

Libby Looking For Stork Early In 1933

Philadelphia.—The Philadelphia Bulletin this week says that Libby Holman Reynolds, widow of Smith Reynolds, has taken a house on the fashionable Owl's Nest Road, about eight miles west of Wilmington, Del., for the winter.

It is on the estate of Albert S. Ives, socially prominent Wilmington architect, who is visiting in the south.

"My mother is here with me," the Bulletin quotes her as saying. "She will stay with me until after my baby is born either late in January or early part of February."

She said she was not making any announcements because she did not know what she is going to do after next February.

Another Grandmother Joke

Teacher—Why were you absent again yesterday, Samuel?

Samuel—My grandmother died.

Teacher—What do you tell me?

Samuel—This is the third grandmother you say you have lost this year. If I can count correctly.

Teacher—Yes, but you see my father is a Turk.

Because of low prices, Anson County growers withheld their turkeys from the Thanksgiving market and are conditioning them for the Christmas demand.

Reached a Happy Ending

Just as the happy ending beloved of novelists, the destinies of these two childhood sweethearts reached an ideal climax when they were married at Manchester, Mass., recently. They are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Alde Goodwin, aged 80 and 66 respectively. They were boy and girl sweethearts at Goffstown many years ago, but they parted. Each married another but the old spark for the first love refused to flicker out. In the death of their respective mates, the old lovers were reunited, and now they're all set to live happily ever after.

Report Wider Use Of Cotton Bagging

Value Of Food And Feed Products Increased Over 50 Millions Since 1929.

As one feature of the live-at-home dinner to be tendered Governor and Mrs. O. Max Gardner and Governor-elect and Mrs. J. C. B. Ehringhaus at State college Friday evening, December 16, Dean I. O. Schaub and Mrs. Jane S. McKimmon will report some of the results secured during the past three years by the farmers and farm women of North Carolina.

The dinner will be tendered by the newspaper men and women of Raleigh and the food will come from all parts of the state. L. J. Harris, steward at State college, will attend to the cooking and serving and the college dining hall will be the scene of action. An elaborate program of stunts, entertainment, and seriousness has been prepared by John A. Park and his local committee.

Among other things, the college extension service will report to the outgoing governor and inform the incoming executive as to the results secured during the past three years of live-at-home effort. Preliminary figures indicate that the farmers and farm women have increased the value of the food and feed products grown in this state by 50 million dollars over the situation as it existed in 1929 when the campaign was begun. This result has been secured in spite of low prices for all farm produce and means that the aggregate production was many times that indicated by its value in dollars.

Back in 1929, when farm values were higher than they are now, it is estimated that the folks were importing about 150 million dollars annually in food and feed products. This bill was paid largely out of money made with cotton, tobacco and peanuts. But when the farm income and values shrunk, it was seen that this great bill could no longer be borne by the returns from cash crops. That the live-at-home plan has been a success can be seen from the fact that the acreage to crops decreased by 575,342 acres and the acreage to food and feed crops increased by 837,841 acres in two years.

Two Speeches To Be Made By Gardner

Raleigh, Dec. 14.—Governor O. Max Gardner today accepted an invitation to speak before the National Retail-Dry Goods association at the opening session of its 22nd annual convention in New York January 16.

The governor will speak on the cost of government and taxation. Governor Gardner also accepted an invitation to address the Emory university institute on citizenship in Atlanta on February 9.

Horrible Mistake. "I find it necessary to be fitted with eye glasses," said the lady. "While visiting in a small town I made a painful mistake." "Ah," replied the optician, "undoubtedly spoke to one whom you mistook for old acquaintance." "No, I mistook a bumblebee for a blackberry."

After "keeping company" for 40 years, Michael Kenny and Miss Adella Smedeker of Newtonville, Mass., have filed notice of marriage intentions.
