

Dr. Wall Unifies A Church With Trouble

Asheville Sept. 7.—Reed's Chapel Baptist church has just closed the most remarkable revival in all its history. Dr. Zeno Wall, pastor of the First Baptist church of Shelby and President of the Baptist State convention of N. C. was the preacher.

Owing to unfortunate differences, the pastor of a year ago had withdrawn, and, together with about 150 of the members had established and built another church in the immediate vicinity of the old church. Into this environment Dr. Wall came, sacrificing part of a sorely needed vacation, and gave himself so wholeheartedly and unreservedly that immediately his virtue personality was felt by the entire community. An inimitable preacher a master of assemblies and, above all, a cultured, scholarly Christian gentleman, he gripped the situation, brought new hope and courage to the church, composed differences, enlivened the life of the people and inspired them to new heroisms. Above a score of new members were added among whom are four families, husbands and wives together with their children. Dr. Wall's unforgettable messages, his inspiring personality, and unfeigned piety have made such a deep impression upon this community that the entire atmosphere and outlook have been changed in an unmistakable way; a way that promises large and continuing good for the future. Shelby is indeed fortunate in having the continuing ministry of such a man of God.

Farmers, Ginners To Protest Gin Charge

ever, it is believed, that the protest will meet with much success.
The delegation named by Wednesday night's meeting to attend the Memphis conference is composed of Rev. J. D. Morris, of Fallston, a county commissioner, and Robert W. Shoffner, county farm agent.
Mr. Shoffner in discussing the ginning price said that "if cotton were selling at 10 or 12 cents per pound, as was hoped when the high ginning charge feature of the agreement was decided, I don't think our farmers would kick very much. But cotton is selling considerably below that price and unless the reduction program for next year can be assured there is little hope of it going up. Adherence to the agreement which will be protested at Memphis," Agent Shoffner, added, "will work a hardship upon the farmer as well as the ginner. The farmer cannot afford that ginning charge at the present price of cotton and reports are that under the same agreement and code a majority of the gins in this county would have to install new equipment or close up in order to comply with the requirements. Naturally, then, ginners are just as anxious as farmers to have some change made. Just what we will be able to do at Memphis I cannot say."
