Doctors And Little Hospitals In Battle For Control Of Nursing
Raleigh, Oct. 9.—The lid was blown off the latest fight between two groups of doctors in the state fighting for the control of nursing schools in the various hospitals, despite the efforts of both groups to hold the lid in place and keep it from the public. Both factions have enlisted the aid of Attorney General Brummitt to try to hold the lid on. But indications are that the lid is now sailing in the direction of the attorney general and that he is likely to get his fingers burned before it is put back. Some think the attorney general is sitting on a hotter spot than the doctors involved, since he is going to have to be the referee in the fight.

The situation is this. There are two classes of hospitals in the state the small hospitals and the large hospitals, each with their respective group of doctors. This newest fight within the ranks of the medical profession is apparently between the doctors who practice in the small hospitals—and who own them or are financially interested in them—and the larger hospitals, for the control of the state board of standardization for hospitals and more especially for nurses training schools. The larger hospitals maintain that many of the smaller hospitals are not properly equipped to maintain nurses training schools—and they are backed up by some of the ablest of disinterested medical opinion. But the small hospitals and the doctors interested in them want to keep their training schools. largely so they can continue to operate them with student nurses, who

County Publishes List Of Un-Paid 1932 Land Owners

Tax Sale On Here November 6

County To Sell Property On Which 1932 Taxes Has Not Been Paid On Nov. 6th.

Today's Star carries the first publication of the list of property being advertised for sale for unpaid 1932 taxes. This property will be sold on the first Monday in November at noon at the court house.

Many, however, are expected to pay before the sale day. The list is not larger than a year ago, indicating that business has had a turn for better and tax payers are better able to meet their tax obligation.

It is estimated that between $35,000 and $37,000 is due the county from the 1932 list. Before the advertisement was turned over to the paper for publication, payments were made in Sheriff Cline's office at the rate of $1,000 a day for a week or ten days, but it slowed up toward the last.

The No. 4 Township list is being published in the Kings Mountain Herald, while The Star carries the list of the other eleven townships of the county.

Second insertion of the delinquent Shelby list will appear on Friday of this week and the sale of the city property for unpaid 1932 taxes has been changed to Nov. 13th instead of Nov. 6th.

Crop Estimate Is Put Higher

Market Up Ten Points In The Face Of 414,000 Increase In Bale Yield.

The census bureau raised the estimate of cotton expected to be produced in the belt this year by 414,000 bales, yet the market was ten points higher than Saturday's close at 1:30 o'clock today.

The estimate issued this morning forecasts a yield of 12,414,000 bales as compared with an estimate of 12,885,000 bales a month ago. It was expected that the higher estimate this morning would break the market, but it held up well because of the prospect of currency inflation and the ten cents a pound advance which the government will make on this year's crop to farmers who will sign up reduction contracts for next year.

Oct. at 1:30 o'clock today was 9.52 and December 9.54.

Cleveland county cotton farmers, who plowed up over 14,000 acres of cotton in the reduction campaign, received 327 more government checks Saturday, it was announced today by R. W. Shoffner, county farm agent.

These checks total $28,939 and bring the total amount received to date by county farmers to $87,352.46.

Checks are to come to 2,048 Cleveland farmers and 903 have already arrived. In other words, almost half of all the checks have arrived and approximately half of the $177,000 total in money to be paid Cleveland cotton planters.

Practically all of the checks are scheduled to be mailed out by this time next week, Washington reports state.

Farmers are notified by Agent Shoffner when their checks arrive and should apply for them when they receive the slips of notification, but not before as these are necessary to secure the checks.

Three Million Dollars Fund Set Up To Lend 10c Pound On Cotton

Grower Must Subscribe To 1930 Acreage Cut For Benefits. Present Crop Is Eligible.

Washington, Oct. 9.—President Roosevelt announced today that the first concrete move in his latest effort to raise commodity prices and increase farm purchasing power would be the immediate creation of a credit corporation to lend to farmers on crop security.

The corporation, whose personnel is now being considered, will have an initial capitalization of $3,000,000, and its first duty will be to carry out the administration's promise to lend cotton farmers ten cents a pound on their present crop if they agree to join the campaign designed to reduce acreage by 40 per cent next year.

The corporation will have authority to lend on other commodities, but cotton is the only crop now being considered for benefits.

The agency will be responsible to the President, and Secretary Wallace probably will be a member.

Interest On Loans
Announcing the plan at his press conference, Mr. Roosevelt said the $3,000,000 capital would come out of the farm administration's surplus crop control fund, and money for the loans would be borrowed from the Reconstruction Corporation.

The loans, to bear interest at four per cent, will be made at the nearest acceptable warehouse on all cotton above low middling grade of 7-8 inch staple. Only the crop now in the hands

George P. Webb was officially chosen in convention Saturday as the "dry" candidate for Cleveland county and Robert H. Cooke as chairman of the United dry forces. Well over 100 men and women gathered Saturday afternoon in the court house to attend the convention.

J. D. Morris, member of the board of county commissioners, acted as temporary chairman and called upon Clyde R. Hoey to state the object of the meeting. A committee of which O. M. "They say that if liquor is legalized, it can't be any worse than it is now. I and you remember the time when liquor was legally sold and a disturbance developed at every public gathering," said Mr. Webb. He predicted that Cleveland will remain dry even though every county in North Carolina should swing to the wet column.

Gardner Invited To Make Address For Repeal Meet

Former Members Of Governor's Bible Class Ask Him To Speak.

Former Governor O. Max Gardner was today invited to return to Shelby prior to November 7 and make an address in the repeal campaign.

An invitation signed by around a hundred members of the Bible Class once taught by Governor Gardner at the First Baptist church was mailed to him today, saying that he might select his own date.

The invitation read as follows: "We, the former members of the Gardner Bible class of the First Baptist church of Shelby, hereby invite you to deliver a public address in Shelby on the repeal of the 18th amendment, at such a date as may be convenient to you."

The class taught by Mr. Gardner before he became governor and later moved to Washington was one of the largest Bible classes in the State.

Although the former governor has taken no active part in the repeal campaign so far he is understood to favor repeal in that it is a part of the Roosevelt administration program.
