10-Cent Cotton Or More Aim Of F. D. R.

Government Will Lend Farmer That Much If Market Is Below.

The latest move of President Roosevelt, which assures the farmer who has not sold his cotton at least 10 cents per pound, if not more, is of intense interest to Cleveland county.

In typical Roosevelt manner the administration stepped to the rescue of the cotton farmer over the week-end when it began fashioning a powerful program which it is hoped will raise farm prices through a virtual guarantee that cotton still in the hands of the farmer, always the sucker heretofore, will bring 10 cents per pound, if not more.

Through Reconstruction corporation funds, the farmers who still hold their cotton will be lent 10 cents a pound, if necessary, the plan being a companion piece of the 1934-35 cotton control program which was announced Friday by Secretary Wallace.

The secretary said he understood the loans would be limited to those farmers who agreed to join in the campaign to reduce cotton acreage in the south next year to 25,000,000 acres.

Wallace, however, said he was unfamiliar with some of the negro.

C. R. Hoey Speaks To Star Carrier Boys

Mr. Hoey, First Paper Carrier Recalls Early Days Of Printing In Shelby.

Clyde R. Hoey, Shelby's first newsboy, was the principal speaker Friday night at a banquet given the 22 boys who compose the house-to-house delivery system of The Cleveland Star.

Mr. Hoey reminded the boys of the value of the training they are receiving in being courteous, prompt and business-like. He told them they should be proud to be connected with a newspaper so universally read and welcomed as The Star.

Mr. Hoey recalled his first newspaper experience as a "devil" at the age of 16 when he did cores around the old Aurora office, delivered the paper from house to house throughout the town and how he became fascinated with the printing and publishing and founded The Star.

James Chandler Died On Way To Shelby Hospital

Brought To Hospital Here But Is Dead When Taken In.

James Chandler, 24-year-old Shelby textile worker, is dead and two men are being held in the county jail here as the result of a fatal stabbing in the county late Sunday afternoon.

The men being held are Hoyt King, of Oakland Drive, and Hector Palmer, of the Dover village. Officers intimated today that charges in connection with Chandler's killing might be preferred against King while Palmer is held as a material witness and a third man, Nathan Hammett, is also under bond as a material witness.

near Grover

Chandler, who was employed at the Dover textile plant, received his fatal wound in the section south of Buffalo bridge near Grover. Some mystery still centers about the manner in which the wound was received.

Officers have been told that Chandler, Hoyt King and wife, Hector Palmer and wife and one of Palmer's sisters were visiting at a home in the section where Chandler was said to have been stabbed. So far as officers have been able to determine, however, there were no eye-witnesses to the stabbing, it being contended by some of the party that Chandler fell on a knife.

Leave Hospital

Just before 8 o'clock yesterday evening an automobile carried Chandler to the Shelby hospital. Two or three men and two or three women were said to be in the car with him. The men carried him in to the first aid room where Dr. Schenck, one of the hospital surgeons was called. When he entered he told the men that Chandler was dead and it is said they left without giving any information as to the identity of the dead man or themselves. Later the same car stopped at the Lutz & Austell funeral home and asked that a

Pete McKnight Back From Stay In Cuba

Shelby Boy There During Hurricane And Revolution Trouble.

Colbert (Pete) McKnight returned to Shelby this morning after an exciting three-months visit in Cuba with his brother, John P. McKnight, Associate Press correspondent there.

Young McKnight, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. McKnight, was in Cuba during the bad hurricane and the revolution and aided his brother in covering the exciting period for the Associated Press. He had intended going to school in Cuba this winter, but the school has been disrupted by the hurricane and revolution.

Farmers Will Get Checks This Week

All Cleveland county farmers who have been notified that their cotton checks have arrived should call for them at the county agent's office at the court house Thursday and Saturday mornings. The checks if not called for in a specified time will be returned to Washington. All notified should call those two mornings as the agent and helpers will be busy the remainder of the time at the county fair.

Dick Reynolds To Drive Horse Here

R. J. (Dick) Reynolds, jr., heir to the big Reynolds tobacco fortune, and a brother to Smith Reynolds, Libby Holman's husband, who was killed a year or so ago, will drive one of his own horses in the races tomorrow at the Cleveland county fair.

Race officials were notified this morning that young Reynolds and his wife both would be here for the Tuesday races. A number of the Reynolds horses, from the W. N. Reynolds stables at Winston-Salem and Lexington, Ky., are entered for the local races.

Champion Horse Races Here

Webb Upholds Work Of Federal Courts

Ginning Behind That Of Last Year In County

Ginning in Cleveland county is considerably behind that of last year according to the first gin report issued today by Thomas Beam, newly appointed cotton statistician for Cleveland.

There were 3,395 bales of cotton ginned prior to Sept. 16th this year as compared with 6,621 bales prior to the same date a year ago. The first bale this year was ginned earlier than last year but harvesting was delayed because of a week of bad weather. Also ginning has been held back because of the confusion arising over the ginners' code.

