

Lower Wages For South's Workers Sought By Branch Of U. S. Chamber

Suggests Supplemental Basic Code Providing Wage Minimum Not Over 70 Percent.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 23.—A supplemental basic code providing wage minimums for the south not greater than seventy per cent of those in the north and east is sought by the national recovery administration by the southeastern division of the chamber of commerce of the United States.

The request was made yesterday by unanimous resolution with an explanation that living costs are lower and distribution costs higher in the south. States mentioned in the differential were Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia, Florida and Kentucky.

The southeastern division also urged the National Chamber's aid in urging early return to a gold standard and cessation of monetary experimentation by President Roosevelt. A substitute resolution endorsing the president's policies was voted down.

Proper "compensating taxes" and import duties were urged for fibers competing and foreign material "to bring cotton to its fair and just economic position which it enjoyed prior to the levying of the process tax."

The convention went on record for continuance of bank deposit guarantees, broader discretionary powers for local compliance boards, speeding up public works, adequate national defense and the administration policies on transportation.

It called on congress to safeguard freedom of speech and the press in considering a proposed modification of the pure foods and drug act.

John A. Law, president of the Supt. mills at Spartanburg, S. C., speaking before the group charged that labor has made "unreasonable attempts" to unionize industry under paragraph seven of the National Industrial Recovery act.

He expressed belief the labor cause needed clarification and contended that "false statements put forth by irresponsible labor organizers" had occasioned unwarranted strikes and confusion harmful to the recovery movement. Nothing, he said, can legally be written into the act that would compel any employer to "join this or that union."

He urged the government to take action against "these disturbers of the peace."

Harley C. Director of the R. F. C. said the organization had poured $3,063,498 into the credit stream of the United States and that the money disbursed had done inestimable good.

Max B. Nahn, Bowling Green, Ky., banker, spoke on banking and suggested that branch banking should "not extend beyond the limits of intelligent credits."

Very Serious Child Is Miss Doris Duke, So Her Mother Says

Miss Doris Duke, who reads the French classics in the original, Parties Not Proper.

New York, Nov. 23.—Doris Duke, who gained her majority yesterday and thereby inherited a net worth of $5,000,000, was described by her mother as "a serious child," who reads the French classics in the original.

The widow of James B. Duke, who amassed millions in the tobacco and real-estate business, said her daughter's birthday was just like any other day—no gifts, no celebration of any kind.

"I do not believe in parties in times like these," she added.

The amount of Miss Duke's initial inheritance, which has been estimated at some $30,000,000, was held by Mrs. Duke to have been "frightfully exaggerated."

"Somebody asked me the other day what she would get," she said "I actually don't know."

Harrier Champ

Tom Olney, of Michigan State, the young man who made the Eastern cross-country title go West, is pictured after his victory in the six-mile I. C. 4-A event at Van Cortlandt Park, New York. His team also won intercollegiate championship with a score of 54 points, marking the first time in 25 years the title has gone Mid-West.

Quit Treasury Post

Warning that the Administration's monetary policy "threatens a complete breakdown of the credit of the government," Dr. O. M. W. Sprague, economic advisor to the Treasury, has resigned his post with the expressed intention of joining the fight against "a drift into unrestrained inflation."

First Lady Seeks Public Works Jobs For Many Women

Federal, State And Local Work To Be Provided For Them In 30 Days; Regular Wages.

A drive by federal, state and local agencies to find jobs within the next month for more than 300,000 women on public and semi-public works started at the White House early this week in a conference called by Federal Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins and presided over by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

These jobs will not compete with private employment, it was emphasized, and will, as far as possible, pay regular wages instead of grocery orders or relief work pay. They are designed to provide services, particularly for other unemployed or destitute people, which governmental agencies cannot provide out of their regular budgets.

"The women will have their fair share of the funds for civil works," Mrs. Roosevelt assured the conference in answer to a question asked by Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers, Republican of Massachusetts. The exact amount, however, is not determined and will depend upon the needs of the state.

Funds will be earmarked to provide jobs for women, Hopkins said. Six thousand to 10,000 women probably will be employed promptly by county consumers' councils to handle clerical work in connection with NRA and AAA complaints and problems of consumers under a suggestion made by Mrs. Mary Harriman Rumsey, chairman of the NRA consumer's board.

Carolina Textiles At The Theatres Show Slight Slump

National Activity Takes Slight Spurt as N. C. Shows Small Decrease in Production.

Washington, Nov. 23.—Activity in the North Carolina cotton spinning industry last month declined slightly, while the country as a whole showed improvement, it was revealed today in statistics compiled by the department of commerce.

