He Played Market With Money Given Him As A Beggar

Danville, Va.—A few kind of a racket came to light here with the arrest of Joseph Sullivan, who gave his home as Greenville, S. C., on a charge of begging in violation of a city ordinance. Taken to police headquarters Sullivan's wallet was found to be bulging with greenbacks and he readily admitted that he had been playing the stock market with the money he was given as a beggar. He told police that he had secured $50 in one day by begging and the full amount had been played on the market. He had been here about a week, leading to complaints to the police. He is 83 years old and a German, he said.

After a Warning by Police Chief J. H. Martin, the Stranger was Released on the Understanding that He Leave Town.

It's better to be lied about than to lie about somebody else. When a fellow minds his own business, it at least gives others a chance to mind their own.
