Dry Forces Deny Responsibility Of Last Minute Card

Kale Burgess Says Postal Card Did Not Come From Dry Camp. Makes Investigation.

Last minute campaign literature has flooded the state in the nature of a "mysterious" postal card purporting to come from the office of the United Dry Forces headquarters in Raleigh.

Robert H. Cooke, chairman of the United Dry Forces for Cleveland county, was handed one of these cards yesterday and he telephoned this morning to Kale Burgess, in charge of state headquarters for the dry. Mr. Burgess stated that he knew nothing of the mysterious and anonymous card until friends of the dry cause began calling him from all sections of the state. He denies that the unsigned card was sent out or in any way sponsored by the United Dry Forces and attacks the card to some extent. He says this extremist may be a dry or a wet but says that more probably a wet may have sent the card to discount the dry cause. The card reads as follows:

No Christian will vote for repeal. No gentleman will vote for repeal. No lady will vote for repeal. No decent person will vote for repeal.

Bob Reynolds, Josiah Bailey, Max Gardner, Pete Murphy and Jim Farley cannot deliver.

North Carolina into the hands of the ungodly and whiskey drinkers." Mr. Burgess is making an investigation to find out the source of the card. He stated over the telephone this morning that he will issue a statement to the press later in the day. "The United Dry Forces have never sent out any literature that did not bear the official name of the organization. We do not stoop to anonymous appeals and have kept the campaign on a high plane," said Mr. Burgess.

Cleveland Voters Will Ballot On Prohibition Repeal Tomorrow

Large Throng Hears Reynolds Speak Here

Says Prohibition Is General Failure

Legislation Has Brought Debauchery Instead Of Temperance. Backs Roosevelt.

One of the largest crowds in years filled the Cleveland county court house Friday night while scores of others jammed the corridors and stairways to hear Robert R. Reynolds, United States Senator, urge the repeal of the 18th amendment, which has brought on an amendment, a legislative act he called debauchery and hypocrisy instead of temperance and sobriety.

Declaring that he would fight to the last against the return of the saloon but with the hope this State would see fit to back President Roosevelt, he urged Cleveland county voters to cast their ballots Tuesday for repeal in order to eliminate unwise legislation which had bred criminals and spawned wholesale disrespect of all law.

Has Big Audience. An hour before the speaking began every available seat in the Shelby court house was taken and the aisles and windows were filled. Several hundred others jammed their way into the corridors and upon the stairways where they could catch a word now and then. That the man known to his supporters as "Our Bob" still retains the personality and popularity which sent him into office was shown by the fact that the court house reverberated with cheers for several minutes as he entered the room and again when he was introduced.

The meeting was opened by Peyton McSwain, former State senator, who introduced Judge B. T. Falls, former county chairman. Judge Falls introduced Senator Reynolds as a man, the friend of the people, who received the largest vote in North Carolina history.

TO NAME WELFARE OFFICER AT MEET OF BOARDS TODAY

J. D. Lineberger Resigns. Harry Woodson May Get One Of Two Jobs.

A county welfare officer for Cleveland is to be named at a meeting of the county commissioners and board of education this afternoon.

The new welfare officer will succeed J. D. Lineberger who has resigned after serving in that office since July 1. Mr. Lineberger has been acting as county welfare officer and also as State and Federal director of relief for the county and it is reported that he is to resign both offices. Rumors today had it that Harry Woodson would probably take the place as State and Federal director of welfare for the county, but just who will be named as county welfare officer was not known. The appointment was to be made at a board session called for 2:30 this afternoon.

The public is invited to attend The Star's election party and seats will be reserved upstairs for ladies.

Wheelbarrow Wager On Tuesday Voting

Two guards at the state convict camp east of Shelby are to get a wheelbarrow ride to Shelby from the camp, a distance of three miles, Wednesday night. The two to get the ride will be those betting on the repeal election Tuesday and winning.

Mull Patterson and K. L. Nowell are betting a ride to town that North Carolina will vote for repeal. J. C. Runyan, jr., and Dewey Whisnant are betting the state will go against repeal. The losers will trundle to town, according to Clyde Poston, camp supervisor.

Size Of Vote In Doubt As Voters Maintain Silence

Two Tickets Must Be Voted

Both Sides Claim Victory Certain. Many Voters Are Silent.

Several thousand Cleveland county citizens will march to the polls tomorrow to vote on the prohibition question for the first time since 1908 when state prohibition was enacted.

In the nation-wide movement to repeal the 18th amendment six states, including North Carolina, will vote tomorrow upon the repeal of federal prohibition. Thirty-three states have already voted for repeal which will become an actuality when three others cast ballots favoring repeal.

Just how many Cleveland citizens will vote tomorrow, either for or against, is a matter of conjecture. Several observers estimate that not much more than 5,000 ballots will be cast, while others say that they anticipate a surprisingly large vote of seven or eight thousand. Dry forces claim that they will win by two or three thousand, while repeal leaders admit that the voting will be close but with a majority favoring repeal. Their claim is based upon the fact that labor unions in Shelby and elsewhere in the county intend to support the repeal drive in full force as a part of the

Wealth Brought Them Worry

DORIS DUKE and JANET SNOWDEN

Possession of immense wealth is bringing more worry than happiness at least two of our most prominent heiresses. Miss Doris Duke, heiress of the $50,000,000 Duke tobacco fortune, must keep constantly on the move, mostly incognito, as a protection against kidnaping. Recently she was obliged to flee from San Francisco when her identity leaked out during a visit. Another is Janet Snowden, Newport, R. I., oil heiress, who received much publicity over her elopement with Prince Caravita of Italy and her subsequent flight from her noble spouse after only five days of wedded bliss. Miss Snowden has been threatened with kidnaping many times. Having more faith in flight than in protection of the law, she circulates Miss Duke in constantly fitting from place to place.

