Ohio, West Virginia, New Jersey, Oregon, Alabama, Florida, and New York for district delegates only.

Q. What part of the country is called "Down East?"

A. The coast states of New England, especially Maine, which is termed "way down East."

Q. What kind of motors has Kaye Don's speed boat, Miss England III?

A. The type of the motors, developed by the British Air Ministry, has been kept secret. This type has won for Britain, speed records in the air, and on land and sea. About all that is known is that they have twelve cylinders, were built by the Rolls Royce company, develop 4400 horsepower and weigh only thirteen ounces per horse power.

Veteran Farmer Praises Soy Beans

Vigorous in Growth, Easy to Cultivate and Mature in Short Time.

(By Extension Department.)

C. R. Hudson, veteran farm demonstration worker at State college, and the man who began county agent work in North Carolina 25 years ago, acclaims the soybean as one of the state's greatest crops and considers its spread over this state as one of the greatest agricultural accomplishments of recent times.

Recounting the use of soybean, Mr. Hudson says the farmer of eastern Carolina uses them in the drills between the hills of corn, in the middles between the rows, separately in rows, and broadcasted.

"Soybeans are vigorous in growth, easy to cultivate and mature in a short time," he says. "Usually they do not decrease the crop of corn when planted with it and are often worth as much as the corn crop itself. The beans are used for grazing livestock, especially hogs; mowing for forage; turning under for soil improvement, and are harvested for seed leaving the vines and stalks on the land. They make a fine quality of hay and cure more readily than most hays. They stand wet weather better than cowpeas and are not badly injured by dry weather."

As a sales crop, the hay and seed both bring good prices, he declares. In many communities of eastern Carolina farmers are building up their soils with this crop while at the same time they are selling seed and hay.

Nor is the soybean confined to eastern Carolina. Plantings are being increased rapidly in the western part of the state as farmers learn of their value.

It is not generally known that North Carolina gave the soybean to the nation, says Hudson. A campaign to increase the popularity of the legume was conducted in the state several years ago when only a small acreage was planted in the extreme coastal section. Now the crop is one of the most popular in the mid-west corn country.

Report of Lytton Commission Provides Big Test for League

Findings, Condemning Japan for Manchurian Imbrogio, Places Responsibility for Next Move Up to League of Nations. Japs Reported Mobilizing.

Borrowing a few words from the ceremony of publishing the bans, it may be said that the League of Nations must speak now or forever after hold its peace. With the publication of the Lytton report on Manchuria, that aggregation is facing the biggest test of its adequacy that has confronted it since its inception. The Lytton Commission, comprised of the Earl of Lytton, British chairman; General Frank R. McCoy, unofficial American representative; General Henri Edouard Claudel, of France; Dr. Heinrich Schnee, Germany, and Count Luigi Aldrovandi-Marascati, Italy, has spent all Spring and Summer digging for evidence to determine the right and wrong of the Manchurian imbrogio. The result of the commission's travels in the province of the Manchus, its study of tons of documentary evidence and its questionings of representatives of both sides of the controversy has resulted in its placing the blame for the "unofficial war" on the shoulders of Japan, and at the same time criticizing China for some of her acts that provoked the invasion. In Washington, the report is seen as a vindication of our State Department's action in refusing to recognize the newly-created state of Manchukuo, which the Lytton document characterizes as unjustified, formed and supported by Japanese military officials without the consent of the local population. The question that now intrigues the world is what the League will do with the report. It comes up for consideration on November 14, but no one believes that Japan will tamely submit to any interference from the international body or anyone else.

Farm That Does Not Pay May Be In Need Of A Re-organization

Small, Separate Tracts Are Not Profitable, Definite Cropping Plan Needed.

(By Extension Department.)

A farm broken up into small, poorly-shaped fields on which no systematic crop rotation is practiced usually does not pay. When such farms have been reorganized, better results have been secured.

"This is the finding of the North Carolina experiment station in reorganizing several farms at the request of owners in both piedmont and eastern North Carolina," says R. H. Rogers of the department of agricultural economics at State college. "We have analyzed a number of farms where we found fields about three acres in size and no definite crop rotation followed. A sound cropping plan is impossible on such small, numerous fields and as a result production costs are high. Cover crops needed to reduce erosion and soil building legume crops are generally absent from the farming program and most of the plant food has to be bought each year."

On such farms, Rogers finds the labor to be over-worked during a few months and practically idle for other long periods.

The experience of past years in reorganizing farms shows first the necessity of an inventory of all property; next, the need of a detailed map of the farm; third, a definite cropping plan, which may be changed as needed; fourth, fields rearranged to suit the cropping plan adopted; fifth, addition of livestock according to the amount of feed produced and sixth, a budget of production and farm income.

Mr. Rogers believes that a simple farm record should be kept of returns from fields and crops and that the outlook information issued each spring should be carefully studied.

By following these general plans, it has been possible to increase farm earnings from 10 to 20 percent, he says.

Now the fish are learning that all is not gold that glitters. For an Arkansas doctor who painted his minnows with mercurochrome to make them look like gold fish scored a record catch. Base dealer!

Roosevelt Visit Not Yet Definite

Raleigh.—State Democratic headquarters this week was still without any definite information as to whether Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic presidential nominee, will visit Raleigh during his trip through the south.

J. Wallace Winborne, state chairman, said he had been promised notification as soon as Roosevelt made definite plans but had received no word.

Yesterday Robert R. Reynolds, Senatorial nominee, telegraphed state headquarters he wanted to be here October 18, when "Roosevelt will be there."

Yesterday it was announced in Albany that Roosevelt's swing south will start October 17, instead of October 12 as tentatively set.

Germany has ordered another "pocket battleship." The word "pocket" is supposed to denote the cruiser's size, but it is a word that intrigues us just the same.

Deny Anyone There Starved To Death

Beaufort, S. C.—Beaufort county citizens, through E. C. Wilson, editor of the Beaufort Gazette issued a statement denying that anyone had died in this county from starvation and asserting that Beaufort people "are not the kind to see such a thing happen to any person, white or colored."

The statement was prompted by a report based on vital statistics records which said Sarah Smalls, 42, negro, of Seabrook, and a negro child at Sheldon had died from malnutrition.

In Good Times and Bad —Your Service Improves

SOME of our customers have commented favorably upon the fact that telephone service is better than ever, despite the depression, and that their telephone friends seem as anxious as ever to satisfy the individual needs of subscribers.

This is gratifying, but quite natural when one considers that service comes first with telephone people and that they regard it as a serious obligation to serve the needs of the public efficiently, twenty-four hours a day, in good times and bad times.

During the past ten years the number of telephones in practically every community has doubled, and in some instances tripled. With this growth the service has become more complex but there has been a constant improvement due to scientific inventions, new methods and practices and a more skilled and experienced personnel. The value of the service has grown to the extent that it is regarded by many as the cheapest form of service that can be bought.

That the increased quantity and quality of the service has not been accompanied by a greater cost to the user is because of economies effected by new inventions and practices which have been passed on to the telephone user public in the form of more and better service.

Although your telephone company has suffered a serious loss in telephones and an enormous loss in revenue, there are still many more telephones in service than there were five years ago and the cost, compared with the value, scope and quality of the service is much less than it ever has been.

Telephone people have faced the depression cheerfully. They have accepted shorter hours in order that the work might be spread among as many as possible and with a determination to fulfill their obligation to render the best possible service at the lowest possible cost consistent with financial safety.
