Hope To Cut County Tax Rate For 1933

Board To Discuss Budget 26th
County Accountant About Through With Tentative Outline Of Budget.
Reports at the court house here today indicated that the 1933 tax levy for Cleveland county may be reduced in addition to the one-fourth reduction in valuation on all property ordered by the county commissioners.

Will End Year
The meeting will be held then in order that the June bills may be approved and paid so that the county books may be closed then for the end of the fiscal business year June 30. Then on the following first Monday, July 3, the board will meet in regular session to pass upon the budget and prepare the tax levy for the year.

Balance Unknown
Even with these tentative figures showing a reduction in appropriations it is impossible to do any definite estimating as to the new tax levy for the reason that the balance at the end of this year, June 30, cannot be determined. This is due to the fact that quite a percentage of taxes remains to be collected. So far, however, the county has lived within and below the budget figures for the year and

Falls Mentioned For High Post By Senator Reynolds
B. T. Falls, Shelby attorney, was mentioned in Washington dispatches today, as a prospect for assistant federal collector of internal revenue. The office will likely go to a North Carolinian and Falls' name was mentioned among others when Senators J. W. Bailey and Bob Reynolds split over the appointment. Bailey was advocating Will Neal, Marion manufacturer, but Reynolds objected to him and offered the name of T. D. Warren. Sincerely Bailey was no more pleased with the Reynolds choice than Reynolds was with the Bailey choice. Then Senator Reynolds submitted a score or more names, among them the name of the Shelby attorney, all of whom would be satisfactory to him, he said. The office will pay between $7,000 and $8,000 per year.

Bank Plans Wait Upon Washington
Legal Department Of R. F. C. Delays Sending Necessary Papers Promised Weeks Ago.
First National bank officials and the public are growing impatient over the delay in reopening the bank, due to a tie-up by the legal department of the Reconstruction Finance corporation at Washington. When Forrest Eskridge, cashier of the bank was in Washington over three weeks ago, the plan was approved and a tentative draft of a resolution approving the set-up and authorizing the issuance of preferred stock was furnished him. He wanted to wait a few days and get all necessary papers fixed and signed, but was told that it would not be necessary for him to wait. The final draft of the necessary resolution was promised by mail in a few days. For weeks, now the bank officials and their attorney Mr. Hoey have been wiring and telephoning Washington urging that the papers be hurried through. They were assured that these papers would be gotten off in a day or so, going so far as to promise a definite time. Today they had not come.

Reasonable Rental
In addition to "a reasonable rental for lands so leased," he continued the government would give the farmers "an option on the amount of cotton they have produced on such lands as an average for the last five years at the average purchase price of the 4,000,000 bales of cotton, such option to be good until the close of the cotton year 1934. "This plan has for its purpose to promote economic regulation of cotton supplies and cotton production to the end that supply shall be so adjusted to demand that the farmer shall obtain cost plus reasonable profit. "It is practically workable and a solution of the cotton problem and, with the endorsement and pledged cooperation of farmers and representatives of allied lines, which it now has and the consideration it is receiving, it will doubtless be put into operation. "It is similar in principle to the plan used with most beneficial results to the cotton industry under similar conditions in 1921.