Lois Buice Seriously Hurt. Three Other Week-End Crashes In County.

Miss Lois Buice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Buice of Shelby, is in a Gaffney hospital seriously injured as the result of a car wreck Friday night in which four others were hurt.

Willis, jr., and Charles (Coo) Magness of Shelby were injured in the same wreck and young Willis is a patient in the Shelby hospital. In the car also were Miss Texana Lavender and Miss Margaret Stroup, Gaffney high school students, who were painfully cut and bruised. Miss Buice, however, was the worst injured of all. R. L. Nettles, of Greenville, who is stationed at a conservation camp, was also injured in the wreck in which three automobiles are said to have participated.

King Pleads Guilty For Second Degree

BOILING SPRINGS ROAD PROJECT IN AN EARLY LETTING

Project Will Include Grading, Surfacing And Erection Of Necessary Structures.

(Star News Bureau)
Raleigh, Nov. 6.—In addition to two projects for Cleveland county included in those on which bids will be received November 8, for bitulthic surfacing of 20.1 miles between Shelby and Fallston, via Polkville, another Cleveland county project has been approved by the Bureau of Public Roads in Washington and will be included in another early letting, probably around December 1.

This project is on the county road branching off from Route 18 some three miles south of Shelby and extending to Boiling Springs, about five miles. The work on this will include grading, erection of necessary structures and topsoil surfacing.

Highway officials say they expect to have it in the next letting after the one November 8.

Cotton Storage Space Enlarged; Using Loan Plan

Farmers Continue To Borrow From Government On This Year's Cotton Crop.

If it were not for some large shipments of cotton going out of storage to the mills for November delivery, all bonded warehouses in this section would be filled to capacity.

Farmers continue to put cotton in warehouses and borrow ten cents pound from the government. Grade and staple of cotton are not being marked on the warehouse receipts. All cotton is received just so it is not wet or damaged and measures seven-eighths of an inch or better to warrant a loan. These warehouse receipts are immediately cashed at banks.

The local bonded warehouse is able to take more cotton only because it is making shipments to mills, although cotton is coming in faster than it is moving out. Two additional storage places have been secured in Shelby to hold cotton temporarily until there is room in the warehouse. These overflow houses will be used just as soon as the government issues license on them. Cotton stored in them is fully protected.

It is reported that warehouses at Forest City, Gaffney, Cherryville and other places are practically full and that no more cotton can be taken care of except as shipments move out and as over-flow houses are leased and licensed, which is being done as rapidly as possible.

Boiling Springs Bull dogs Win As Shelby Highs Go Down; Other Scores

Hutchins Eleven Continues March To Title. Duke Defeats Auburn.

While the Bulldogs were winning their game, not having been defeated this season, the Shelby highs on Friday afternoon dropped a contest to the strong Morganton eleven by the score of 19 to 0.

"Big Chief" Wabnetch, the Cherokee Indian fullback, was the outstanding star of the Bulldog victories over the Catholic juniors. He was ably assisted in the backfield by Connor, Epps and Johnny Hendrick with Capt. Childers, Brown and Mauney starring in the line.

In the high school clash, Conley, fleet halfback, was the sparkplug of the Morganton eleven, while Mal Spangler, in the line, and Lenhart, Williams and Connor were Shelby's chief offensive threats.

In Saturday's major college clashes, Carolina defeated State 6 to 0; Duke kept up a title march by beating Auburn 13 to 7, and

Pass Sentence Here On Wednesday

Shelby Textile Worker Submits To Second Degree Murder In Chandler Death.

Hoke King, Shelby textile worker through his attorneys plead guilty to second degree murder in Superior court here Friday afternoon as evidence was completed in the case in which King was charged with the killing of James Chandler, 24-year-old textile worker of Dover mill, on Sept. 24.

The plea of King's attorney, Maurice Weathers and Peyton McSwain, was accepted by the state, represented by Solicitor Spurgeon Spurling, and Judge Wilson Warlick will pass sentence when court reconvenes here Wednesday morning.

When first arraigned in court Friday of last week King pled not guilty to the charge of murder. After the state had introduced evidence to show that King had threatened Chandler with a knife shortly prior to Chandler's death from stab wounds and after defense witnesses were unable to eliminate this phase of the case, defense attorneys changed their plea and submitted to second degree murder. The plea was accepted.

With King in the court room at the time were his wife, his father and two sisters.

Chandler was stabbed to death late Sunday afternoon, Sept. 24, while with King and others on a party north of Grover in the lower section of Cleveland county. Both men, according to witnesses who heard King threaten to cut Chandler's head off, were drinking and their trouble arose over some whiskey which King was said to have attempted to get from Chandler.

The case attracted considerable interest and a special venire of 50 men was summoned from which a jury of 13 was selected to hear the evidence. While the witnesses were on the stand the court room was packed, and another large crowd is
