

Nobody's Business

By GEE MCGEE

Sadie sue green's big party a nice movie show party was given last Tuesday evening by little sadie sue green when she invited her many friends to her house as the secker-tery of the sunbeams of rehober church.

after playing 10 or 15 games in the setting room of the sumptuous home of her mother who is a widder onner count of her husband got killed last year, some ho-made candy was passed around amongst the youngsters and it was enjoyed by all.

The surprise of the evening came when sadie sue climbed up on the chifferobe and announced that she was going to take all of her guesstes to the moving pitcher show and she would pay c3 on each ticket and all the chilluns would pay the other c5. about 10 out of the 25 was able to go, as they had a nickle with them.

The pitcher which was at the "egyption" was entitled: "two-fingered pete foils 3-gun botts" and it was a western with cowboys and cow-girls and cows and horses and sheep and catts running all over the pastors with men after them throwing ropes around their horns ansforth. after the pitcher had been run nearly 4 times, they all got up and went out.

many cute things have been said about sadie sue since she was so good to her little friends. she useter to be stucke up when her ma inherited some money from her gramma, but as she lost it in the bank, the whole family settled down and now seem to be just as common as her nabors. so sadie sue visits nearly everybody on her street that will let her come over.

after the pitcher show, the young folks returned back to sadie sue's home and played 5 or 6 times on the graffer-foam and also talked a right smart over the tellyfoam to the girls who did not get invited. sadie sue's mother, Mrs. green, passed around some ginger cakes about 5:40 p. m., and told all of them to gather up their little hats and their little shoes and things and go home.

mr. editor, please print this in yore society colium, as I promised Mrs. green that I would see that she got some prominence for "little sadie sue" out of this party. she had all 4 of dr. brown's little girls at the party; he is a widower and Mrs. green thinks well of him and would

Remarkable Results of New Colds-Control Plan of Special Interest to Mothers and Teachers

Last winter, comparative tests of Vicks Plan for better Control-of-Colds were made among 862 children in nine schools. A group of 429 did not follow the Plan—and lost a total of 501 days on account of colds. The other group of 433 followed the Plan—and lost a total of only 178 days on account of colds. A saving of practically two-thirds in school time!

It aint quite right for me to criticise or condemn business methods and practices of other folks, but I have made a fair success with a peanut stand, having shown enough profit in 3 years to pay for my goober parcher and the umbrella that protects it from the cold, cold rain, and that will possibly excuse me for trying to tell John Doe how he should have handled his affairs.

It is generally understood that the I. C. commission controls the railroads, lock, stock and barrel. They permitted the Pullman surcharge, which murdered the passenger traffic; they inaugurated the 2 percent emergency charge, which lynched the freight haulage; and they have kept freight rates up during the present bad conditions, which gave birth to the truck and bus business. Furthermore, they have all kinds of restrictions that hamper and hinder the public.

Think of a business firm trying to run like it ran 2 or 4 or 20 years ago. It simply can't be done. The railroads had a monopoly for 75 years—to the advent of good roads and trucks, and now if looks like they must adjust their rules, rates and regulations to fit the times. When you have to pay for being loyal, loyalty becomes mighty scarce. We can't do without the railroads and exist, but until the railroads do something to help themselves, nobody aint going to render any help.

If the government would let the railroads folks handle their own affairs, they would get back on their feet in less than 6 months. Politicians don't know any more about what the railroads need or want than I know about relativity, yet they dictate, boss and harass the railroads from the switch-engine to the parlor car. If you'll show me business that is holding its own that has not met competition during the past 2 years, I'll show you the difference between an atom and an atom.

We still have nearly all of our war-time freight rates. Some rates have been cut on some commodities, but it hasn't helped anybody. You either have to take 40,000 to 80,000, or be deprived of the lowered rates. If times were normal and the public had any money or could make a living they would not kick; but why should men expect to receive more for a day's work than their brother gets for a day's work?

For Sale: One nice goober parcher and umbrella, price and terms right, except must have cash for the outfit. Reason for selling, an accounting on being elected president of a big road, or elevated to the chairmanship of the I. C. commission. rite or foam. Yores truly, Gee McGee.

Belwood News Of Current Week

Mrs. J. H. Hawkins Badly Mangled Near Marion. Was Aiding Children.

