South Carolina Man In Bowling Car

Truck Swerved Into J. C. Bowling's Auto In Charlotte On Wednesday.

Woodrow Loveless of Inman, S. C., died in a Charlotte hospital Wednesday afternoon from injuries received when an automobile in which he was riding collided with a truck on West Morehead street...

The truck, driven by J. J. King of 214 Marietta street, Gastonia, swerved into the car driven by J. C. Bowling of Shelby and in which Loveless was riding. It was reported that the driver of the truck swerved the truck in an attempt to avoid striking the rear of a bus that had stopped suddenly to avoid colliding with a Piedmont and Northern freight train at the boulevard crossing.

Loveless was taken to the hospital where he died about 3:30 p. m.

Mr. Bowling's car was headed west while the truck and the bus were coming into Charlotte. The truck hit the right side of the Bowling car, the side occupied by Loveless. Mr. Bowling was not injured. King and Bowling were placed under a $500 bond each pending investigation of the accident.

Shelby Post Office Addition Among Projects Approved

Suttle Again Moderator Of K. M. Association

Head Of Group 20 Years; Elam Vice Moderator

Association Drawing Large Crowds

Rev. J. V. Devenny Is Clerk. Rev. D. F. Putnam And Rev. W. G. Camp Preach.

Rev. John W. Suttle, who has served the Kings Mountain Baptist association as moderator for the past twenty years, was re-elected to this office yesterday at New Bethel Baptist church near Lawndale.

Fully 1,000 people were present, and the attendance today, for the final sessions, is said to eclipse the crowds of yesterday. While all church reports had not been compiled by the clerk, J. V. Devenny, indications are that the largest and most fruitful revivals held in years were held during the past summer and the total enrollment bids fair to exceed 11,000 in the 42 churches comprising the association. The association this week is being more largely attended than usual and a fine spirit is being manifested in Kingdom work.

Abundant Dinner
The tremendous crowd was served the noon meals in the beautiful grove of the churchyard on a table fully 200 feet long. Everything to eat was in abundance and prepared in a most delicious manner. New Bethel is one of the oldest churches of the association and has a magnificent brick building, completed a few years ago. All of the people of the community co-operated in the entertainment of the delegates and visitors. Several churches have put in invitations for the association to meet with them next year.

Other Officials Selected
Rev. W. A. Elam was elected vice president. Rev. J. V. Devenny, clerk; C. J. Black, historian and George Blanton, treasurer. A committee was appointed to amend the constitution so that the newly elected officers can serve through the next annual session.

Causes Presented
Rev. D. F. Putnam preached the introductory sermon on "Keys of the Kingdom of Heaven" which was declared to be a scholarly and soul-stirring deliverance. Dr. Alexander, pastor of the First Baptist church of Thomasville presented the cause of the Mills home. Horace Eason outlined the every member canvass. Dr. Zeno Wall the co-operative program. Rev. J. B. Davis foreign missions. Rev. J. M. Page state missions.

Last night Rev. W. G. Camp of Cherrylville preached the doctrinal sermon while the review of the B. Y. P. U. work was under the direction of Mrs. L. H. Ledford. Large crowds attended last night's session and this morning there was another huge gathering of delegates and visitors for today's final session.

Mrs. Ples Bostic was recognized by the association, her husband having gone out from this country as a missionary to China and gave his life to foreign mission work. His body is buried in the country where he wrought so effectively in mission work among the heathens.

Thos. Heafner Dies This Morn

Former Citizen Of Union Community Passes In West Shelby. Funeral Saturday.

Thomas Heafner, age 73, died this morning at his home in West Shelby following a decline in health extending over several months. He had been confined to his bed about two weeks. The end came at 2 o'clock this morning from a complication of troubles.

Mr. Heafner spent all of his life in the Union community until he moved to Shelby 1922. He was a farmer and a very thrifty, substantial and law-abiding citizen, with pronounced opinions. Those who knew him, speak in highest terms of his splendid life. He was three times married, to Susan Short, Hatie Wilson and Amelia Dixon. His last wife preceded him to the grave in 1923.

Surviving are three children, Bill, Frank and Mrs. Rosie McDaniel. He was a member of the Union Baptist church and a Mason. Over 500 Teachers, Committeemen Expected In Shelby Saturday Week For All-Day Meet; Allen To Speak County-Wide Educational Meeting To Be Held, Morning And Afternoon Program.

A county-wide educational meeting, one of the largest held here in years, is announced for Shelby on Saturday, Oct. 15.

