Arranging For Opening Of Community Cannery In Shelby At Early Date.

A canning plant with a capacity of 3,000 cans daily has been ordered from the Home Cannery at Hickory and will be installed today or tomorrow at the Lackey building opposite the Shelby Milk plant to the rear of the city hall.

A car load of tin cans numbering 15,000 cans will be purchased soon if the plant is favorably received and two executives are being sought to supervise the operation of the plant. One executive will be in charge of the canning plant and one executive will contract with the people who have fruits and vegetables to put up for the winter.

There was a meeting of the committee Friday afternoon at which time details of the operation of the community canner were discussed with A. E. Cline, county auditor, Mayor S. A. McMurry, Mrs. Irma Wallace. It was agreed that the cannery would be sponsored by the Kiwanis club which has bought the plant and will erect a shed outside the Lackey building. Unemployed people will be used in the operation of the plant under the direction of the plant superintendent who might be a woman or a man.

Details will be worked out as soon as possible on the plan of operating the plant. It is expected that many fruits and vegetables will be given to the plant to be canned for free distribution to the needy throughout the county. Mrs. Wallace says the members of her home clubs in various sections of the county may be depended upon to aid the plant in getting fruits and vegetables. Some canning will be done on the shares for the public, while another plan will be to charge those who expect to keep their products. The main object, however, is to accumulate a store house of canned fruits and vegetables for free distribution among the unemployed and needy throughout the county.

A printed schedule of the various plans on which canning will be done will be worked out by Dr. J. S. Dorton, chairman of the committee and Mrs. Irma Wallace and distributed throughout the county.
