Manufacturers of the leading popular brands, with their large inventories and higher priced product are represented as less vulner-able, but their financial statements at the end of the year are expected to reflect a lower margin of profit from sales.

Five Cent Cigar Threatened.

In the metropolitan area prices of the leading popular brands have been for some time 12 to 13 cents a package in retail tobacco stores with some of them selling two packages for 23 cents. In some of the large chain grocery stores a carton of 10 packages can be purchased for $1.05. An increase to 15 cents a package with possibly two for a quarter is looked for in the tobacco trade before the end of the year

Cigar producers already have advanced prices in several instances but further important increases might involve abandonment of the five cent field, in which 86 per cent of the cigar business so far this year is estimated to have been concentrated.

Activity in the tobacco products trade, one of the leading consumer goods industries, has undergone marked improvement since April. With prevailing wholesale cigarprofits, the large companies depend Be Shown.

Cigarette consumption for the entire year is reckoned by those familiar with government statistics to average 5 per cent higher than Po for 1932. A drop of about 6 per cent in cigar consumption is tentatively indicated to be about 3 per cent lower.
