The Final Push

Raleigh, Nov. 4.—With only three days left for campaigning before Tuesday's general elections, Democratic and Republican leaders today were preparing to wind up their drives for votes. Robert R. Reynolds, Democratic candidate for senator, will bring his campaign to a close Saturday night with an address to his home town folks at Asheville. This engagement originally was scheduled for election eve, but was moved up in view of Asheville night precinct meetings Monday night. Jake F. Newell, Republican nominee for senator, will make a political address here Monday night before waiting to see what the polls say.

Institutions In County Get Good Report From Jury

Court House, Jail And County Home Found In Good Condition. Praise Home.

Cleveland county institutions are in good condition and are being properly managed, according to the Superior court grand jury which made its report to Judge Michael Schenck here this week.

In fact, the jury commended the general management of county affairs.

The customary jury investigation, it was said in the report signed by W. A. Ware, foreman, found the jail in sanitary condition and the inmates being well treated. The jury, however, recommended the painting of the entire interior of the jail and exposed wood and metal portion of the exterior.

The court house offices were found in orderly condition and county records neatly kept.

In the report on the condition of the county home for the aged and infirm exceptional praise was given conditions there and the management of Mr. and Mrs. Borders. The inmates were found to be properly treated and cared for and the home and buildings clean and in good shape. The farm methods of the home came in for a word of praise, and the home taken as a whole was described as "a model of cleanliness."

Jury Service Is A Public Duty Says Judge Schenck Here

Speaking on the duty of the people towards the courts, Judge Michael Schenck who is presiding over the superior court here this week, appealed for popular support of the courts as he spoke last night before the Kiwanis club. "Every man should think of jury service as a patriotic duty and when good men serve willingly, the criticism of the courts will cease," Judge Schenck said.

The jurist explained the three divisions of government and the various branches or wings of the judiciary, pointing out that the superior court comes in closer contact with the masses of the people than any other branch. The judge was introduced by Attorney D. Z. Newton.

Hoey Speech Saturday Night To Close Campaign; Newell Speaks

Expect Large Crowd To Hear Hoey

Democrats Plan Enthusiastic Rally To Climax Campaign In County.

A last bid for votes will be made in Shelby tomorrow, Saturday, by two men ranked among the best orators of the Democratic and Republican parties, Clyde R. Hoey and Jake F. Newell.

Mr. Newell speaks in the court house at 2 in the afternoon as the highlight of a county-wide Republican rally, while Mr. Hoey speaks at 7:30 in the evening at a county-wide Democratic gathering.

Last Minute Push. Indications are that the Democrats will carry the county with a very good majority, but Democratic leaders are taking no undue chances and the Republicans will make a final effort which will be centered about the Newell speech.

Ehringhaus Tonight. Tonight at Kings Mountain John C. B. Ehringhaus, Democratic candidate for governor, will speak. Delegations of Democrats from Shelby and over the county are expected to go there for the address.

With the campaign in the last lap county Democrats will use a street phrase, "shoot the works" on the Hoey speech here Saturday night. A band will produce music for the occasion and there was talk today of a parade about the court square just prior to the address. It is believed that the meeting will have all the trimmings and enthusiasm of the political rallies of old.

The Democrats are scenting a nationwide victory for the first time in years and interest is running high. Special seating arrangements are being planned for ladies who attend the Hoey speech and today all county Democratic candidates at work over the county were urging voters of all sections to "see if we can get out as many to hear Mr. Hoey in his home county as have been turning out to hear him all over the State." These campaigners are citing the fact that hundreds had to be turned away at Winston-Salem, Morganton, and other points where the Shelby orator has been speaking. Local people who have heard him elsewhere say: "He's always one of the best to hear in a

Big Crowd Turns Out At Casar For Democratic Rally

Carpenter And Mull Heard By Large Audience In Normal Republican Section.

It truly must be a Democratic year, Cleveland county politicians were saying today, after attending or hearing of a big Democratic rally held last night at Casar.

The Casar section is normally a Republican stronghold. Two weeks ago Chas. A. Jonas, Republican congressional candidate, spoke there and was heard by a crowd of two to three hundred people, considered a good audience for a political meeting there. But last night a Democratic rally held at the same place drew, it was reported today, between five and six hundred people.

The speakers were Solicitor John G. Carpenter, of Gastonia, and Judge John P. Mull, of Shelby, and both drew frequent applause. Practically all of the Democratic county candidates were present, and Democratic workers were today expressing the belief that "we might even carry Casar. That's how the landslide is sweeping."

Phillips Dies Of Injuries In Hospital Here Was Struck By Car On Wednesday

Funeral Services For Boiling Springs Man Held There This Afternoon.

