Junior Red Cross Holds Meeting

The first meeting of the year of the Junior Red Cross of Graham school was held in the school auditorium this morning. Officers for the year had been previously elected as follows: Ada Ramsay Wall, president; Grady Dover, vice president; Jack Gaffney, secretary; and Virginia Falls, treasurer. Miss Wall, the president, called the meeting to order and presided. An entertaining program was opened with the singing of the Junior Red Cross song by the school. A Bible story, "Jonathan and David" was told by Forrest Glass, after which the group united in the Lord's Prayer. The Junior Red Cross pledge was given by the entire school, followed by a talk on What Juniors in the United States and Foreign Countries are Doing, by Elizabeth Falls. Reports on the work from each grade were given. "The Best Story" in the October Junior magazine was told by Grady Dover, and suggestions for the work during October were given by the principal, Miss Louise Gill. At the close of the program the children contributed to a pouncing for the school janitor who was badly hurt last week.

At The Theatres

"Downstairs" is the feature at the Webb today, with John Gilbert in the leading role. Gilbert in this picture makes an unusual departure from the conventional hero role to play a blackmailing chauffeur. The girls in the cast are Virginia Bruce and Hedda Hopper, with Paul Lucas supporting. "Night Mayor" with Lee Tracy, star of "Blessed Event," is the headliner at the Webb beginning Thursday. "Night Mayor" carries a theme never before set forth on the screen. It is an interesting portrayal of what the night life of a high public official might be like. Evelyn Knapp is the girl supporting Tracy.

"Western Limited" with Estelle Taylor in the leading role, is the feature at the Carolina today only. Short subjects include "Voice of Hollywood," "Chinese Jinks," and serial chapter "Jungle Mystery." The feature coming Thursday and Friday is "The Most Dangerous Game," the kind of picture that starts you thinking of "Frankenstein" and the other thrillers of recent months. The monster in "The Most Dangerous Game" however is not a man-made being, but a normally created man who, strangely enough, finds sport in hunting and killing men so he can love their women. In the cast are Joel McCrea, Fay Wray, Leslie Banks and Robert Armstrong.

First Snowfall In Rockies This Week

Denver—The first threat of winter in the Rocky mountain area has been turned aside. Clearing skies and rising temperatures Tuesday followed traces of snow Monday here and at Cheyenne, Casper and Laramie, Wyoming.

"Rich Man's Disease" Is Vanishing

Cases of Gout, Once Common in England and In This Country, Rare Now.

By Royal S. Copeland, M. D. United States Senator from New York. Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

TO the victim, gout is a terrible affliction. To the student of medicine, it is one of the most interesting of our many diseases. This ailment, seldom heard of today, used to be looked upon as a "rich man's disease" and was common in England. It has greatly decreased over here, and is rare in this country.

Faulty nutrition is really the chief factor in gout. Since the causes of malnutrition are more clearly understood, we know how to deal with that disorder, and many disabilities, including gout, have disappeared.

Gout really is a constitutional disturbance due to an excessive amount of uric acid in the blood, and those who show a tendency to this disease are called "gouty."

When certain persons eat food rich in certain substances called "purins" they show "gouty" infections. Then deposits of uric acid form in the joints, the big toe being the one most commonly affected.

Attacks of gout usually follow a few days of sickness of some sort. This illness may vary from mild constipation, indigestion, headache and restlessness to severe general prostration.

Purpose of Treatment

Usually an attack occurs in the middle of the night. The pain is extremely severe. The afflicted joint becomes red, swollen, hot and painful and there may be fever, thirst and marked digestive disturbances. The pain comes on periodically, but is apt to subside during the day. This condition is often confused with rheumatism, but differs from the latter in that only the small joints are affected by gout, and the fever is not as high as it is in rheumatism. Likewise, the pain and tenderness are less marked in rheumatism than they are in gout. The pain of gout is periodic, while in rheumatism it is continuous. Though chronic gout is often difficult to cure, most cases respond readily to our present day treatment. The purpose of the treatment is reduction of uric acid to this end foods which form uric acid, particularly those containing purins, must be omitted from the diet. Meats and meat extractives, such as bouillon and beef extracts, sweetbreads, liver, kidneys and brains are detrimental to the welfare of the gouty individual.

Temperance Essential

Temperance in eating and drinking is essential. Starchy dishes and fried foods should be avoided. Alcohol, coffee and tea should not be permitted. Overeating quickly brings about an attack of gout in a susceptible individual.

Alkaline and certain other mineral waters have long been considered useful in the treatment of this disease. Constipation and other digestive disorders must be corrected before a cure can be expected. Attention to the general body hygiene is important. Moderate eating at regular hours with regular hours of sleep, exercise, daily bathing, fresh air and sunlight, are a few of the daily requirements for the sufferer from gout.

A Card of Thanks

We wish to extend our appreciation for the loving kindness shown us through courtesies and the beautiful floral offerings at the death of our dear father and husband, William Williams.

Morganton Inmates Can Pay Own Way

Raleigh, Oct. 5.—Thad Eure, assistant state director of personnel, today returned to Raleigh with the statement that about one out of every 15 or 20 patients in the State hospital at Morganton is able to pay for part of his keep. Eure was sent to the western institution to investigate records of patients to see if they or their guardians were able to help pay the state for their treatment in accordance with an act passed by the 1931 general assembly.

Many Go To Work In Pittsburgh Area

Pittsburgh, Oct. 3.—More than 3,600 men and women—bread winners for about 20,000 people—returned to work today in 3 Pittsburgh district's great industrial plants.

Resumption within the next week will restore jobs to about 1,830 more. The accelerated activity extends to tin plate mills, glass plants, iron and steel works and railroad shops. Many of the newly-employed workers will receive their first pay envelopes in months, and even a year.

Expect Change Dry Law After Election

Washington.—Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, said this week he expected early modification of the Volstead act if Governor Roosevelt is elected, possibly at the session of Congress starting in December.

"There is no question," Wheeler said at a press conference after his western trip. "That if Governor Roosevelt is elected the Volstead act will be modified. I would not be surprised to see it happen at the next session. Certainly I believe it will be as soon as the newly elected Congress meets."

"I think every member of Congress realizes what a tremendous change of sentiment has taken place in the country. States heretofore dry are today aflame for repeal."