While the industry nationally reported only 25,375,142 spindles active in October against 26,002,148 in September, the total of active spindle hours increased from 7,057,744,489 to 7,260,322,134, and the average per spindle in place advanced from 229 to 235 it was stated.

In North Carolina, the number of active spindles declined from 5,688,540 to 5,578,208 and active spindle hours dropped from 1,603,298,460 to 1,606,688,312 but the average per spindle remained constant at 261 hours.

Among the neighboring states, the report disclosed, only Georgia showed a decline in activity, the average per spindle in place dropping from 278 to 273 hours, while in Alabama the average increased from 255 to 273 in South Carolina from 314 to 320; Tennessee from 251 to 254 and Virginia 235 to 255.

For the cotton growing states as a whole, the report showed, the number of active spindles dropped from 17,724,830 to 17,614,074 but the total active spindle hours increased from 5,250,796,417 to 5,342,706,122 and the average per spindle in place from 275 to 279 hours.

Parker Talks Back To Farm To Hi Students

The students of the Central high school had the pleasure of hearing a very pleasing talk made by Mr. M. W. Parker, of East Bradford, Virginia. Mr. Parker is a member of the "Back to the Farm Movement."

Mr. Parker opened his talk with these quotations: The least is the largest; and the Plowman is President. Then he gave a description of a mountain home. He spoke of the log cabin, the grassy lawn, the out buildings, and surrounding country side. His description was very poetic and picturesque. His point in telling about this home where happiness reigns, where peace and contentment are found, is that the plowman's home is his "white house" and he is president, his wife is vice president, his children his cabinet, his thirty-seven acres his states. He is rich in simple things. He has not the cares of all the state on his shoulders.

Miss Winnie Borders who is in school at Asheville, will arrive next Wednesday to spend the Thanksgiving holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Borders.

Champion Case Is Not Prossed Here

The case against George Washington Champion, charged with shooting a man while hunting possum in the lower part of the county, has been not prossed with leave. It appeared to the court that one of the several men in the vicinity at the time of the shooting might have fired the shot and as there was no specific evidence against Champion the case was not prossed. Mr. Champion says he is perfectly innocent of the charge. There has been no hearing in the matter.

Opinion of aviation experts is divided as to the feasibility of maintaining a regular trans-Atlantic air service to Europe by means of the string of seadromes for experimental work on which the Public Works Administration is advancing $1,500,000 with a promise of $3,000,000 should tests prove satisfactory. Clarence Chamberlin, trans-Atlantic airman, designates the scheme as utterly impracticable, "if not suicidal," while G. M. Bellanca, airplane designer, believes seadromes practicable commercially. Edward R. Armstrong, inventor of the seadrome, claims the use of seadromes would insure the safety of trans-Atlantic passengers and enable planes to more than double the pay load. German experts assert that before the string of seadromes is completed new developments in aero engines will make them obsolete.

"They Shall Not Pass!" on Iowa Farm Front

Using railroad ties and rope for a barricade, a group of farm strikers is pictured on a highway leading into Sioux City, Iowa, one of the storm centers of the current farm trouble. Much violence has occurred in this sector. Thousands of dollars' worth of produce has been destroyed by strikers. At Lawton, Iowa, pickets turned loose eight carloads of livestock after a cattle train had been forced to a halt.

Alcohol Board Plan Is Proposed; Code Is Submitted

Government Said To Have Abandoned Idea Of Creating Federal Monopoly.

Washington.—Creation of a federal alcohol control administration to supervise the distilling industry until congress enacts legislation looking to a permanent post-repeal policy was proposed today by President Roosevelt's special interdepartmental alcohol committee.

In a code submitted to the farm administration as a substitute for the distillers' draft on which hearings are to be held Friday the committee also recommended control of production and prices to prevent either a surplus of liquor or high retail costs to consumers that would encourage bootlegging.

High officials agreed that the substitute code indicated the government had abandoned, at least temporarily, a projected federal monopoly of liquor distribution to insure reasonable prices. In addition, they said the administration felt the distillers' code was inadequate but that the substitute would result in control until legislation was enacted. The substitute emphasizes protection to dry states.

The interdepartmental committee also is preparing a bill to submit to congress in January on liquor control. It is to follow the administration's recommendation on federal liquor taxes, now $1.10 a gallon.

Growth of sentiment within the administration for a government distribution monopoly brought from organized distillers today the announcement that a large quantity of liquor will be available at reasonable prices when President Roosevelt proclaims repeal on or after December 5.

A representative of the distillers estimated that between 48,000,000 to 100,000,000 quarts of whisky could be sold at $1.50 a quart retail, including state taxes.
