Youngsters Attend School On The Fly

El Paso, Tex.—For Roberta and Cecily Greenberg, ten and seven years old, respectively going to school means jumping in the family automobile, driving a couple of days and saying 'good morning' to a new teacher each Monday.

Their father, Louis Greenberg, Long Beach, L. I., is vice-president of a nationally known clothing firm.

With him on his inspection trips of company stores he takes his family, including the two small daughters.

In six weeks they attended six different schools in as many cities. The cities were Atlanta, Ga.; Memphis, Tenn.; Tulsa, Okla.; Dallas, San Antonio and here.

Greenberg said the motorized education has proved successful.

"They just eat it up," he said. "Neither is the least bit timid about walking into a strange classroom. They make fine grades in their studies, and when we return home I don't think there is the least doubt about their being promoted to a higher grade."

The trip will include a stay in Los Angeles before the Greenbergs return home.

LEE, Mortgagee. 4t Mar 8c

Increase In Amount Of Currency Noted

National Whillie.

The increase of $732,000,000 in currency circulation was not taken as an alarming development. Something like 30 per cent of the total was retained by the banks themselves as vault money for emergencies. Cash on hand in New York city banks went up by 100 per cent.

From 200 to 300 million of the remaining increase in currency is attributed to payroll payments which normally return immediately to banks but did not do so this time. People had little idea of what it could mean to the general situation if they kept their pay in their pockets.

Crop Loans Halted To Farmers For Present

Washington, March 7.—Disbursement of crop production loans, for which $90,000,000 is available, was halted today until the end of the national bank holiday.