It will be an all-day affair and will be held in the Central high school auditorium.

Those expected to be present will include all county and city teachers, all school committeemen of county and Shelby and Kings Mountain schools, the county board of education, the county commissioners, the members of the county board of health, and officials and members of county and city Parent-Teacher associations together with all patrons who desire to attend.

Will Be Big Number

If all these attend, which is being urged in the interest of improving county education, the attendance should be around 500. In the county and in Kings Mountain and Shelby there are over 300 teachers. The committeemen in county and city schools will number 100, not to count the members of the several county boards and the Parent-Teacher officials and members.

Allen Will Speak

The morning program will be devoted to a general discussion of various educational programs, with members of all groups taking part and offering their ideas from their particular viewpoint. In the afternoon the main feature will be an address by Dr. A. T. Allen, state superintendent of public instruction.

Originally the meeting was planned for county teachers, committeemen and officials, but the city boards of Shelby and Kings Mountain became interested in the conference and the two boards and the two superintendents, B. H. Smith and Claude Grigg, are now cooperating with County Supt. J. H. Grigg in making the day an educational highlight.

High Praise Given Cline For His Efficient Public Record In County

Retiring County Accountant Lauded For Business-Like Government Here.

A. E. Cline, who is retiring voluntarily on the first Monday in December as county accountant after eleven years of public service, was lauded by members of the Kiwanis club last night at a program sponsored by the chairman of the program committee, B. L. Smith.

Not Political Praise

"This recognition of Mr. Cline's faithful and efficient administration has no political significance whatever," said Capt. Smith, as he called attention to the fact that Mr. Cline is retiring voluntarily and is seeking no further honors at the hands of the public. "May we expect, however, the same efficient and capable management from the incoming administration," added Captain Smith.

Praise For Mr. Ryburn
Speakers were J. S. Dorton, J. H. Grigg and D. Z. Newton. As a special guest, the club had R. L. Ryburn, the dean of the bar association, who was given credit by the speakers and by Mr. Cline himself as having been responsible in a large measure for the business-like administration Cleveland county has had in the last dozen years.

Man Who Can Say "No"

Dr. Dorton, secretary of the fair association of which Mr. Cline has been president since its organization, said he often sought Mr. Cline's advice and counsel and always found him ready to say "yes" when yes was the wisest answer and "no" when no was for the public welfare. "Mr. Cline is no politician or diplomat, but a hard-headed business man who has made a study of government and always acted according to his better judgment rather than public favor," he added.

Friendly To Schools

Mr. Cline's friendship for public education was praised by J. H.

No Airport Here But Shelby Shows Air-Mindedness

The Shelby airport was plowed up and put in cotton some time back and thus the city went off the airway maps and was listed as a back number in the aviation world, but that doesn't mean Shelby people are not "air-minded."

Col. Grady should know. He came here from Charlotte last week with his plane and found around 200 people willing to pay a buck or more to see the city from the air. Finding so many interested in aviation, he will bring his plane back Saturday, and perhaps other week-ends until he gets the town back on the air lines.

Mr. Sarratt Falls And Breaks His Hip

O. C. Sarratt, 92 year old Confederate veteran, is in the hospital with a broken hip. He fell this morning as he was walking up town from the residence of his son-in-law, Dr. R. M. Gidney on East Marion street where he makes his home.

Mr. Sarratt has been in very good health for a man of his age and usually able to be up-town every day to chat with his friends on the topics of the day. He was coming up this morning when he missed his footing as he attempted to mount a couple of steps. He was crossing the street in front of the Morehead Inn, the L. U. Arrowood home. This precipitated him to the ground and his right hip was broken. He was rushed to the hospital.

Colored Boy Gone After Talking To Union White Girl

Reported To Have Asked Girl For Date, Departs Hurriedly From Section.

A colored youth who is alleged to have asked a young white woman of the Union section for a date has departed from that section, it was learned today, after he found out that it might be healthier for him to reside elsewhere.

The incident is said to have taken place Wednesday. The negro passed by the home where the young woman lived and asked to see her, presumably about some school books. After talking with her for a minute or so, mentioning something, it is said, about her being in love, he said something about having a date that night. The girl ordered him to leave and reentered the house to tell what occurred. News of the incident spread about the section and there was some excitement for a time. During the evening, however, the negro was told, it was said here today, that it would be best for him to leave, which he did.