Shelby Leaders Stand On Repeal Interests State

Political Writers Note That "Shelby Dynasty" Is Divided Now.

In bygone years Shelby's political powers were referred to as North Carolina's "Big Four," the quartet being made up of Clyde R. Hoey, O. Max Gardner and Judges James L. and E. Y. Webb. Since the death of Judge "Jim" Webb, veteran superior court jurist, the group has been referred to as the "Shelby dynasty."

It was news, then, when in recent weeks it was learned that the remaining trio were not in accord on the repeal question. Writers over the state have commented at length upon the difference between brothers-in-law and uncle and nephew.

Incidentally, it is not the first time they have differed. They failed to get together on Al Smith back in 1928.

In the campaign then Federal Judge E. Y. Webb, just couldn't see Smith, but Clyde R. Hoey was Smith's leading campaigner, while Governor Gardner, as titular head of the Democratic party, stuck by the ticket.

Answers Criticisms Of Repealists. Term Opens Here Today.

In opening a term of United States district court here today Judge E. Yates Webb upheld the work of the court in answering criticisms of repealists concerning the expense of operating the court.

The records will show, the jurist stated, that seizures, fines, etc., by the Federal courts exceed the appropriation made for the operation of the court and the enforcement of the Federal laws, prohibition and otherwise.

If the 18th Amendment is repealed, Judge Webb said, more officials and officers will be required to collect revenue, prevent blocking and such as that than are now employed.

The statements, made in his charge to the grand jury, were construed as a reply to repeal arguments.

Clyde Ingle Added To Star Circulation

Clyde Ingle has accepted a position as circulation manager of The Star, succeeding J. C. Jenkins who resigned to accept a position as salesman for the Stanback Medicine Co. of Salisbury, for which company he previously traveled for several years. Under Mr. Jenkins, The Star's circulation has shown a very gratifying increase.

Mr. Ingle who began his duties today, will have charge of the 22 newsboys who deliver the paper from house-to-house in Shelby and nearby towns and also have charge of the mail circulation and the collection of monthly advertising and job printing bills.

Streets Packed As In Old Days For Parade. Jack Hoxie Big Card.

Shelby found out Saturday that a circus is still a circus—meaning that it is the type of attraction which will still bring the people to town as well as nothing else.

Downie Brothers circus, street parade, clowns, cowboys, bands, steam piano, and what have you, came to Shelby Saturday and quite a portion of the county's population came to town also.

Enthusiasm High For Event

Big Fair Tract Teams With Affectivity In Preparing For Opening On Tuesday.

The big Cleveland county fair tract was teeming with activity this morning as last minute preparations were being speeded along for the opening tomorrow morning, Tuesday, of the fair's ninth annual exposition.

Tuesday will be school day and all over this section thousands of youngsters are eagerly awaiting the occasion when they will be admitted free as guests of the fair association. Prospects today were that opening day attendance records would be broken tomorrow with fair weather prevailing.

Packed Now

All day yesterday and today the fairgrounds were milled by hundreds of people watching the shows, stands and other attractions being put in place. The big Rubin and Cherry shows arrived here at one o'clock this morning and all day long highway 20, east, has been filled with the show caravan moving into place.

Bustle Everywhere

A total of 92 race horses have been entered for the four days of horse racing and among them are 12 head from the Reynolds stable at Winston-Salem. These horses, including the famous Mary Reynolds, are now en route here by express from Lexington, Ky. So many horses are already here that some of them are being quartered beneath the grandstand, opposite the regular racing stables. Over the week-end the race track was an active spot as the steeds were warmed up for the first heats tomorrow and hundreds thronged about the stables and track to see the horses in action.

All exhibit halls are seething with activity today as the mammoth building in the center, 50 by 350 feet, is being filled with exhibits, displays and booths depicting every form of farm and household life. All space has been taken and indications are that the livestock exhibit will be the best in the history of the fair.

Two Holidays For Fair Week Events

City Schools Out Friday. Court House Closed Two Half Days.

The Shelby city schools will observe a holiday on Friday so that school children may take in the big Cleveland county fair. All county children will be admitted free Tuesday and the city students on Friday.

Two half days will be taken by county workers. Joe E. Blanton, commission chairman, said today. Tuesday afternoon and Friday afternoon the court house offices will be closed to permit officials and workers to visit the fair. The court house will be open the other hours and days of the week.

Shelby Youth Will Become A Minister

Paul Reid Arrowood, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. U. Arrowood, of Shelby, will apply to the Kings Mountain Presbytery at a meeting Tuesday night for permission to enter the church seminary as a student for the ministry.

Young Arrowood, now a student at Davidson, will be the first ministerial student sent out by the Shelby Presbyterian church in almost a half century.

Last Week To Pay 1932 County Taxes

This is the final week in which 1932 Cleveland county taxes may be paid before delinquents are advertised for sale of property, it is announced today by Sheriff J. R. Cline. According to law all property must be advertised the first of October for sale the first of November, and Sheriff Cline urges that all pay this week to avoid additional cost.