Marion, Nov. 2.—Mrs. J. H. Hawkins, 60, of Glenwood, was instantly killed near here by a passenger train Monday afternoon while she was on her way to save her children from the danger of coming home across streams swollen out of their banks by heavy rains.

She feared that they would not be able to safely come home along the highway, so she set off down the railway track to the school house to escort them home back along the railroad.

In the heavy downpour she had donned a large raincoat and drawn it about her head so that she did not hear the train approaching from behind until it was upon her.

The pilot of the engine caught her body and dragged it for about 50 feet down the track before the train could be stopped. When the train crew gathered up the body, they found that it had been mangled almost beyond recognition.

Parts of her body were strewn along track over the entire 50 feet. Death was instantaneous.

A local undertaker brought the body into Marion, where Coroner J. F. Jonas examined it and decided that an inquest would not be necessary.

The accident occurred on the C. C. and O. railway at Glenwood, four miles south of here.

The deceased was the mother of a large family, and is survived by her husband and a number of children.

Next Tuesday will be lecture day with dinner on the grounds, as usual. The voting follows an extended season of speech-making wherein all parties have made promises and told lies enuf to send 'em to a region of eternal fire. The voting will be done in one of these little cloth tents—which is rite and proper since everybody is ashamed of their party an wants tu hide their face while they vote.

Hit use to be before politics got so low—down that a body didn't care fur folks a knowing how they voted but that wuz a long time ago. I'll declare tu goodness if I know what we're a coming tu, but we've started. Sum day when you don't have tu be a dodging them you owe, take time and look at the pictures of the first presidents down tu about old Andy Jackson and jist take notice that they look a whole lot more intelligent than those who hit has bin our lot tu have tu suffer under in recent years. Generally speaking hit is the same way with the governors. I don't know what is the matter with folks unless hit is that they're got so much eddication that they haint got no sense these times. I reckon me an Sal will go tu the lectioin but I don't know how we'll vote fur I don't know which side will pay the highest price. Talking about politics makes me think of Bill's old mule what tuck the collic and died last July.

The weather wuz powful hot and Bill kinder lazy and good natured like jist let the old mule lie thar in his barn lot until the atmosphere became so laden with perfume that the sum of his neighbors left home till the buzzards got dose holdin the inquest. Me and Sal stayed at home and stood hit like heroes, fur Sal sed hit wern't no worse than tu have tu live through a presidential campaign whar whiskey wuz the issue. You can stand a whole lot if you'll shet both eyes rite tight then hold your nose. We could sarter put up with the rest of hit if hit wern't spoiled.

Parents-Teachers To Meet Today Library Transferred; Patrons To Send Children.

(Special to The Star) Lawndale, Oct. 31.—The Parents-Teachers Association will meet Wednesday November 2, 1932. Plans will be outlined for the year's work and several important projects will be discussed. A good program of entertainment has been arranged, and every patron is urged to be present.

The High Library is to be transferred to the main building, except that reference books will remain in present library building, and be used there. A reading room has already been arranged, which is used by some group practically every period in the day. There are some thirty-five publications available for the use by pupils. The school subscribes to fifteen magazines and newspapers, while others are donated by the teachers, or sent free to the school from various governmental or other agencies. Every teacher is a member and supporter of the North Carolina Educational Association, and the school has been 100 per cent for three years in succession. Mr. M. L. Turner of the High school faculty is president of the county unit.

All patrons of the district are urged to send their children to school. Lack of clothing should in no case prevent children from attending, as the county welfare department has ample clothing for those in need. Patrons who know of pupils absent on this account should report needy cases to the school authorities.

Prof. F. M. Biggestaff attended the teachers' meeting in Charlotte October 28th and 29th.

New Legume Seed Grown In County

Crotalaria Seed Brought From Florida. May Be Seen On Demonstration Plots. (By R. W. Shoffner, County Agent) This spring I secured some Crotalaria seed from Florida. I plan a few demonstrations at different places over the county, which are worth observing at this time. You will find these demonstrations at the following farms: Mr. S. S. Money on the Polkville road; Mr. V. E. Lowe, near Fairground; Mr. V. L. Southerland, Post road; and Mr. C. S. Youngs, Shelby. In these different demonstrations you can see the type that grows best as a legume. At each demonstration we planted two varieties, the Spectabilis and the Striata. The plant has been grown in Florida, South Carolina and Georgia. The plant has been grown here in the dry condition and therefore has not made as much growth as would have made in a suitable season.

