The cake-cutting for the wedding party will be held at the home of Mrs. Laura and Nora Cornwell and Mrs. Paxton Elliott were joint hostesses on Friday evening at the cake cutting given for members of the Coble-Elliott wedding party and a few other friends, entertaining at the home of the Misses Cornwell. The bride wore a becoming dinner dress of light blue crepe.

The home was decorated throughout with quantities of fall flowers. The table in the dining room was spread with a lace cloth and centered with the pretty two-tiered white wedding cake. Tall white candles in silver holders graced each corner of the table, the candlesticks were tied with large bouquets of white tulle. When the cake was cut the emblems were cut as follows: the button by Mrs. Knox Hardin, the ring by Mr. Hardin, the wishbone by Miss Mary Gordon Elliott, which she presented to the bride for good luck, the thimble by Mrs. J. L. Parker and the heart by Mr. Bynum Weathers.

Refreshments consisted of heart-shaped ice cream, cake mints and punch. A color scheme of pink and white was carried out in detail. As the guests departed each was given a small white box of wedding cake.

Outside the immediate friends in Shelby the guests included: Rev. Charles Coble, of Douglas, Ga.; Mrs. Henry Whitley, of Greensboro, N. C.; Mrs. Will Lattimore, of Glendale, Miss. Mary Gordon Elliott, of Polkville, Miss. Margaret Lattimore of Lattimore, Miss. Lewis Patterson of Patterson Springs, N. C.; Mrs. John Elliott and John Elliott, Jr., and Mrs. Tom Lattimore, of Polkville.

Miss Belle Elliott wed to Mr. Coble. A wedding characterized by simplicity and beauty was solemnized on Saturday morning at 11 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Weathers, the latter a sister of the bride, when Miss Belle Elliott of this place became the bride of Mr. Max Coble, of Greensboro. Rev. Charles Coble, pastor of the first Presbyterian church in Douglas, Ga., and brother of the groom, performed the ceremony. The improvised altar before which the vows were spoken was of ferns and golden rod, the same combination being used in decorating the entire living room.

The nuptial music was furnished by Miss Lewis Patterson, pianist, and Mrs. Knox Hardin, a soloist. As an opening number Miss Patterson played "Flower Song" after which Mrs. Hardin sang "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life" and "I Love You Truly." McDowell's "To a Wild Rose" was softly played during the ceremony. The wedding party entered to the strains of Cohenzina's Wedding March, and Mendelssohn's Wedding March was used as a recessional.

Miss Margaret Lattimore, the brides only attendant, entered the ceremony first, wearing a fall frock of wine colored crepe and carrying an arm bouquet of Killarney roses. She was followed by the ring bearer, little John Elliott, dressed in a black velvet suit. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Elliott of Polkville, and a nephew of the bride.

The bride, who was lovely in her wedding dress of dark green crepe and satin, with dark green accessories, approached the altar alone where she was met by the groom. She carried an arm bouquet of Perpetua roses.

Mr. Coble, an attractive and capable young man, is a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Elliott of this county. She has made her home for a number of years with Mr. and Mrs. Weathers. She received her education at Davidson college and Duke university and since her graduation has taught in the county schools.

The groom is a son of Mr. D. H. Coble and the late Mrs. Coble, of near Greensboro and is a prominent farmer of Guilford county.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Coble left for a short wedding trip, after which Mrs. Coble will come back to Shelby and will teach this winter in the No. 3 school, while Mr. Coble will return to his home in Greensboro.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Jones and Mrs. Margaret M. Lattimore, the latter of Polkville, assisted in receiving and entertaining the guests. Mrs. Paxton Elliott and Miss Nora Cornwell presided in the gift room.

Al Smith Comes Out With Views On Campaign

Does Not Mention Roosevelt, Criticizes "Forgotten Man" Appeal.

New York, Former Governor Alford E. Smith, in an article in the "New Outlook," our Saturday says he believes "the success of the Democratic party in the coming election is essential to the upbuilding of our national well being."

Under a special heading, "The Forgotten Man," he writes: "We should stop talking about the forgotten man and about class distinctions...."

"The forgotten man is a myth and the sooner he disappears from the campaign the better it will be for the country."

After stating the Republican party must take the responsibility for its "unexcusable mistakes which have intensified the bad times," he writes:

"To all intents and purposes the campaign may be said to be over. The real question is what will the Democratic party do with its victory? A change of government of itself does not insure improvement of conditions."

"On the other hand, the Democratic party has the great advantage of a liberal background and record. In the past it has revealed to be hospitable to new ideas...."

"The first issue to be decided is what elements will control the Democratic party, because it must be admitted that the party is not united and that it is composed of a number of conflicting elements and interests. This was clearly indicated at the recent Chicago convention."

"With some of the elements and forces in the party, I am completely out of sympathy—not for personal reasons, but because I believe that they are inimical to the best interests of the country."

"In my opinion the Democratic party must purge itself of these interests if it is to serve the nation in this crisis."