End Of Smith-Roosevelt Feud

Here is pictured the meeting for which the country has waited breathlessly since the Democratic Convention in Chicago. Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt and former Alfred E. Smith, once bosom friends who have been recently estranged, are shown in a happy reunion on the speakers' platform at the New York State Democratic Convention in Albany. Their public reconciliation is hailed by Democrats as putting the final seal on party harmony. In center is James A. Farley, Roosevelt's campaign manager and Chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

Farmers To Be Allowed Nine Cents On Cotton As Collateral For Aid

To Be Taken For Loans, Bulwinkle Aided, Can Sell To March 1

Washington, Oct. 5.—The agriculture department announced today it had agreed to liberalize the terms of crop production loans in the cotton states by a plan involving acceptance of cotton as collateral on the basis of nine cents a pound.

The following statement was issued today by Henry S. Clarke, director of the 1932 crop production loan office:

"At the request of a large number of senators and congressmen, co-operative associations and individuals in the cotton growing states, the Secretary of Agriculture has

First Frost Of Year This Morn

Those who gauge the fall season by the first frost may now officially label the beginning of fall.

The first frost of the year was evident throughout this entire section this morning. It was a heavy frost and traces of it could be seen some time after sun rise. The frost followed rains and cooler weather earlier in the week.

Sheriff Mailing Tax Notices Now

It's tax-paying time again in Cleveland county.

Sheriff Irvin M. Allen this week began mailing out the 1932 county tax notices and each out-going mail is filled with notices of tax bills, all showing the appreciable reduction made in the rate again this year.

The work in filling out the tax books was completed last week and early this week and they are now in the sheriff's office for collection. It was said today that collections have been good so far and Sheriff Allen and Chief Deputy Ed Dixon are set for their hardest working period of the year.

This month, October, a discount of one percent is given on taxes paid. During November the discount will be one-half of one percent. The rate will be flat for December and January and a penalty will go in February and thereafter.

Construction Work To Start In Spring, Said

Comes Under Garner Relief Bill

Treasury Approves $85,000 Allocation For Work Here. No Date Set.

That the needed enlarging of the Shelby post office, for which a congressional allocation has been hanging fire for some time, will be done at an early date is more assured since the approval of the project this week by the secretary of the treasury and the postmaster general. The announcement of the approval from Washington informed that the original construction sum of $85,000 was permitted to stand.

Just when actual construction work may start is not known. Major A. L. Bulwinkle, congressman for this district, in a conversation with The Star expressed the opinion that construction would not likely start before spring. Major Bulwinkle was in Washington for several days three weeks ago, and while there conferred with officials and presented the needs of larger quarters here.

Others, discussing the approval of the project, are skeptical about any immediate construction. The project, it is pointed out, comes under the head of the Garner-Wagner construction relief bill, which became effective three months ago. In that period of time no actual work has been started to give employment to those out of jobs, and in the meantime Republican leaders among them President Hoover in his Iowa speech, called the Garner bill "a pork barrel program." Projects under that heading are being approved, although termed "pork" enactment, just prior to election, perhaps with the idea winning favor.

The Washington dispatch, tell of the approval of the Shelby but

Democrats Plan To Meet Tonight And On Saturday

Open Speaking Campaign At Fallston This Evening, Leaders Meet Tomorrow.

The 1932 campaign will be officially inaugurated by Cleveland county Democrats tonight and tomorrow.

Tonight, at 7:30, the organization of Young Democrats will fire their first gun with a political rally and speaking at the Fallston school. The chief speakers will be John G. Carpenter, Gastonia solicitor, and Capt. Peyton McSwain of Shelby. It is hoped to have all county candidates present.

Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock Democratic leaders old and young will assemble at the court house in Shelby to outline their formal campaign program. All chairmen and members of precinct committees are urged to be present, along with county candidates, party workers and others.

At that time the speaking program will be arranged. Local speakers for points in the county will be discussed as well as the dates for bringing some of the state leaders here.

It has already been assured that two of the best campaigners, Bob Reynolds and John C. B. Ehringhaus, will come. Reynolds may speak on the 27th, or thereabouts, in Shelby, while Ehringhaus hopes to appear at Kings Mountain some time between the 10th and 20th.

Star's Error Cause Of Disappointment

Belmont, Oct. 6.—Readers of The Star are in the habit of believing what it says, but believing The Star this week caused disappointment to quite a few people. The Star carried an announcement in its Monday's issue that the Kings Mountain Baptist association would meet on Wednesday and Thursday at New Bethel Baptist church. Quite a few from this community went to attend, but were disappointed. The association is meeting on Thursday and Friday. The Star took notice of its error Wednesday, stating that the wrong calendar month was responsible for the mistake.
