AUTO LICENSES SELLING SLOWLY

Only 140 Car Owners Here Have Purchased New Black And Gold Tags For '34.

The state auto license bureau at the Carolina Motor Inn hasn't been swamped by Cleveland county motorists eager to comply with the Governor's request to shop early for tags. At 11 o'clock this morning, 140 licenses had been bought, since the tags went on sale Friday.

The 1934 tags are better tags, too, and the paint won't come off the first time you leave the car out in the rain. The '34 licenses, blue and white, were not successful because a cheap kind of paint was used in an effort to save money. The new ones are smaller and are painted in black and gold.

Motorists have until January 1 to buy their licenses. After that, a penalty will be imposed. The motor inn is the only agency in the county, and the nearest place outside is Gastonia.

A copy of a statement signed by the millionaire and posted in the lobby of the bank on December 9, 1930, in which he said "The Cherryville bank is my bank, as I own more than two-thirds of it" and "I now personally guarantee that the bank will pay all of its depositors on demand" was incorporated in the depositors' complaint.

"Night and Day"

Apparently Rita Gentry Bishop, 19-year-old Chicagoan, has a keen sense of humor, for she can laugh although she is charged with bigamy. Rita, it is alleged, married a window trimmer, who worked days, in September and eloped with a cafe proprietor, who works nights, in November. The latter brought the charge.

Melvin Trotter Will Speak Here On Saturday Night

Reformed Religious Leader To Speak At Annual Meeting Here On Saturday Night.

The annual meeting of the men of the Kings Mountain Presbytery will be held in Shelby Saturday evening at the First Baptist church, this church building being used because it has a more commodious dining hall.

The Rev. Melvin E. Trotter, better known as "Mel" Trotter, superintendent of missions at Grand Rapids, will address the meeting. Mel Trotter, the Rev. H. N. McDiarmid, pastor of the Shelby Presbyterian church, is "one of America's greatest living monuments of God's grace, having been redeemed from a life of debauchery to become one of the most outstanding religious leaders of the nation." With Mr. Trotter will be song leader Rev. Homer Hammon and pianist Paul Beckwith.

A turkey dinner will be served the men promptly at 6:30 p. m. by the Woman's auxiliary of Shelby Presbyterian church. Representative Presbyterian men from five counties will attend. If there are any men in the other churches of Shelby who would like especially to hear Mr. Trotter, Mr. Hammon and Mr. Beckwith, arrangements may be made for them to do so on same basis as Presbyterian men, provided, they will let their wishes be known to the Rev. H. N. McDiarmid by Thursday night of this week. Mr. McDiarmid is chairman of the program committee and the leader of the men's work in the Synod of North Carolina.

Cleveland Takes To Shoffner's Berries

County Agent R. W. Shoffner's raspberry plan is going to be a success, he said this morning, although some farmers are slow to change their plans of a lifetime and abandon cotton for berries.

Mr. Shoffner has ordered plants for 325 acres, he said, and will order more for anybody who wants them. At least 25 acres will be planted in Cleveland county.

The county agent has an order for all the berries this county can produce for the next five years. He urges setting them out on the acres.

Federal Government Running In Red Half As Rapidly As One Year Ago

Washington.—The federal government is running in the red only about half as rapidly as it did a year ago despite the pouring of more than a half billion dollars into recovery channels since July.

This record, if continued, will make considerably easier the administration's financial problems over the next six months when it will be required to meet a huge sum in maturities with refunding operations, and raise billions of dollars of additional revenue through new borrowing to finance the recovery program.

Carolina To Get Prohi Officers From Wet States

State Dry Forces Will Be Augmented

Covetous Eyes Cast On Post Of James A. Clifton, Head Of State Enforcement.

Washington, Dec. 3.—A general shift in federal prohibition agents now operating in various parts of the country is expected after tomorrow with the forces in North Carolina augmented generally.

What will be done with several hundred prohibition agents operating in various states which become wet tomorrow, is a question that is being asked on all sides.

Plans In N. C. Inquiry was today made at the offices of the prohibition branch of the division of investigation of the department of justice, which is a governmental agency employing 1,000 or more prohibition agents scattered throughout the country, as to plans especially for North Carolina, which remains part of the prohibition Sahara.

Attorney General Homer S. Cummings has been giving considerable thought to the problem presented by the presence of prohibition agents in states that will be wet after Tuesday. There seems to be little doubt, however, that most, if not all, will be withdrawn from such states as Pennsylvania, where 100 are on the payroll, for the very good reason that there will be no federal dry law for them to enforce.

Charlotte Headquarters Charlotte is the headquarters for the Carolinas region, with James A. Clifton as investigation in charge. Thus far he has had an ample force to carry on his work, but now that his region is one of the few that remains dry, interest centers on his jurisdiction and how it shall be managed.

It has become known during the past few days that several men who have made fine records, have been casting covetous eyes on Clifton's post. This is because it is regarded as secure, and the further reason that Uncle Sam is expected to have an interminable job on his hands in the Carolinas in keeping them dry, in the face of the overwhelming vote cast against repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

PLAN NUMBERING OF SHELBY HOMES

Preliminary Plans Start With Numbering Homes Tuesday For City Directory.

Beginning Tuesday, the Lions club will begin to renumber and relist all residences and business houses in the city limits of Shelby. This work is being done in connection with the publishing of the Shelby city directory which is expected to come from the press about the middle of January.

In most instances houses are misnumbered. Canvassers will call at the home of every resident and business house and where necessary new numbers will be assigned. These will be installed for the cost of 10 cents per three numerals which will be tacked up by the workers.

The co-operation of the public is requested in this undertaking so that when the numbers are assigned the confusion in locating people will be eliminated. At the very best there will be some confusion for the first two or three weeks, but after that greater ease and convenience will come to mail carriers, delivery service and will also serve the city and county in classifying their records in future years.

This book will be well bound, correctly compiled and will contain about 400 pages. There will be four sections namely: Listing of residents alphabetically arranged.

Classified business directory of all business houses, professional men, public buildings, boarding houses, etc.

Street classification of all streets alphabetically arranged with numbers of streets arranged numerically showing the householder.

Telephones arranged numerically with each telephone holder.

State Collections Reveal Increase Over Last Period

Revenue Department Ahead By $2,377,796. Increase Seen As Steady.

Raleigh, Dec. 3.—Five months of the fiscal year that ends July 1, 1933, produced in state revenues $8,796,828.48 as against $6,419,032.77 for the same period in 1932, according to Revenue Commission A. J. Maxwell's statement today. The commissioner found a big pickup in sale taxes also.
