By GEE MCGEE

Medicine Men

I woke up one morning during July 1929 with a powerful swimming in my head. I could see past due notes and overdrafts floating before my eyes. My knees were weak and very trembly-like. Bands of sweat (called perspiration by golf players) popped out of my forehead and at the base of my skull.

I tried to eat breakfast, but the oatmeal tasted slick-like, and my coffee was apparently made-over from yesterday's grounds, and there was something wrong with my butter cakes. My wife suggested 17 different doctors of the specialist type by the time I was ready to go to the office. I began to worry about funeral costs, ansoforth, but she looked right peart for her age.

I first went to my regular all-round doctor. He looked at my tongue and sent me to a dentist. He x-rayed my teeth and pocketbook, and suggested that I have not less than 15 teeth and two-thirds of my pocketbook removed. At that time, I had only 13 teeth, and he sent me to a head specialist. He x-rayed my head for sinus and bone trouble, and pronounced it empty, but O. K. for 25 dollars, but sent me to a stomach specialist.

The stomach specialist x-rayed me for 3 days; he took pictures of me lying, telling the truth, sitting, standing, profile, all four, knees, back, sides, and hopping. He found that my liver was leaking, my heart skipping, my gall bladder galled, my appendix inflamed, my spinal column crooked, my alimentary congested, my lungs weak and my breathing strong for $75.00, but he sent me to an eye specialist.

The eye specialist tried on 435 different kinds of specs and had me reading his charts of "AFGLIXRT" and "uttyklddr" for hour after hour and then he told me to go to a dentist and have my teeth removed. I told him that the dentist had already removed them. Then he squirted some Bella Donna, if you know what she is, into my eyes and I went stone blind for the balance of the day. And then I loafed around home in bed for a short season.

About that time, I sold 3 vacant lots for $7,500.00 and got the cash for them. (I had paid only $23.50 for those same lots in 1920.) I took this money and divided it up amongst my creditors, and in less than a week, my heart was regular, my pulse was normal, my eyes were keen, my appetite was intense, my heavy breathing had vanished, my liver was acting, my gall stones had disappeared, and my banker was on speaking terms with me. I was my old self again, and found out, after diagnosing my own case, that I had been afflicted with "Financial-itis" of the mental appurtenance.

It Is All Over At Last
well, folks, the election has simply righted everything, just like the dimmercrats and the republicans both predicted, business is worse in some places than it was and our 2 old hens have absolutely quit laying, my wife predicted this calamity.

while I was reading the returns on the morning after the ballots were counted, our only cow went dry and our gum of honey bees exploded. The squirrels began pitching nuts out of their nests just as soon as they learned that a new crowd would be in power after march the 1.

I don't know what in the world we will do now, the smoke that has always gone up the chimney now flows thru the parlor window, our old mule is acting strange since the election; he "backs" into the stable instead of going in head first, and he wont eat corn that has been shipped in from the state of Iowa.

we had preaching at reboher church last sunday, and the collection was only c26. before the election, we always took in betwix c27 and c30. we have had to patch up the wind-holder in the organ twice since november the 8; we did not have to patch it a single time before the catastrophe.

grass has already started to growing on main street and the worst is yet to come, the clock in the city hall quit striking while the votes were being counted, the republicans predicted that the railroads would go into the hands of the receivers if things didn't go their way; and the dimmercrats said the same thing, but we still have 2 trains a week, both empty, as usual.

we expected a terrible change, but nobody ever thought that the milk wouldnt "turn" after the election, why, folks, we aint had nothing but sweetmilk since it took place and we had to buy that from a republican cow, the sparrows have quit chirping their love songs—since the election, and our old turkey gobbler walks around all day with a down-cast look on his face, people, we are ruined, it's all over now except the funeral, so good by for 4 years.

Tariff Preferences To Hurt This Nation

Canadian Agreement With Britain Will Affect Trade Valued at $66,632,747 In 1931.

Washington, Nov. 18.—The new Canadian tariff preferences granted to United Kingdom goods under the Ottawa agreement will affect American exports which in 1931 totaled $42,946,138.

The national chamber, which presents this information in a bulletin issued today by its foreign commerce department has divided these totals into 17 major classifications it is pointed out the United Kingdom already has a trade in Canada exceeding United States sales to that market, these being beverages, clays and clay products, sporting goods, textiles and tobacco.

Canada imported during 1931, from the United States, textiles to the value of $8,121,486, while importations from the United Kingdom amounted to $10,558,154. Tobacco involved a much smaller amount, and the greater part of such importations were from the United Kingdom.

Among other items that seem to be missing in the newspapers is one about ex-Candidate Foster receiving a telegram from ex-Candidate Upshaw.

Senator Borah still refuses to tell how he voted. Anyway, it doesn't seem to have made much difference.
