Schools To Hold Debates Friday; Talk Sales Tax

Both Shelby Teams Debate Away From Home Friday Morning. Others In County.

The annual state-wide triangular debate for high school students will be held Friday of this week with a number of the Cleveland county high schools having teams entered. A full list of all the schools entered was not available today, but this information may be secured by Friday.

The Shelby high school is in a triangle with Gastonia and Lincolnton and this year a new policy will be followed in that none of the teams will debate at their home schools. The Shelby affirmative team will meet the Lincolnton negative team in Gastonia and the Shelby negative team will meet the Gastonia affirmative team in Lincolnton. In the meantime the Gastonia negative team and the Lincolnton affirmative will compete in Shelby. The hour for the debates in this triangle is 10:30 o'clock Friday morning. The general public is cordially invited to attend the Gastonia-Lincolnton debate at the Shelby high auditorium.

Shelby's affirmative team is composed of Loris Dover and Essie Bass and the negative team is made up of Paul Bullington and Esther Ann Quinn.

Another Triangle

Friday night the debates in the Belwood-No. 3-Lattimore triangle will be held. Belwood's affirmative will meet No. 3's negative at Belwood and Belwood's negative will meet Lattimore's affirmative at Lattimore, while Lattimore's negative meets the No. 3 affirmative at No. 3. A list of the Belwood debaters sent in shows that the Belwood affirmative is composed of C. Z. Falls and Forrest Devney, and the negative of Merriel Dellinger and Estelle Brackett.

Officials of the other schools in the debate are requested to send in the names of their debaters, their triangle, and the results when the debates are over.

The question to be debated by high school students all over the state this year is one of general current interest—the sales tax. The query formally reads "Resolved that North Carolina should adopt a sales tax as a feature of its state system of revenue."

There were no eye witnesses to the accident, except Richard Heavner, of Gastonia, driver of the sandwich truck which figured in the accident was unavoidable, and that pending an investigation, said the accident was unavoidable, and that Heavner dashed out onto the highway directly in front of his truck.

Heavner is survived by his wife and 10 children.

Heavy Sentences For Larceny Cases Given Three In Court Here

20-Months Term For Storebreaker

Three Larceny Defendants Get Total Terms Of Near Four Years. One Divorce.

Defendants convicted of larceny are faring none too well in the superior court term being presided over here this week by Judge T. B. Finley. So far three defendants have been given sentences totalling 45 months or almost four years.

Those given the long terms were: Nelson Toney, 20 months; Boyd Upton, 15 months; and L. J. Monroe, 10 months.

Toney was convicted of breaking and entering and larceny in connection with the robbery a number of months ago of the Britain store at Casar. Three other defendants had been convicted previously in connection with the same affair but Toney was not apprehended until recently.

Upton, also convicted of breaking and entering and larceny, received his 15 months for breaking in the Lone Star Inn and service station on the Cleveland Springs road just a week or two ago.

Monroe, a colored man, was given a 10-months term for the larceny of an auto a few weeks ago in South Shelby. Officers recovered the car just a day or so after its theft when it was wrecked in the Earl section of the county.

Under Bond

In the assault charges against W. C. and Grady Blanton in connection with a fight with Cliff Hamrick, the two Blantons were placed under peace and good behavior bonds. W. C. Blanton also being required to pay $200 to the prosecutor.

No Court This Morn

No session of the court was held this morning as Judge Finley was confined to his hotel room with a cold, but the court was to convene this afternoon. Approximately another day's grind will be required, it is believed, to wind up the criminal docket and then the civil calendar will be taken up.

Bill Prepared

After a hearing was waived in the county court, superior court officials this morning prepared to file bills of indictment against John Arrowood and Lucy Wyatt for presentation to the grand jury today. Arrowood and Mrs. Wyatt disappeared from their homes in the No. 2 township section a couple of weeks ago but returned to the county and were apprehended this week. Reports in that section at the time indicated that there might have been some connection between their disappearance, but in a communication to The Star today Mrs. Wyatt declares she did not leave with Arrowood and was not with him. Arrowood is around 40 and the father of several children, while Mrs. Wyatt in her early twenties, is the mother of two young children. Just what the nature of the bills prepared for the grand jury may be was not lessened this morn.

Divorce Granted

During a lull in the criminal docket yesterday one divorce suit was taken up and Horace Hudson was granted a divorce from Eunice Hudson on the grounds of five years separation.

A rarity for the local court records also developed yesterday when it became necessary to mark off the court records a larceny charge against a man who has died since the charge was filed. He was fatally injured in an auto wreck and the entry was made to read "case abates because of death."