Injuries received Wednesday morning when he was struck by an automobile at Boiling Springs proved fatal to Fred Phillips, 32-year-old farmer of that section. Mr. Phillips died in the Shelby hospital, where he was brought immediately after the accident, at eleven o'clock Wednesday night.

Funeral services were conducted at the Boiling Springs Baptist church this afternoon at 2 o'clock with Rev. J. L. Jenkins conducting the services.

Surviving are his widow and one son A. W., aged seven; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Phillips, of the Boiling Springs section; and two brothers and one sister, Max Eric Phillips, Ralph Phillips and Pearl Phillips.

The deceased had lived in the Boiling Springs section for around 12 years and was a popular and highly esteemed citizen of that community. Earlier in life he had lived in the Fallston section and was a member of the Methodist church there.

Internal Injury

The injuries which proved fatal were received about 9 o'clock Wednesday morning. Mr. Phillips, information is, had started across the road in Boiling Springs, at a spot near the Hord garage. One report, as given officers stated that he stepped from behind a parked truck and in the pathway of an approaching automobile driven by W. T. Gossett, of Gastonia, said to be a Swift packing company salesman. He was knocked, it was said yesterday, about 60 feet. One leg and one arm were broken and he was rushed to the Shelby hospital. At first it was not certain that he was critically injured, but later in the day internal injuries began to have their effect and by nightfall he was considered in extreme condition. He was never unconscious and was able to talk up until a few minutes prior to his death.

The news of his death prostrated both his mother, who has been ill, and his wife.

Soon after the accident Wednesday Gossett, driver of the car, was placed under bond for his appearance in county court on the 25th of this month. Whether or not the date will be changed since Phillips' death is not known. Officers who investigated the fatal accident, state that information given them indicated that in one way the accident appeared unavoidable in that Phillips came out from behind the truck and could not be seen until that time by the approaching car. They added, however, that measurements of the distance required to stop the automobile tended to indicate that the car was traveling at what might have been an excessive speed.

Several thousand North Carolina seed loan borrowers are taking advantage of the collateralization plan under which the government accepts cotton at 9 1-2 cents per pound as collateral on seed loans. Roosevelt Will Win 41 States, Digest Declares

Magazine Completes Election Poll

Literary Digest Poll Predicted 1928 Outcome. Now Says Roosevelt To Win.

According to final returns to the Presidential poll of The Literary Digest, which appeared in Shelby yesterday, Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt will carry 41 States in the November 8 election, and it is conceded editorially by the magazine that the Democratic standard bearer may carry five of the seven States in which President Hoover is leading.

Rhode Island and Massachusetts may be expected to reverse their majorities for President Hoover. The Digest says, while Connecticut, New Hampshire and New Jersey voters may "also fold up their tents and steal away to the Roosevelt column."

That accounting leaves Vermont and Maine the only States which The Literary Digest absolutely concedes to the Republicans. Both States which have eight electoral votes between them, gave President Hoover small majorities.

Greatest Poll Yet. All records for Presidential polls were broken as the Digest tabulators were swamped with a total of 8,064,497 straw votes.

474 to 57. Reckoning the results in electoral votes, Roosevelt received 474 to Hoover's 57.

President Hoover's percentage of the grand total of straw votes is 37.53; Governor Roosevelt's is 55.99. The percentage of Norman Thomas, Socialist nominee, is given at 4.84.

Voting for those three candidates was as follows: Roosevelt, 1,715,780; Hoover, 1,150,398; Thomas, 148,079.

3 To 1 In N. C. North Carolina gave Roosevelt a plurality of 18,190 above President Hoover.

This State's voting on all the candidates entered in the poll was: Roosevelt, 28,153; Hoover, 9,963; Thomas, 871; Reynolds, Socialist-Laborite, 57; Coxey, Farmer-Laborite, 12; Upshaw, Prohibitionist, 487; Foster, Communist, 91. Tar Heels cast a total of 1,196 straw votes for candidates other than those of the two major parties.

The final returns of the 1928 Literary Digest Presidential poll forecast that Hoover would win 42 states including the Democratic strongholds of Virginia, North Carolina, Florida and Texas. In that poll the only States The Literary Digest failed to forecast correctly were Massachusetts and Rhode Island, which were carried by Alfred E. Smith contrary to the poll figures.

95 Per Cent Correct. A comparison of the 1928 official vote and 1928 Literary Digest poll showed the magazine's referendum to be over 95 per cent correct in its predictions of both the popular vote and the electoral college vote.

"Unless all signs fail," the Digest states, "unless some unexpected, eleventh-hour condition arises to reverse the nation-wide trend disclosed by this great monument of freshly gathered statistics, the complete poll will be interpreted by many practical men and women of all parties as a presage of a Roosevelt victory."

"If that practical judgment is borne out by the event, the Democratic victory on election day will surely be a sweeping one."