The former governor, unsuccessful in his fight for the Democratic nomination at Chicago, does not make the "interests" to which he refers.

In declaring his belief that the "hope of the country" lies in a Democratic victory, he does not mention by name either Governor Roosevelt, the presidential nominee, or Speaker Garner, vice-presidential candidate.

He devotes several hundred words to a criticism of the Republican administration.

He declares the country is "set for a change."

His paragraphs on the election are at the end of his four-page article, which also discusses signs of returning prosperity, his own public works program, the Reconstruction Finance corporation, and prohibition.

He calls on voters to apply the "acid test" to all congressional candidates "to determine their prohibition stand."

He predicts that if the prohibition fight continues long enough there will be an attempt made to cut all enforcement appropriation from the budget.

He criticizes President Hoover's prohibition stand and says he looks for a "slam battle" from now on over the kind of repeal or modification amendment to be submitted to the states.

The article is contained in the first issue of the magazine appearing under Smith's editorship.

A foreword says the former New York governor will carry out (as editor) the tradition of independent thinking which was built up by his predecessor, Henry Ward Beecher, Lyman Abbott and Theodore Roosevelt.

It also says that Smith "comes to the editorship... opening allegiance to no political party or religious or financial group."

"It takes lots of money to carry one of the states," says an experienced politician, who has discovered that cash and carry go hand in hand.—Norfolk Ledger-Dispatch.

The war department probably will not issue a campaign ribbon for the battle of Washington, Clement (Fla.) Press.

Germany has ordered another "pocket battleship." The word "pocket" is supposed to denote the cruiser's size, but it is a word that intrigues us just the same.

Men won't keep their monopolies of the hatless fad. The dinky little things women wear indicate that the dear creatures are weaning themselves.

But if there are no perfect people, what becomes of the children of those who write books on the art of child training?

Annie Roosevelt, who is probably no relation to the Democratic Presidential nominee, is listed among those who apparently do not need their dollars.

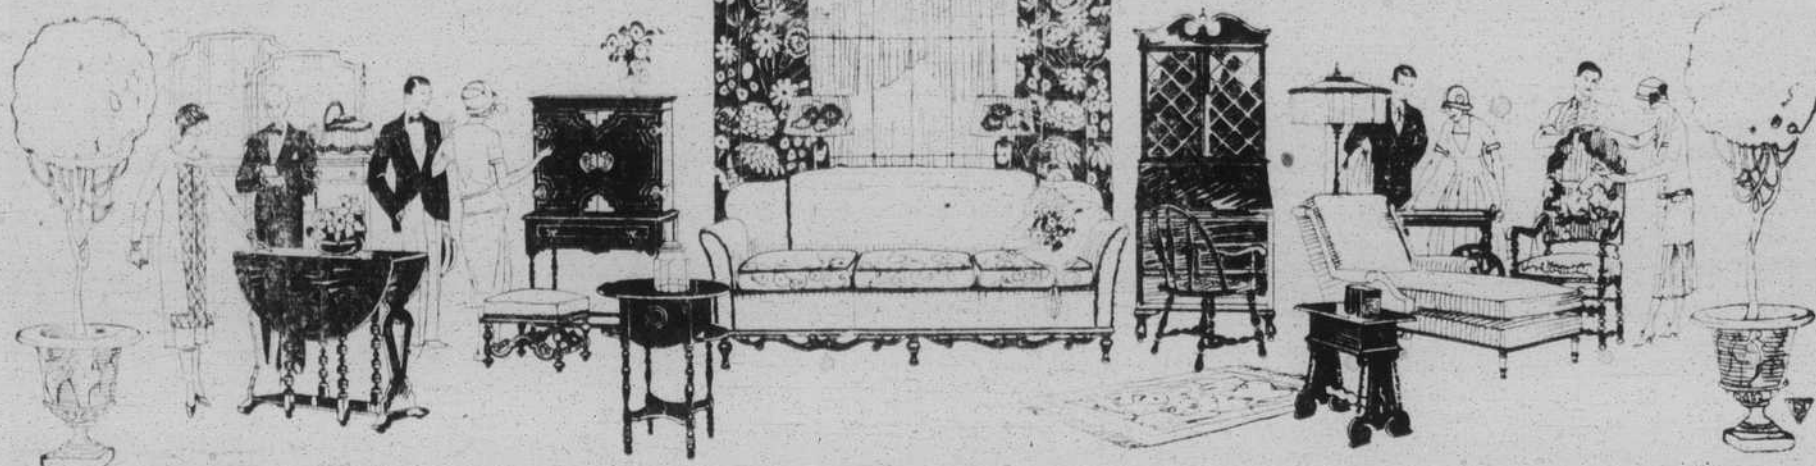

Savings bank accounts in New York become dormant after 20 years, while unclaimed deposits in trust companies and state banks are published after five years during which there has been no presentation of the bank book.

Quite a buyers' drive could be started should the money be thrown into circulation, Flynn declared. He said scores of jobs could be provided if the money was utilized to that end.