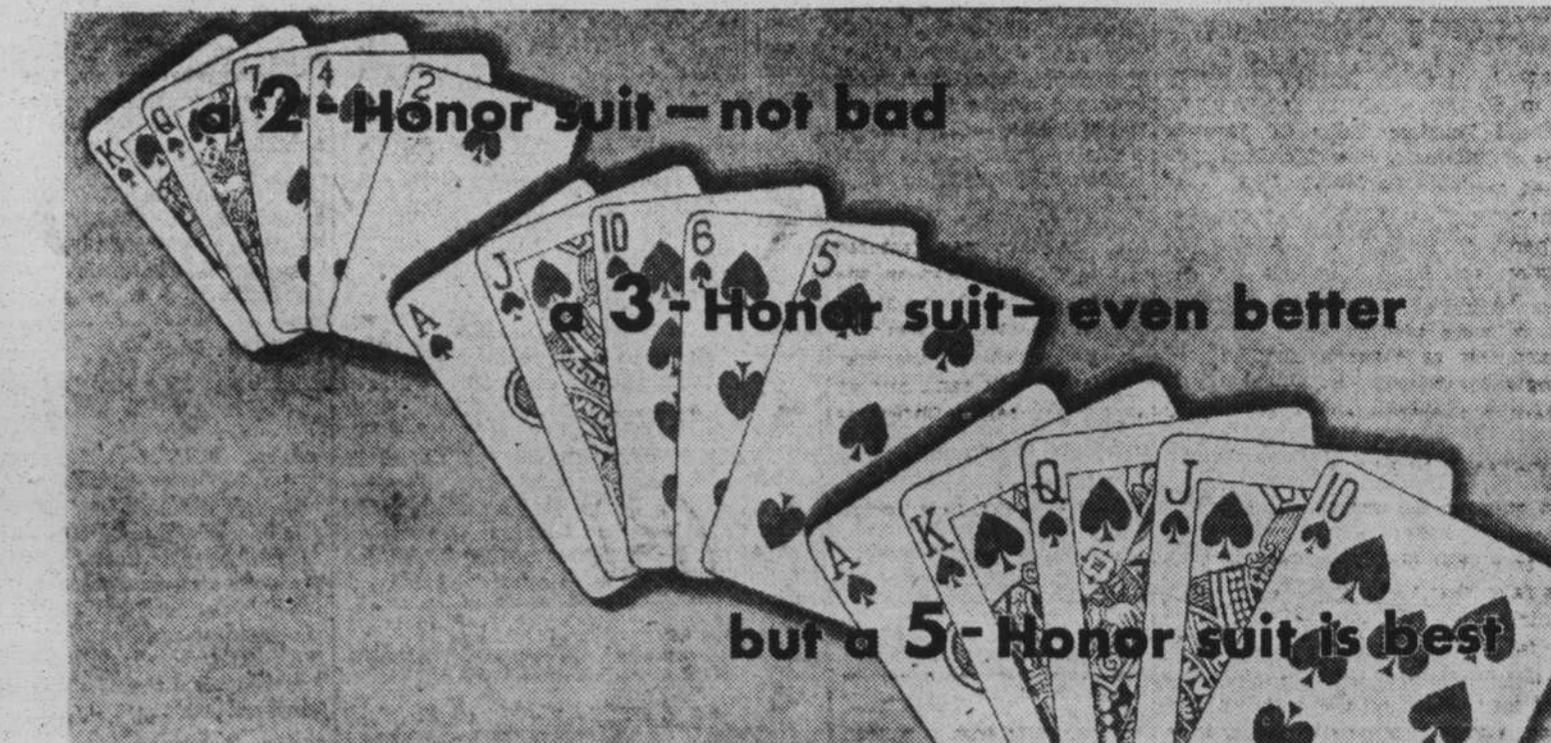

This is a more of a soil improver than a forage crop. This legume is not very palatable to livestock therefore it should be cut into the soil for the purpose of improving the soil. How would you like to be a but these days and be kissed by a cat didate.