Beer Bill Gets Favorable Vote In State Senate

Opening Round Beer Battle Waged

Senate Committee Votes 10 To 3 For Beer In N. C. Shelby Petitions Go In.

Shelby petitions and telegrams were among those presented in the North Carolina General Assembly at Raleigh yesterday when the first round of the beer legalization battle was fought. Monday and Tuesday dozens of telegrams and messages were sent to Cleveland county representatives about the beer measure, some opposing legalization of beer and others urging it. Ministers and other drys forwarded opposition telegrams to the senate committee which approved the bill, while others advocating beer since it has been legalized nationally upon the platform of the Democratic party were also sent along with petitions favoring beer sold to have been signed by several hundred citizens. The comparative strength of the sentiment expressed by both sides in local messages and petitions was impossible to determine.

Raleigh, March 29.—Beer yesterday cleared its first legislative hurdle in North Carolina with a rousing whoop.

A senate judiciary committee with the cheers of wets and the pleas of drys still ringing after a two-and-one-half hour hearing, voted 10-3 for a favorable report on the Francis bill to legalize the sale of 3.2 per cent beer in this state after May 15.

Lions Club Will Back Playground For Shelby Tots

Unemployed Men To Build Wading Pool, Park On Old Corbitt-Green Property.

Thanks to the activity of the Shelby Lions club the children of Shelby will have a park, playground and wading pool centrally located in the city this summer.

The club announced today that plans and arrangements had been completed for the playgrounds construction on the old Corbitt-Green property, corner East Marion and Washington streets, now owned by Judge B. T. Falls. The playground movement was inaugurated by the club last summer but plans did not materialize until recently.

The site, just to the rear of the Ideal Service station, is ideally located for a playground. In the shady dell within sight of the court square is a former swimming pool site and only a minor amount of work will be necessary to convert it into a wading pool for children. Construction work on the pool and getting the remainder of the property in condition will be done by unemployed men through the local relief agency as the park will come under the classification of a public project. The use of the property for a number of years as a park and playground was donated by Judge Falls, and club women of the city are being asked to help assemble shrubbery and playground equipment. Those who will contribute either shrubbery or equipment suitable for the playground are asked to communicate with Dr. Robert Wilson, Lions club official, telephone 224-5. Since the site is naturally suited for a playground and no great amount of work is necessary to put it in condition the completion is expected to cost very little. The Lions will work out some system of supervised play for the park during the summer.

Hopes To Open Unrestricted

Officers And Directors To Meet Soon. First National Appraiser Coming Later.

Following an appraisal of the assets of the Union Trust Co., a report was received this morning from the State Banking Commissioner, setting forth a plan of reorganization which calls for strengthening the capital structure of the institution.

$130,000 Necessary.

The Commissioner of Banks says that it will be necessary to raise $130,000 locally to put into the capital structure of the bank and if this amount is raised, he thinks the bank can secure a loan of $150,000 from the Reconstruction Finance corporation or otherwise in preferred stock. This would give $280,000 additional money and make the bank liquid enough to open with restrictions to proceed in a normal way.

Will Discuss Plans.

A meeting of the officers and directors will be held today or tomorrow at which time the situation will be fully discussed and some plan worked out in the hope that the additional money necessary may be available so that the institution might open without restrictions, or at least on the most liberal terms possible. It is the hope of the officials that some plan might be evolved whereby the depositors will be fully protected and that the bank might resume normal business.

A considerable portion of the bank's frozen loans were charged off in making the appraisal, although it is thought that many of these loans will be collected when business improves and the money turned back to further strengthen the bank.

Attend Raleigh Meeting.

It is estimated that 1,000 officials and stockholders - be named R. C. banks were in Raleigh yesterday to hear discussed a state-wide plan of reorganization sponsored by Gurney P. Hood, state commissioner of banks. Attending from Shelby to represent the Union Trust Co. and the First National bank were R. E. Campbell, Rush Hamrick, Forrest Eskridge, Wm. Linberger, Tom Webb, C. H. Shull, Z. J. Thompson and Oscar Palmer.

More Liberal Policy

No closed bank is to be forced into the state-wide plan, but has been invited to join if the plan appeals. The Shelby bankers who attended the Raleigh meeting prefer to reorganize independently of the state-wide system and put the banks in a liquid position so that there will be no restrictions or at least a more liberal policy toward depositors than the state-wide plan would permit.

First National officials have been hot on the wires to get an appraisal here from the Federal Reserve in order to find out just what capital assets will be charged off and what plan of reorganization the company
